Possible delay in the handing of the peace terms to the German delegates at Versailles is indicated in late advice from the Paris conference. The function may have to go over to next week, while questions as to the powers of the enemy's representatives and their qualifications as spokesmen for Paris are investigated. Today was set for the handing over by the Germans of their credentials to a commission for examination.

Chinese-Japanese Settlement

The Chinese-Japanese dispute over Kiao-Chau and the adjoining Shantung province territory has been settled by the Council of Three. The former German holdings are to be given without reserve to Japan, which will engage to hand the Shantung peninsula back to China, with relations between China and Japan and the future integrity of China to be under the control of the League of Nations.All German rights in Shantung are to be held by Japan. The Kiao-Chau railway will be guarded by special police forces composed of Chinese which will be trained by Japanese officers selected by the directors of the railroad and appointed by the Chinese government. All Japanese military forces are to be withdrawn from the province as soon as possible.Japan is given the right to establish a settlement at Tsing Tao, a city on the extremity of the point of land which juts southward from the Shantung peninsula and forms the eastern shore of Kiao-Chau bay, the strategic base seized by the Germans in the far east after the Boxer rebellion.Reports from Paris and Rome indi-

HOTEL CHANGES HANDS

James Mulvaney Buys the Belvidere Hotel—Other
Real Estate DealsAnother big real estate transaction was put through this week, when the Belvidere hotel in Prescott street was sold to James F. Mulvaney of 68
Chauncy avenue, who conducts a liquor business in Merrimack square. Although the final papers have been signed, the new proprietor will not take possession before a week or ten days.The Belvidere hotel was owned by Thomas A. Ramsay, who has been its proprietor since it was built, 22 years ago. It is a six-story brick structure with bar, office and large dining room on the street floor. On the second floor are six private dining rooms, while the other floors are devoted to sleeping rooms. The assessed valuation is $20, 550. Mr. Mulvaney stated this morning that it is his intention to make various improvements, both exterior and interior.

J. V. Meigs' Property

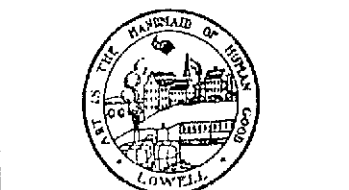

The fine home of the late Dr. Joe V.
Meigs located at 55 Mansur street, has been purchased by H. Hutchins Garner of 246 Dover street. The house is a large one with all modern conveniences and with the property is a tract of land of 23,750 square feet.
The assessed valuation of the property is

PAINTERS STRIKEAbout 150 painters and paperhangers went on strike this morning after being refused an increase in wages by the master painters. The men held a meeting in their hall in Rueland building at 10 o'clock this forenoon and at the close of the meeting it was announced that two shops had agreed to grant the increase and that the men employed there had returned to work.
These shops are the Westall and Brerley.Some time ago the painters and pa-perhangers, who were being paid 55 cents an hour, presented their demand for an increase of 10 cents an hour but that was refused, the master painters being willing to compromise by giving an increase of 5 cents an hour.
The employees of the various local shops then set May 1 as the date for a strike unless their demand was granted.

With Some NationsLONDON, May 1.—A large naval international police force will be necessary under the League of Nations plan immediately after peace is declared, in the opinion of Josephus Daniels, American secretary of the navy and one of the objects of his trip abroad was to discuss with the admiralties of Italy, France and England some details as to this force, particularly the type of vessels desirable."The desire of conquest may still linger in the hearts of some nations after peace," he said, "and such nations must be shown that it would be unprofitable to attempt to accomplish those desires."As the League of Nations became established, he added, the naval police force would certainly be decreased in proportion to the strength of the league.The secretary has just returned from a visit to the German battle fleet at Scapa Flow. He declined to express an opinion as to the disposition of these German warships.

George Wong Charged With Stealing Electricity—Many
Automobile Cases HeardCharged with stealing electricity, George Wong, a Chinese laundryman living at 63 Clever street, and who was arrested last evening as the result of a complaint by the Lowell Electric Light Corp., was arraigned before Judge Pickman in police court today.
No plea was entered and a continuance was granted for one week. The specific charge alleges Wong to have stolen 1000 kilowatt hours of electric current, valued at $100.According to the story of the police, the company's suspicions were aroused several weeks ago by the fact that the bills from the laundry hardly ever exceeded the minimum, even though much more current apparently was used. What is known as a graphic ammeter was placed on a pole 200 feet from the laundry, and at the end of a week's time it showed that a large amount of electricity was being used in the place.Superintendent Welch was told of the affair, and shortly after 10 o'clock

WAR TAXES HIT GENERAL PUBLIC

Luxury and Soft Drink Sections of Revenue Bill in Effect Today

Dealers Much Confused Over Application—No Tax on Bottled Goods

Today three of the several sections of the great war revenue bill passed by congress last February go into effect.

All of them hit the ordinary purchaser more forcibly than any of the provisions previously operative, for the new taxes are to be paid by the purchaser himself, not by the dealer.

The three groups of commodities upon the sale of which a tax must now be paid are:

1. Soft drinks, sodas, milk and egg sandwiches, ice cream, sundae or cottage loaves, and other such drinks or dishes.
2. Various articles of apparel, including men's and women's shoes, hats, bags, underwear, stockings, etc. This is commonly called the "luxury tax" because it applies only when the articles specified are purchased at comparatively high prices.
3. Many toilet preparations, such as creams, lotions, perfumes and dentifrices.

Puts Worry on Dealer

The "luxury tax" promises to cause untold annoyance to the stores, for it is squarely up to them to collect the tax on each sale, and to turn it back to the government. With the payment of the tax the purchaser's worry ceases and the dealer's worry begins.

This "luxury tax" is fixed at 10 percent of the amount paid in excess of the maximum allowances fixed for the taxable articles. There is already much confusion in regard to this point. The tax is not collectible upon the total amount of the purchase, but only upon the amount by which the price paid exceeds the maximum allowance.

How Luxury Tax Works

For example: The maximum on picture frames is $10 each. If a customer pays $15 for a frame, he must pay 10 percent of the amount by which he has exceeded the $10 limit, which is $5. Therefore, he must pay 10 percent of $5 or 50 cents. So with all the other articles. It developed yesterday that many dealers thought they must collect 10 percent of the amount of the entire purchase, which is not so.

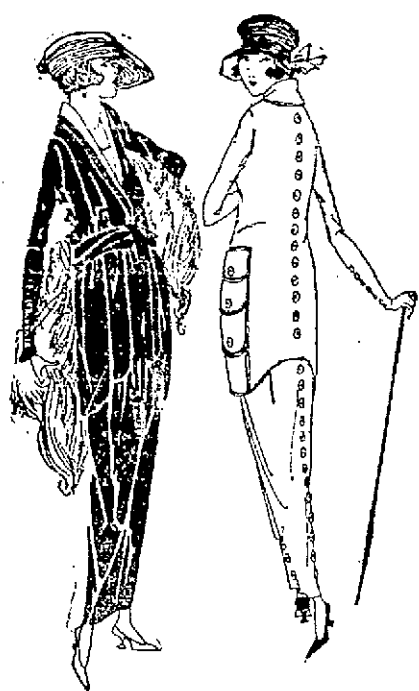

Here is a list of articles, upon the sale of which the purchaser must pay a 10 percent tax upon the amount by which he has exceeded the maximum figure, which is given:

- (1) Carpets and rugs, including fiber except imported and American rugs made principally of wool, on the amount in excess of $5 per square yard;
- (2) Picture frames, on the amount in excess of $10 each;
- (3) Trunks, on the amount in excess of $50 each;
- (4) Valises, traveling bags, suit cases, hat boxes used by travelers, and fitted toilet cases, on the amount in excess of $25 each;
- (5) Purses, pocketbooks, shopping and hand bags, on the amount in excess of $7.50 each;
- (6) Portable lighting fixtures, including lamps of all kinds and lamp shades on the amount in excess of $25 each;
- (7) Umbrellas, parasols and sun shades, on the amount in excess of $4 each;
- (8) Fans, on the amount in excess of $1 each;
- (9) House or smoking coats or jackets, and bath or lounging robes, on the amount in excess of $7.50 each;
- (10) Men's waistcoats, sold separately from suits, on the amount in excess of $5 each;
- (11) Women's and misses' hats, bonnets, and hoods, on the amount in excess of $15 each;
- (12) Men's and boys' caps, on the amount in excess of $2 each;
- (13) Men's, women's, misses', and boys' boots, shoes, pumps, and slippers not including shoes or appliances made to order for any person having a crippled or deformed foot or ankle, on the amount in excess of $10 per pair;
- (14) Men's and boys' neckties and neckwear, on the amount in excess of $2 each;
- (15) Men's and boys' silk stockings or hose, on the amount in excess of $1 per pair;
- (16) Women's and misses' silk stockings or hose, on the amount in excess of $2 per pair;
- (17) Men's shirts, on the amount in excess of $3 each;
- (18) Men's, women's, misses' and boys' pajamas, nightgowns and underwear, on the amount in excess of $5 each, and
- (19) Kimonos, petticoats, and waists, on the amount in excess of $15 each.

Some of the Many Difficulties

The payment of this tax may seem at first a very simple matter. But there are a hundred and one questions and difficulties constantly arising which even the revenue officials here are frankly at loss to determine.

For instance, the law specifically states that the tax shall be paid "at the time of the sale." The question arises: "How about articles that are bought and charged?" At present the only possible ruling is that, though

CHINESE YOUNG MEN AT TEXTILE

Five Young Men From Orient
Are Students at Lowell
Textile School

All Their Expenses Are Paid
For Out of the Boxer Indemnity Fund

Lowell's Chinese Population
Numbers About 200—
Small Japanese Colony

Lowell people will probably be surprised to know that a group of five Chinese young men, students at Lowell Textile school, form one of the most important educational groups at the present time studying at any college in America.

The names of these young men are as follows: Y. S. Chou, Y. C. Wang, S. C. Chen, Y. S. Yen and T. K. Woo. They are under supervision of the Chinese national educational mission whose headquarters is maintained at Washington. Their expenses, including the tuition for each student, $200 per year, and each student's personal living expense, $70 per month, are paid for from the Boxer indemnity fund. In brief it should be explained that at the time of the Boxer outbreak in China some years ago, the Chinese government was compelled to pay a cash indemnity every year for a number of years. This indemnity was divided among all the powers whose citizens and subjects the Boxers had killed or abused. Out of all these powers, the American government, under the inspiration and leadership in the matter of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State John Hay, decided to use the indemnity money paid it, to educate young Chinese men and women in the United States so that they could return to China and become leaders and helpers for their people. This accounts for the five boys above named having the privilege of studying at Lowell's famous textile school.

An Important Group

The Sun has taken pains to become acquainted with this earnest group of young Chinese. The reason that it seems to persons who talked with these young men, that in time to come they may be able to materially help just such industries as we have in the United States and of which the Saco-Lowell plant where textile machinery is made, is an example, is explained by reading what one of the young men said yesterday to The Sun man, about the subject of textiles in his native country of China:

"One of the reasons," said he, "why we Chinese students are inspired to work just as hard as we can, is because we believe that in our republic the cotton manufacturing industry in time to come, may be the greatest industry in all that country. At the present time we understand China has two and a half million spindles. Americans should not think of China as a small or insignificant country. Our country has 400,000,000 persons in it. It is a very congested country. All that enormous number of people must have fabric for clothing. Cotton can and is, of course, raised in China. China is, in fact, the second country in the world in production of cotton. Here are all these people to have cloth made for them. Here is the second cotton producing country of the entire world. Why should not the textile industry be the greatest industry for all China?"

American Cotton Machinery

"Previously most of the cotton machinery in China has been imported from Great Britain. The British have been very enterprising about extending the sale of their textile machinery. The Chinese have found it good machinery and have found the British honest people with whom to deal. The Germans, who also make textile machinery, have not cut much of a figure in our textile situation. The German machinery in China is an insignificant matter. The Americans, we are sorry to have to say, have not so far been enterprising about coming to China and selling us their fine machinery."

"At the present time we think there are only three cotton mills in China completely equipped with American made textile machinery. That there are even three mills is due solely to the fact that these mills are being operated by young Chinese who received their education in America and have insisted on having the mills over which they are placed in charge, fitted with American machinery."

"Of course in connection with our group of students here in Lowell, as we are only sophomores at the textile school, it would not perhaps look very well for us to so early state what we intend to do if we can learn the textile business and carry it on in China. We, however, have this thing in our mind."

"We think it would be a bad thing for the cotton industry in China if it were dependent entirely on English made cotton machinery. We will be in this country at least four years longer. We will have been educated in the American style of manufacturing cloth. We are enthusiastic about the American machinery we have seen so far and we hope that we can, in some part at least, be responsible for more American made machinery being sold in China. Perhaps we can suggest things that would help American manufacturers to sell their machinery in China. We were invited to go all through the Saco-Lowell shops and see their industry. We were much interested in what we saw. We intend to visit the famous Crompton & Knowles loom works in Worcester. Some of its products as well as some of the Saco-Lowell machinery is being used in China at the present time."

FIRST SIGNS AT DROUGHT

Bars of 5 Hotels and 14 Saloons Closed at Hub—"Old Colony" Towns Open Bars

BOSTON, May 1.—Signs of impending prohibition were noted today when 14 liquor places in this city were closed, the license holders having failed to apply for renewals. Five hotels holding "12-o'clock permits" also failed to renew the extra-hour privilege. The Boston license board granted a total of 1608 licenses for periods of one or two months as compared with 1669 licenses given in 1918.

"Old Colony" Towns Open Bars
ROCKLAND, May 1.—Licensed saloons opened in this town for the first time in 18 years today. Abington and Whitman, nearby towns without licenses for several years, also opened liquor stores. Hundreds of visitors from within the "Old Colony" district, which has been generally dry for many years, were expected.

APRIL NEARLY BROKE HOT AND COLD MARKS

BOSTON, May 1.—April having almost broken the record for maximum and minimum April temperatures and having departed leaving a deficiency of 1.23 inches of rainfall for the month and 2.12 inches deficiency for the first four months of the year, has also left a legacy of showers for the two first days of May, according to last evening's forecast.

The maximum temperature of the last month, 65 degrees on the 26th, was exceeded only once in the 15 years of the local weather bureau. The minimum for the month, 19 degrees on the 2d, has been exceeded only once in 18 April, in 1874, when the record was 11 degrees on the 3th.

And yet the month just closed was, on the whole, an average April for temperature, the mean for the 30 days, 45 degrees, being the normal for April during the previous 43 years. Yesterday, the last day of the month, had a maximum of 53, reached at 11 a. m., and a minimum of 44 early in the morning, the mean being 50 degrees.

The wind, which was easterly all day, shifted to the south and west in the evening, bringing a feeling of mugginess. A southwest wind is scheduled for today and tomorrow it is reasonable to anticipate no drop in temperature.

It rained during the past month on 15 days, the total being 2.33 inches. The heaviest rain for any 24 hours recorded was 1.60 inches on the 18th and 17th.

Only six of the 30 days were absolutely clear. On 16 days cloudiness prevailed 5.16 or more of the time, while eight days were partially cloudy.

MRS. QUIMBY WOULD SCREECH FROM PAIN OF RHEUMATISM

Says New Remedy, Weldon, Gave Her First Relief She Has Had For Years

Mrs. Quimby says, "It's Wonderful to Be Free From Rheumatism!"
"Pain and misery seemed to be my lot; walking was often torture and to go up or down stairs was agony. I dreaded to think of it. At times my rheumatism got so bad that I had to stay in bed and would often screech from the pain. Even when I got so I could go about, the pain would catch me on the street and I would cry out. 'Reading about Weldon and the good work it had done for others, I decided to try it. Well, in almost no time I began to feel an improvement. Now I haven't a rheumatic pain or ache. I can hardly realize it. Especially after the doctor said that I had the worst case of neuritis he ever saw. I want everybody to know what this medicine has done for me so that they may find relief," said Mrs. Emma Quimby, who lives at 39 Oak Street, Haverhill. Continuing, she said: "I have had rheumatism for four or five years so bad that I could hardly walk. My hands and fingers were stiff and sore and it was very difficult to close my hands. My hips were so stiff and painful if I attempted to bend over or sit down I was unable to get up without help. So, you can see how bad my case was."
It was stated that the Weldon man would continue to meet the public every day and evening at Weldon's drug store, 10 State Street, the "Weldon's of Rheumatism—How They Live and How They Die," as well as explaining about this simple preparation.—Adv.

War Taxes Hit Public

ed when the ginger ale is served directly from the bottle in which the manufacturer delivered it to the dealer. This is so with other such drinks—orangeade, for instance. The explanation is that the manufacturer of soft drinks already has paid a tax upon its manufacture.

Ice cream, when served at the counter, is taxable, but ice cream bought over the same counter to be taken home is not taxable. The question has arisen as to whether a tax need be paid if an ice cream soda or college ice, compounded at the fountain, is taken home to be eaten. This hasn't been answered yet. Nobody knows what the answer should be. The autoist who drives up to the curb outside the store, and has his soda brought out to him, will have to pay the tax sure enough, because the auto is regarded being in "proximity to such place of business."

Roper's Latest Findings
Several new rulings by Tax Commissioner Roper have just been received from Washington. One reads:

"The tax is upon the whole amount of the price paid by the purchaser when the price is paid at one time, though in payment for several articles which are the subject of a single transaction or purchase and sale. The total price paid is the unit for computing the tax. Thus, if the purchaser orders two sodas at the same time, each sold for 15 cents, the tax is three cents and not four cents. If, however, the buyer purchases one soda for 15 cents, the tax is two cents, and he then immediately purchases another 15-cent drink the tax is two cents on the second sale, which cannot be treated as part of the first sale. Any means by which separate purchasers pool their order for the purpose of defeating or escaping the tax shall be carefully guarded against by the vendor, for its employment subjects the purchaser and the vendor, if he connives in it, to the penalties provided in section 1308 of the act.

The law requires that proprietors of soda fountains must keep a record of their taxable transactions and submit each month to the internal revenue collector a sworn statement, together with their return.

Last evening Collector Malloy asked that particular emphasis be laid upon the fact that, though a record must be kept, it need not be elaborate. Any reasonably understandable record will be accepted.

Dealers in doubt about the workings of the law should apply for information to room 14 in the Little building.

Toilet Preparations
The tax upon toilet preparations is one cent upon each 25 cents or fraction thereof paid for articles enumerated. The list is a long one. The tax is to be paid by the purchaser to the dealer, who will immediately affix a stamp of equal amount upon the article purchased.

It is expected that the "luxury tax" will be repealed by congress just as soon as it meets. An attempt was made just before the last adjournment to have this section of the revenue act killed, but it was found impossible because of limited time.

WASHINGTON CLUB HONORS MEMBERS

Lieut. Joseph P. Kearney of Base Hospital 110, and Sergt. Maj. John J. O'Rourke, were feted and honored last evening by brother members of the Washington club at the rooms of the organization in Prescott street and for several hours the gallant soldiers were the recipients of a constant stream of praise and applause.

In addition to the good feeling of the other members, Lieut. Kearney and Sergt. Maj. O'Rourke were also each presented handsome loving cups, suitably inscribed. There were some 70 members present.

Following an excellent dinner served at 7 o'clock Pres. Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan called to order and extended a hearty welcome to the returned soldiers. He then presented John J. Sullivan as the evening's toastmaster.

The latter was eloquent in his laudation of the soldier members and said that he believed they had come back better Americans because they had been able to compare their own country with the countries of Europe and realize the extensive advantages that the United States offers.

In speaking of Lieut. Kearney, he said: "He joined our armies in France in time to give the best of his professional knowledge to our sick and wounded, not sparing himself and finally sinking under illness which resulted in orders sending him back to this country at a time when the honor of a higher promotion was about to fall to him."

Mr. Sullivan then paid a tribute to the Kearney family, which gave five sons to the war, and special tribute to Lieut. Paul Kearney who gave up his life in France.

Sergt. Maj. O'Rourke then came in for his share of panegyric. Among the good things Mr. Sullivan had to say about him were: "When the call came he was ready and sailed with our glorious 26th Division for whatever fate had in store for him. He was early recognized by his superior officers as one of the most competent of soldiers and promotion came to him rapidly. Although not winning a commission, he was eight times recommended for one. I have it from one of his superior officers that Sergt. O'Rourke's supply train was the very best in the whole American army and a model for all the others."

Then followed several entertainment numbers including solos by Frank McCartin and other members of the club. Humphrey O'Sullivan and John J. Hogan were called upon and responded fittingly and then the guests of the evening, Lieut. Kearney and Sergt. O'Rourke, told of their pleasure of being home again among their fellow club members. Capt. John C. Leggat was the final speaker and he, too, commended the excellent work done by Sergt. O'Rourke. Talent from Keith's assisted in making the evening a most happy one.

The committee in charge was: President Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, Frederick Malloy, Daniel McQuaid, Charles F. MacKenzie, William C. Purcell, William L. Gockin, Henry Gilbride and Thomas Kelley.

TIMELY HINTS FOR HOME GARDENERS

It's the first head of lettuce, the first tomato, or the first cucumber that the home gardener relishes the most. But the little extra care required to produce these early vegetables is well worth while. The seeds are first planted in a hotbed or seed flat in the house and then placed in their new environment through the process of transplanting when the weather conditions become suitable.

Transplanting is an operation that any one can perform with success provided attention is given to a few essential considerations such as hardness of the plant itself, its development, the physical condition of the soil and weather conditions.

When transplanting be careful not to disturb the root system. The small rootlets are very tender and to break these off only lessens the chances of the plant to live. So take up as much of the adhering dirt as possible along with the plant.

Water the plants thoroughly a few hours before transplanting. It is a common practice to dip the roots of the plants before they are set out into a thin paste made by mixing equal parts of garden soil and water.

The plants should be set a little deeper than they were before. With a dibble or trowel make a hole in the ground just deep enough to insert the root system of the plant, insert the plant and firm the soil around it.

Thoroughly soak the soil around the plant with water and next morning loose dirt should be pulled over that portion of the ground to preserve the moisture.

Select a cloudy or rainy day for transplanting. To protect the plants from the sun use shingles, strawberry boxes, or newspapers.

Tomatoes, eggplants, peppers, melons, squashes and cucumbers should not be transplanted to the open ground until about the first of June. Early cabbages, lettuce, young beets, onions or any of the other hardy vegetables can be set out any time now.

Next week cutworms and their control will be considered.

Bolsheviki Evacuating Petrograd

HELSINGFORS, Wednesday, April 30.—Petrograd is being evacuated by the Bolsheviki, reports from reliable sources say. Many of the inhabitants are being sent away and the Bolsheviki government is taking rigorous measures to prevent the news of the happenings at Olonez from reaching the people.

Allies Hurl Back Bolsheviki

LONDON, May 1.—Along the Murmansk railway the Bolsheviki troops under allied pressure, have withdrawn to new positions 30 miles west of Petrozavodsk, on the western bank of Lake Onega.

A Russian wireless message, reporting the withdrawal, says that the Bolsheviki have carried out an advance on the front south of Archangel and that on the eastern front the Siberians have been driven back 20 miles in the region east of Orenburg.

PRIV. JAMES MCCREADY

Lowell Overseas Veteran
Blossoms Into Victory
Loan Campaign Orator

Of the many returning doughboys who are just beginning to resume civilian status here in Lowell, perhaps none has come back with evidence of clearer and keener observation of the humanly interesting phases of life overseas than has Private James P. McCreedy of the 25th Military Police, who was discharged from the service at Camp Devens early this week.

An interesting story does McCreedy tell that the headquarters of the New England Victory Loan committee has called upon him to be a member of its speaking staff for the campaign and yesterday the Lowell boy spoke in Newspaper Row, Boston to a crowd that gave him a great hand when he had concluded. Later, he was assigned to go on a speaking tour through Middlesex county in behalf of the loan and today he was scheduled to speak in a number of local theatres.

Private McCreedy was a member of the old Sixth regiment in the early days of the war and was one of the best recruiting officers that that gallant old outfit had in the spring of 1917.

"I was speaking for men then," said McCreedy today, "and now I'm going to speak for money." Private McCreedy was subsequently transferred to the M. P.'s and served with this organization during his stay in France. His experiences were many and varied. Not the least exciting was that of guarding the entrance to an abandoned cave fitted up luxuriously for the use of German officers. An inviting Morris chair was placed near the entrance and McCreedy sat down in it. He felt something hard under him and getting up cautiously turned over the chair and found a large bomb in the straw at the bottom of it. No more sitting did the Lowell soldier do that day.

The cave in question had been intricately wired so that certain movements would set off an explosive that would blow it to pieces. Luckily, the explosion never occurred as the American engineers dismantled the system of wiring.

McCreedy had an opportunity to come in close contact with many of the leading figures of the war. At the time President Wilson was in France, reviewing the troops with General Pershing, McCreedy was the eye-witness of an interesting incident. The general took one of the sectional ten-poles carried by the troops, showed its workings to the president and then threw it back in such a way that the soldier would have to spend some time readjusting it. The president noticed the incident and told the general that the soldier in question might have to undergo another inspection later in the day and that his equipment should not be disordered.

"I don't know of anybody else who would speak that way to Pershing," McCreedy says.

Commenting on the revenue tax which goes into effect today on various articles, McCreedy said that the French people have a novel way of collecting taxes. Instead of paying so much extra for various articles, a tax collector visits every French home each week and collects a general tax.

"The French people were certainly down to hard-pau during the war," continued McCreedy. "We usually divided our rations with French children. We used to see them at our garbage pails and at first assumed that they were collecting material for their pigs or chickens. Later we learned that what they collected was for their own use."

"The French are naturally an economical people, even when they have a lot to do with. I remember one time a bunch of American soldiers were shooting crap in a French village and there was a good-sized 'pot' in the game. One of the Tanks was having particularly poor luck and in order to relieve his feelings grabbed a handful of sous and threw them in the air. The French peasants watching the game threw up their hands in horror."

"The French money system often led the doughboys to difficulties. Banks in certain cities would issue certificates which were good only in that city. If one tried to pass them in another city immediately would come the cry: 'Pas bon ici!' But somehow or other, the French people themselves could exchange the certificates anywhere. I remember one time I had a certificate from the bank of Nancy and tried to pay for some papers in a neighboring town with it. The old lady who sold the papers said that it was no good in her town, but that it was good in Nancy. Where upon, to see what would happen, I took out some cigar tobacco, rolled a cigarette in the certificate and started to smoke it. You ought to see that old lady throw up her hands. She cried that the certificate was good then."

McCreedy had some interesting talks with the American newspaper correspondents overseas. The one fault the doughboys found with many of them was that they tried to imitate officers too much. He met Irvin Cobb and Frank P. Sibley, the New England writer, among others and became quite friendly with "Sib."

Sibley was popular among the soldiers and one reason was that he never refused to lend a Y.D. man money when he needed it. Very rarely did he collect it again. And the front line trenches were never very great strangers to this correspondent, according to McCreedy.

The Lowell boy and another member of the M. P.'s named Callahan, have compiled a book on the doings of their company, Co. B, and this is now in the hands of the printers. Its arrival will be greeted with interest by the many friends of the Lowell soldier.

WHAT GRANDMA SAYS

Mrs. Louise Amend said: "I want to tell you about my grandson, Kenneth Cronk, who lives with me. He is 14 years old and we have had the wildest time with him that had weeping the bed you ever saw. We thought that he was crying but he didn't. At last we became worried and began doctoring him, but never got hold of anything that would stop it until this morning when he told us that he was crying because he was so tired. I didn't believe it would help the lad, but it did. He was so bad before he started taking Goldine that every night was a night of torture and he was so tired that he would cry about it, but I didn't know it. That medicine stopped it and he hasn't done it once since."

"He is so glad that he doesn't know what to say in praise of the medicine, and so are we all. I just wish I could tell every mother in the city about Goldine for I know how glad they would all be to get something that will really stop bed wetting. Maybe the Goldine Man will put this in the paper so they can read about it or will tell them to come over to my house and let me tell them about it. I don't care how. Just so I can help the children who have to suffer."

MRS. LOUISE AMEND.

WILLIAM H. WITHEROUS, NOTED ANALYTICAL CHEMIST OF COLUMBUS, OHIO, SAYS:

"I have made a careful examination of the Goldine remedies and find them to be a union of purely vegetable substances so compounded that their digestion and assimilation is accomplished with the greatest ease. There are no dangerous or habit-forming drugs or excessive stimulants in Goldine and it can be used freely by adults or children. It has my unqualified endorsement." An endorsement by a chemist of the standing of Mr. Witherous is ample assurance to the most skeptical of absolute purity of Goldine.

In choosing a remedy get the best. Choose one that has proven its worth in your home city, beware of out-of-town testimonials. Get something that shows you results from the start. Go and find out if Goldine is producing results, then come and talk with me about your case. I do not diagnose or prescribe but will tell you about Goldine, the remedy that's pure, that has proven its merit, and that isn't a patent medicine. Goldine No. 1 is special for Stomach and Nerve Trouble; No. 2 for Rheumatism. There is no equal for instant and permanent results.

Several of the team reports showed excellent response from the industrial employees, notably the American Hide & Leather men, who subscribed for $30,000 worth; the Brookfield mills, employees with $3000 worth; and the employees of the Middlesex Co. with $1800 worth. Representatives of the Massachusetts Co. and other corporations said that reports on the campaign among their employees would not be forthcoming before the meeting on next Wednesday night.

The total number of subscriptions reported by the team workers was 1523, and the banner winning division was Division C, Capt. Collins, which recorded purchases to the amount of $282,000, which included the Massachusetts Corp. The team reports follow:

	Subs	No.
Div. A, Capt. Proctor	$55,500	75
Div. B, Capt. Fairburn	32,500	75
Div. C, Capt. Collins	282,000	234

Totals$993,050 1523

As was promised at the outset of the local campaign German dress parade helmets, part of a lot captured by Yankee troops at Coblenz, were presented to the canvasser on each team who had the largest number of subscriptions. These were worn and taken home to the children by the following workers:

Division A, American Woolen Bay State mills, 79 subscriptions; Division B, C Marshall Forrest, 35 subscriptions; Division C, Lowell Bleachery, 223; Division D, John K. Whittier, 49; Division E, Appleton Co., 269; Division F, G. Russell Dana, nine; Division G, William A. Lamson, eight; Division H, American Hide & Leather Co., 300; Division I, Stirling mills, 99; women's committee, Miss Millie A. Severance, 27.

Following an excellent dinner served at 6.30 o'clock, Chairman Robert F. Marden spoke briefly of the appearance of the campaign to date and the immense amount of work which still faces the division workers. Although Lowell has three-fifths of her quota secured, the remaining two-fifths must come directly through concentrated and hard effort on the part of individual canvassers. The savings banks have taken practically all they will take, most of the industries are in, and therefore, the only reservoirs left are the big individual subscribers, men and women who will come through for $10,000 or $20,000. This must be if the city is to reach its quota. Even if Lowell attains her quota prior to the next meeting of the committees, next Wednesday night, it will not mean that the local drive will slacken, for the treasury department yesterday sent out notifications to the effect that there will be some districts in the country where quotas will not be reached, and the districts who can over-subscribe are urged to do so to the limit. Lowell will keep plugging every minute up to the closing hours of the campaign on May 10.

Features were numerous at last night's meeting, and Walter J. Nelson, manager of the Merrimack Square theatre, and also a team worker, supplied several of them. He set up a motion picture machine and showed four pictures: Mary Pickford, in "100 Per Cent American," the Y.D. parade in Boston, a news of the world film and a special Victory Loan picture starring William S. Hart. His pianist from the theatre came in to play during the pictures. About 75 of the division workers were present and all added to the enthusiasm of the meeting.

Tomorrow is going to be one of the biggest days in the local drive, with the appearance of the Coast Artillery outfit from Fortress Monroe, Va. and the war exhibit train. The artillery boys will be accompanied by a 40-piece band and will hold a demonstration on the South common during the forenoon and a street parade in the afternoon, eventually joining forces with the war exhibit train on the spur track in Dutton street near Merrimack between the hours of 1 and 4 p. m. A big open air meeting will be held in the evening in front of city hall. Folks will be interested in seeing these war features, and incidentally will be given every opportunity to examine them closely, and also buy bonds.

At the committee meeting next Wednesday night, Congressman John Jacob Rogers will be one of the guests and also will speak. Chairman Marden also is trying to secure another noted speaker from out-of-town. More German helmets will be given away, but last night's winners are barred from further winnings.

America's War Expenses Continue To Increase Over Those of Past Months

Government Outlays For April, $1,420,000,000—Loan Must Go Over Top

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Nearly six months after the signing of the armistice, America's war expenses not only are continuing without abatement, but actually are increasing over those of the past few months. This was shown today by a treasury report of government outlays for April, amounting to approximately $1,420,000,000, of which about two-thirds went to pay the nation's direct war bills and one-third went to the allies to enable them to pay obligations incurred in this country heretofore for war materials and foodstuffs.

The gradual mounting of war expenses from month to month, following the big drop from around $2,000,000,000 a month last December and January to $1,185,000,000 in February, was cited by treasury officials as a substantial reason why the Victory loan must be generously subscribed. The increase in the last two months is attributed to the gradual settling of manufacturers' accounts by the war department and by the higher demand of the allies for credits with which to pay bills previously incurred in this country.

The tremendous outlays in April raised the United States' actual expenditures since the nation entered the war, a little more than two years ago, to about $20,500,000,000. About $9,000,000,000 of this has gone to the allies and will be repaid eventually. Without war the government's expenses probably would not have been more than three billion dollars in the two years, officials believe.

The government has passed something like $18,500,000,000 across the counter for war materials, army equipment and supplies, merchant ships, navy vessels, and the overhead costs of maintaining a big fighting machine, through sale of materials on hand and salvaging of considerable government property some officials hope to get as much as $2,000,000,000 back.

In April the government checks paid by the treasury amounted to about $952,000,000 for ordinary expenses, including about $100,000,000 in interest on liberty bonds and certificates of indebtedness. More than $400,000,000 went to the allies, a larger sum than in any month since last October. Nearly $11,000,000 went into loan loans.

Income to meet these demands came principally from sale of certificates of indebtedness, from which about $700,000,000 was realized in April.

War savings stamps sale are declining. In April they were about $8,000,000. For each of the last six months of 1918 sales were on an average of $100,000,000. Officials admit that if the sales do not increase materially, the war savings organization will be forced to disband.

Bishop Lawrence Says Institution Disgrace, Inhuman in Some Conditions

Declares State Prison Unfit For Men To Live In—Need of Welfare Work

BOSTON, May 1.—The need of a better appreciation by church people of the increasing call for social service work and religious education as an aftermath of the war, was emphasized in the address of Bishop William Lawrence at the annual convention of the churches of the Episcopal diocese here today. In the matter of social service, the bishop said, "the church has not the spirit of Christ in it, if it does not touch these problems."

"The people who need as much arousing as any are the people in our churches every Sunday," he continued. "Christians are responsible for the welfare of our prisoners and their humane treatment. How many people in the Boston churches last Sunday know that the Charles street jail right within half a mile of us now is a disgrace to the city, brutal, inhuman in some of its conditions? How many people in our churches throughout the state know that the state's prison, only two miles from us, is medieval in its structure and, in some respects, unfit for men to live in? These conditions are not the fault of officials of the prison, city or state, but of so-called Christian people, who do not care to know the facts, or if they do, do not want to pay the taxes to correct them."

"How many of our communicants know that the problem of the feeble-minded loose upon our community is a source of grave danger to the morals and health of our young people? How many know that the legislature hesitates today at appropriating money for new schools and homes for the feeble-minded, lest Christian people be unwilling to pay the taxes?"

"The aim of social service in the church is not to create new organizations or to carry out special social work but to arouse in the people a spirit of service in society, and by illustration, education and practical leadership, move them to work for results through community social organizations."

"A great and thrilling wave of service swept the people under the influence of the war motive," said Bishop Lawrence. "Are we to confess that the motives of peace are not strong enough to sustain that great wave?"

In closing Bishop Lawrence touched on the restlessness of the times.

VET OF RING AND ARMY

Georges Carpentier Is Coming Back—He's an All Around Athlete Now

Georges Carpentier—eight years in the ring and four years at war with the common enemy of civilization, the Hun. And yet Georges is only 25 years old—25 last January.

He's a remarkable fellow, this Frenchman, who began fighting at 13 as a bantamweight and graduated from one class to the next until he was proclaimed the heavyweight champion of Europe.

He whipped some of the best men in the world in all classes and then the war came and he was one of the first in the uniform of his beloved country. He has done valiant service and has been decorated. He's been wounded too, but is now sound physically and years for a return to the ring.

Georges has frequently fought since joining the colors nearly five years ago, but not as a title holder or for gain.

Over four years of military service has not hurt him. He's a better man for it he declares optimistically. But 12 years as a fighter and a soldier has a tendency to tie up the muscles of a man like Georges. So he started anew. He has gone in for all-round athletics and has been successful in other sports as he was in boxing.

Carpentier thinks that with this sort of training he'll soon be in condition to re-enter the ring and kick up some future himself. He is little more than a middleweight, but he is a powerful man and one who was feared by most heavyweights.

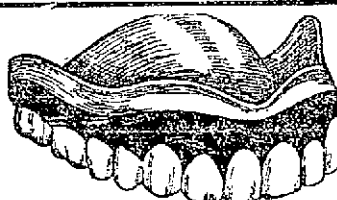

It is very probable that when he gets back in the game with both feet he'll be sought after for a bout with the winner of the Dempsey-Willard fight July 4.

Carpentier has met several good American fighters in the middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight classes.

He won from Willie Lewis in 20 rounds in 1914. Gunboat Smith lost to him on a foul. He lost to Joe Jeannette in a 15-round affair in 1911. He lost on a foul to Frank Klaus in 19 rounds. He lost to Billy Papke in 1912.

But he twice knocked out Bombardier Wells, the great English champion, and thereby holds the European heavyweight title.

Are a Specific for Pale, Thin, Nervous Women.

A Specific is a remedy which relieves a certain disease. Thus, quinine is a specific for fever—antitoxin is a specific for diphtheria—RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are a specific for anemia (or poor blood) and the disorders it causes.

ALL women and young girls who feel the least exhausted after exertion—or who are always tired and dragged-out—or who suffer with pain in the back, headaches, ringing in the ears—are paying the penalty of Anemia or weak, thin blood.

THEY need RED PILLS—the blood-makers—the health-building tonic—the ideal medicine for pale, weak women.

THERE is also another class of women who would benefit themselves by taking RED PILLS. These are the women suffering with Chlorosis, or lack of blood. In cases of Chlorosis, the skin becomes as white as wax—the face looks sad and dull—the eyes have great black circles under them—and the eyelids are swollen.

TAKE RED PILLS and let them make new, rich, red blood for you—let them give you vigor and strength—let them make a stronger woman of you.

MRS. JOSEPH REDMOND, 178 Mason Street, Fall River, Mass., had been suffering a number of years from severe headaches which never left her, and also poor circulation, which caused the blood to rush to her head at all times. After a treatment of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, her headaches gradually disappeared, and the circulation of her blood became normal again.

CAUTION—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870 by a famous French specialist.

They have been largely used in France by French women ever since. Now, America, inspired by the great demand on woman's labor, is accepting with gratifying results the use of RED PILLS for the treatment of Anemia and general debility.

This will cause RED PILLS to be imitated. Therefore, insist on the signature of the "CIE CHIMIQUE FRANCO-AMERICAIN" and a serial number on each box. WITH THE LEGISLATORS ON BEACON HILL

(Special to The Sun.)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 1.—The senate ways and means committee filed a favorable report yesterday on the bill of Senator Arthur W. Colburn, authorizing the county commissioners of Middlesex county to expend an additional sum of not exceeding $1200 per year for clerical assistance in the Lowell police court.

Public ownership of street railway lines in this state was debated at some length in the house and finally a bill permitting every street railway company in the commonwealth to transfer its property to the state was substituted for an adverse report of the committee on street railways, and then the new bill, offered by Rep. Manning of Brockton, was sent to that committee for further consideration.

The bill constitutes the members of the public service commission as the representatives of the commonwealth in acquiring any lines of street railway companies, and to pay such price as may be agreed upon with the directors of any company purchased, subject to the following limitations:—First, the purchase price shall not

SEVEN BARKS

It may be possible that you don't know what SEVEN BARKS stands for, so we will enlighten you: It is a safe, remarkable remedy, made from the extracts of seven different kinds of roots and herbs, every one of which has great medicinal value, scientifically blended and for nearly 50 years has been a reliable remedy for Indigestion, Constipation, Liver, Kidney and Stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS has never been extensively advertised, but has enjoyed a wonderful and steady sale for nearly a half century, and purely upon its merits.

SEVEN BARKS has saved thousands of families doctors' bills, as well as untold suffering. It is inexpensive, only 50 cents per bottle, and the dose is from 10 to 20 drops in a little water after meals.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with Biliousness, Indigestion, Liver or Kidney trouble. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS, do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results. Don't put off asking your druggist for SEVEN BARKS; if he does not happen to have it, he will get it for you.—Adv.

exceed the amount which the commission believes the property to be reasonably worth, taking into consideration cost, physical condition, and present and prospective earning power; nor shall it in any event exceed the amount found by the commission to have been honestly and prudently invested in the property.

Second, said purchase price shall be payable in bonds of the commonwealth, bearing interest at such rate not exceeding five per cent as the commission may determine.

Third, the property shall be conveyed free of any mortgage or lien, but shall include not only physical property but all intangible property, such as franchises and leasehold or other contract rights.

An appropriation of $7500 was recommended by the committee on state house and libraries for erecting in the state house a receptacle for all flags carried by Massachusetts troops in the recent war. It is to be located in Memorial hall on the second floor of the state house, opposite the memorial to the army nurses, and near the receptacle now provided for Spanish war flags.

From the ways and means committee there came a favorable report on the project of Senator Loring of Beverly for the creation of a Massachusetts Farm Settlement corporation, the purpose of which is to extend the credit of the commonwealth to returning soldiers and sailors who desire to engage in husbandry.

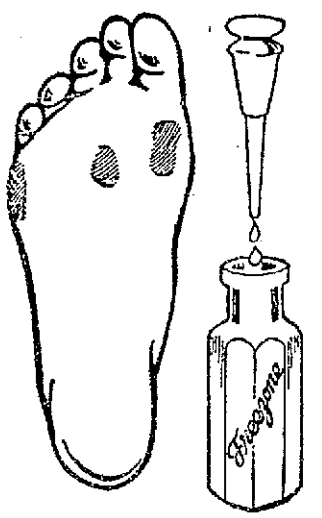

Another step in the same direction was announced by the special commission, recently created, which is to aid returning service men in obtaining employment. The commission has accepted an offer made by A. E. Little of Lynn to place at the disposal of the commonwealth his large farm in Marblehead, and it is probable that it will be used as a sort of training school for those who desire later to own farms of their own.

The house by a vote of 31 to 102 rejected the bill providing that children less than 15 years of age shall not be admitted to places of amusement unless accompanied by an adult. The bill was supported by the social welfare committee on the ground that school children are playing "hooky" in order to attend picnics, shows, but Rep. Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford attacked it as an unwarranted interference with personal liberty.

A tentative plan for reorganizing the state departments, boards and commissions, as required by the constitutional amendment adopted last fall, has been prepared by the committee on administrations and commissions. It provides for 20 departments, in place of the 107 now existing, each of the new departments to be under a single head, although several will include numerous divisions. It is expected that the reorganization will lessen the state pay-roll considerably, as the total number of state officials will be greatly reduced, and there is little disposition on the part of members of the committee to recommend increases in salary for those who are to continue in office. 56 JEWS HAVE BEEN KILLED AT PISK

LONDON, May 1.—Fifty-six Jews have been killed at Pisk, according to an announcement from the central office of the Zionist association, which received its information from the organization's Copenhagen bureau.

Forty persons were imprisoned and brutally treated, it is said, and three women were flogged, one school mistress being rendered insane. The synagogues at Pisk are reported to be closed and the Jews have been impressed at forced labor. Military leaders are said to have demanded 100,000 marks, threatening to shoot Jewish leaders if that sum is not paid within 24 hours.

"USE RAZOR FOR SHAVING" NO SUN. FOR SOCIAL PURPOSES.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The Americanism of Albert Wright was upheld in his possession of a German-made razor explained to Judge Stewart yesterday. Wright, a negro, used the razor in a brawl last night.

"Do you realize that this razor was made in Germany?" asked the judge. "I reckon it must shaven, sun. I procured it off a doid German pussion out in Nobody's land. I knowed he was doid because I had just pulled my bayonet outen him."

"O, you fought in France?" exclaimed the court.

"Yes, sun. I was a black devil, an' I thought this razor might be valuable, sun."

"For shaving?"

"No, sun, for social purposes. I esteem it highly as a keepsake, sun."

"Well, the best I can do is to discharge you and keep the razor; next case," said the judge.

B. F. KEITH THEATRE

Jazz that runs the whole gamut of slides and barber-shop chords is advanced by Elsie Mains Black and White Boys at the B. F. Keith Theatre, this week. Elsie is there, too, with songs that just set Broadway a-singing. The act is a lively one, and the five instrumentalists not only make jazz, but they go through a lot of antics in the make-up. Harry Hines sings songs that are very modern, songs that are full of pep.

He also enlivened away amusingly. His manner is breezy, and he gets on good terms with his audience right at the start. One of the most likeable of acts is "Avi-at-her," put forward by Joe Morris and Flossie Campbell. Morris is a natural comedian, who never hits a false note, and Miss Campbell is a good singer and has a winsome personality. St. Onse and Ritchie have a novel cycle act, and Manning & Lee sing and talk well. Other acts are the former girls, dancers, and those who call to the aid to jump from the wagon and catches her in his arms as easily as a professional catches a bun-baller. A bear provides one of the lively features and there are other unusual incidents that contribute to a thoroughly enjoyable motion picture.

THE STRAND
Score another success for The Strand management in securing the latest Tom Mix release, "Fighting for Gold," which will be shown for the first time this afternoon and tonight. It's a genuine Mix creation, with all of the dash and thrilling scenes that invariably result from this star's work. It contains a charming love story, and the star once more demonstrates new wrinkles in horse riding, wonderful marksmanship and roping. He proves, too, that his leading lady, "Teddy" Sampson is much safer in his arms than she is alone in a runaway wagon. In this scene Mix certainly gives his audience a real thrill, for riding at breakneck speed he calls to the aid to jump from the wagon and catches her in his arms as easily as a professional catches a bun-baller. A bear provides one of the lively features and there are other unusual incidents that contribute to a thoroughly enjoyable motion picture. "Daughter of Mine," the new Goldwyn picture featuring Madge Kennedy which is to be shown on the week-end bill, is said to be novel from every angle. It tells an original story in which every character plays a dual role. It's the story of Rosie Mendelsohn, daughter of the tenements, and her father, an orthodox Jew, who does not approve of Rosie's poet-sweetheart because he is modern—he uses a typewriter. After much persuasion he induces his daughter to send the lover away, and Rosie, because that love is uppermost in her mind, tries to forget him. Later developments show that her efforts to forget him are unsuccessful. It has several interesting twists and scenes. The picture itself tells the outcome best. See it. A good comedy and the latest Univ-

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
The characterizations of Miss Jane Salisbury in "Eyes of Youth" which is packing them in at the Lowell Opera House this week, are worthy of the highest praise. Never has a stock star been called upon to interpret such a wide variety of characters in one play, and Miss Salisbury certainly treats them all with marked cleverness and satisfaction. You should see her in full appreciation of her worth. Julian May, Arthur Lafine and Arthur Buchanan also are seen to particular advantage. Next week that famous play, "Old Lady 11," No. 261 and have your seats reserved for you in advance.

MAKE MAY DAYS SHOPPING DAYS

Today is May day. Citizens in general have to spend less money now for coal, electricity and gas. This means that they ought to have more money to spend for other things. Perhaps many of them will want to buy a few furberles and trinkets!

We know they've got to buy different things seasonable. There must be a certain amount of garden tools and seed sold this month. Advertising draws this trade. Women have been wearing low quartered shoes for six weeks. Men must follow suit this month. Advertising sells men's low quartered shoes. "Straw hats and new suits for Decoration day." Sounds familiar, doesn't it? Advertising alone will cause a rush for these goods. There are so many seasonable kinds of merchandise to be put over this month that May ought to be a big business month for the stores. And by the same token, a big advertising month. The best advertiser gets the greater part of the trade. In Lowell the best way to get results is to have your ad in

LET THE LEAGUE DO IT

It is certainly a serious situation that has developed in the peace congress over the claims of Italy and Japan. It appears futile to assume that the old methods of bargain and barter in international affairs, can be upset so suddenly as President Wilson deems possible and desirable. Still further delay in the signing of the peace treaty is now threatened unless the demands of Italy and Japan be either granted or overcome in some way. It would be very unfortunate if either Italy or Japan were driven out of the congress by too insistent adherence to the policy laid down in Wilson's fourteen points, which were unheard of when the treaty of London was concluded with Italy and other enemies made with Japan on condition of their participation in the war on the side of the allies.

Without Italy, it is doubtful whether the allies could have held the enemy till America got into the fray. What is wanted now is that the allies patch their difference without getting into deep water over matters that can easily be settled by compromise if the parties are not too firmly set on high ideals on the one hand or self interest on the other.

The injection of President Wilson's ideals to the conflicting territorial claims of European and Asiatic powers, has brought about a situation somewhat resembling that which chemists tell us occurs when an attempt is made to mix oil and water.

The world cries out for peace, peace, permanent peace!

Just at present, the United States is suffering as much from the delay in the conclusion of the peace negotiations as any other country. There is need of a resumption of business so that the men and women who are idle may find employment. If congress were called together to pass some of the appropriation bills pushed aside by the republican filibuster, there would be a better stimulus for business throughout the country. At least, there would be an end to much of the uncertainty that is fatal to business everywhere.

Therefore, it is to be hoped that President Wilson will not stand too firmly for the enforcement of his fourteen points. Better leave the work to the League of Nations.

SAVE THE BIRDS

Some few thoughtful folks are "discovering" that it is cheaper and much more pleasant to associate with a thrush, or a robin, or a blue-bird, than it is to associate with a can of poison or a three-quarter acre of kerosene emulsion.

It is fashionable to have a backyard garden these days, and gardeners who have fought bugs for a season or two begin to think more of the birds that fight worms and grubs and bugs from birth to death.

Sprays and whitewashes and poison berry bushes are well enough, but if we had less ruthlessly slaughtered our bird allies we would not require so much squinting and dashing and spraying and bug picking.

A bird house in every family tree would be a much better insinuation for the great American home, than the shotgun, and the air gun, and the rifle shot rampant.

Nature has rather a nice balance; she creates worms and bugs, and then sends birds to feed upon them. Man makes the birds into a pot pie, and then feverishly fights the insect armies, trying to restore nature's balance.

Birds do gather berries and cherries and frequently bite the flushed cheek of an apple; but time and again the survey of their stomachs has shown that for one relish of fruit they make a dozen meals on destructive bugs and devouring grubs, and the laborer is ever worthy of his hire.

Of course there is the aesthetic side to this, and the ethical side as well, but just now we are considering it from a distinctly business basis, and it is good gardening sense to encourage most of the birds to abide with you.

Cigar boxes make good bird houses, so do tin cans, and broken tiles, and antique plug hats, and old shoes.

At least give the few birds that are left a chance to prove their worth, and if you want something to shoot at try the alley cat.

The small boy who should delight in cultivating the friendship of birds is their most deadly enemy, almost as bad as the stealthy feline that goes out by night to pounce upon them in their nests. The boy robs the nests with a degree of ruthlessness worthy of a Bolshevik plundering the home of a bourgeois.

NO STRAP-HANGERS

A bill before the legislature provides that the street railways will be obliged to limit the number of their passengers to the seating capacity of their cars. Were such a bill to become law, surely some of the companies that have been agitating for higher fares and shrieking on the verge of bankruptcy, would be practically put out of business. Here in Lowell, it is not so very long ago since it was a common occurrence to have cars start on their routes with almost as many passengers outside clinging on to fenders and running boards, as were inside. And as for "strap-hangers," it might be said that not one-third of the standing-up passengers could get near a strap. We do not think, however, there is such great need now for insisting upon every passenger getting a seat. The increase in the fare has reduced the number of passengers so that the crowding of cars is not so common as formerly, nor is it likely to be so common in the future. The greater use of automobiles during the summer will, to a great extent, lessen the travel on the street railway cars so that there is not very much ground for alarm over the number of passengers who will be obliged to stand in the cars for all or even a part of the journey.

WILL ASQUITH COME?

Former Premier Herbert H. Asquith is mentioned for British ambassador to the United States. It is not improbable that Lloyd George might attempt to shelve Asquith by giving him this appointment. After what Mr. Asquith did in overturning the home rule victory, it seems that he would find the atmosphere of the United States rather uncomfortable. He is the man who quailed in the face of Carson's threat and the alleged mutiny of a few British generals who said they would resign rather than enforce the law in Ulster. Thereupon, Asquith meekly bowed in submission saying, "It is unthinkable to coerce Ulster." It is unthinkable to have Asquith cordially welcomed as ambassador to this nation. Sir Edward Carson would have more respect if sent here than would Asquith, for the reason that Carson has always been a consistent, outspoken enemy of the Irish cause, while Asquith under pretense of being a friend, used the Irish party to hold himself in office only to prove the ingrate and the traitor in the hour of victory, when home rule was won after a struggle of thirty years.

CAGE THE KAISER

Much curiosity exists as to what will be done with the ex-kaiser in case he be convicted by the international court by which he is to be tried for high crimes and misdemeanors. There is no probability that he will be punished as he deserves. No punishment that any court could provide would measure up to the enormity of his crimes. Besides, if he were put out in front of a firing squad to end his career, the result would incite trouble in various parts of the world and probably lead to the assassination of other rulers out of a spirit of revenge. Consequently, the worst that Wilhelm, the last of the Hohenzollern line, may expect, is banishment and life imprisonment somewhat resembling that of Napoleon at St. Helena. For such merciful treatment, the man who plotted the conquest of the world and caused the destruction of ten million lives should feel sincerely grateful.

AIRPLANE RIDING

That aviation tragedy on the Charles river, the other day, will put a damper upon the craze for rides in airplanes. The fact that the victim of this accident was strapped in his seat made it impossible for him to escape when the airplane dived head foremost into the Charles river. It is just as well to discourage such enterprise, as was shown by the young aviators who formed a company for the purpose of making as much money as they could by carrying passengers on short trips at the rate of a dollar a minute. The unfortunate man who was drowned in this particular case paid $15 for his seat and it is related that another man, anxious for a ride, offered a larger sum. Hereafter, we surmise, these enterprising aviators will not find it so easy to secure passengers, even for a much smaller consideration.

LODGE STILL OBJECTS

Senator Lodge comes out again to raise objections to the new draft of the peace league. It appears that Lodge is bent upon using his utmost efforts to defeat every measure that is favored by President Wilson, regardless of what the consequence may be. Mr. Lodge has sent out word to his colleagues not to make any comment on the new draft of the covenant, doubtless in order that he may get them to take a common stand against some particular feature and insist upon further amendment. By adopting such tactics, it seems that the republican leaders are still endeavoring to make a political issue of the league and are now seeking some new ground of opposition on which they can all unite. The American people will have something to say about this policy when it is properly presented to them.

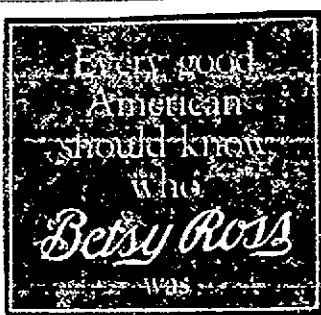

It is doubtful if we can truthfully say that governmental ownership has failed. The efficiency of great reforms lies in the hands of the persons to whose administration they are entrusted. Thus, we glance towards Postmaster Burleson and are reminded that it is the men who manage public utilities who can make governmental ownership a success or can make it represent what Burleson has made it represent.

The 26th's doughboys are returning home feeling quite happy because they are being loaned to civil life again with a little money—their pay—in their pockets. There are two things we may do to complete their happiness: One is to do our full duty about getting them a job. The other is to do our full duty in seeing this Victory loan through.

We learn that the United States supreme court will not hear any arguments on current pieces of litigation between tomorrow and next October. A vacation for the black gowns will be nice, of course, but unfortunately, between now and next October, commerce, industry and people earning money to pay bills, must keep on in as great effort as possible. It is possible that if the supreme court would work every other month, for instance, it might help national problems. However, wish them good luck in their fishing.

The jolly old Boston Globe yesterday said that the Queen of the May might perform today, have to wear her winter flannels. By no means conclusive, even when said by the reliable Globe paragon. If we must discuss a subject so delicate as the lady's flannels, we should take into account that it may make some difference in what part of New England she is to do her Maying. If amidst Boston's east winds, of course we advise the retaining of the flannels.

Germany had rights in Shantung because she was strong enough to take them. That was hateful. But now Japan has the same rights for the same reason, and she is a friend of ours. How embarrassing to nations is a claim to righteousness!

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Every night for the past week a long shaft of white light has flashed continuously back and forth across the heavens, seemingly having its origin behind the place where earth and heaven meet to the eastward, and it was only yesterday that we happened to stumble upon its significance. It is a part of Boston's Victory Loan propaganda and results from the rays of a powerful searchlight, so strong as to be seen for miles. Its ghostly shaft played across the sky last night brightly than ever, it seemed, traveling swiftly in a wedge shape segment. The searchlight shows that Boston never sleeps on her loan work and it flashes a challenge to the rest of New England to be up and doing at the following daybreak in the interest of the drive. Similar searchlights will be used in Lowell Friday night at the outdoor mass meeting in the interests of the Victory Loan, to be held in the square in front of city hall. The light will play about the sky and also over the crowd.

We happened to be at the depot in Middlesex street the other day when one of a train of half a hundred cars or more left the rail just beyond the Chelmsford street bridge and our attention was attracted to the long line of automobiles and teams held up at the Middlesex street crossing. In fact there were vehicles of all description blocking the street from the railroad crossing to Thorndike street. Word was passed around that a car was off the track and that it would occasion a delay of perhaps half an hour or more and there were four faces in automobiles and wagons when the situation was explained. We did not time the affair but it did not seem as if the crossing was blocked more than ten minutes. Of course an automobile can go quite a distance in ten minutes, and after the blockade had been unhealed we thought of something that we might have thought of when the crossing was first blocked, something that the people in the automobiles, wagons and motorcycles might have thought of, too. It was a way out and nobody seemed to give it a thought. The autos, motorcycles, wagons, and, yes, a few bicycles were all aimed out Middlesex street and despite the fact that everybody concerned had been told that the crossing would probably be blocked for half an hour, not a soul thought of going up over the Thorndike street hill, across the bridge into Westford street, and from Westford street to Middlesex street if desired. Solid ivory—and then some.

"I don't think that new factory hospital rule is going to work out just right," remarked a manufacturer to me today. "I don't like to throw cold water on any welfare work, but I believe we would do better to put our money into the public hospitals, instead of a private hospital in our factory. You see, the new rule of the state board of labor and industry requires each manufacturer to fit up a first aid station in his factory, providing he employs 100 or more men. That's expensive. It is like fitting up a small private hospital. It is my opinion that if a man gets hurt in his factory, the best thing to do is to send him to the public hospital. There he will get the swiftest and the best aid. With autos always at the shop we can send an injured man to the hospital in a jiffy, even if the ambulance is not handy. So I do not see the necessity of a private hospital in each large factory in a compact city like Lowell. But I can see the need of building up the hospitals in the city and making them bigger and better institutions and I think the money we are now obliged to spend for private hospitals in our factories could bring better returns if put into the city's hospital funds.

I hear a number of Lowell soldiers—members of the 25th Division unit—have been "stung" by some of the itinerant photographers who have infested Camp Devens for a number of weeks. The procedure of these swindlers is almost too contemptible to believe. The scheme is worked like this: the photographer will get a group of soldier boys to line themselves up for a group photograph. Then the photographer or the man working with him goes among the boys, exhibits a sample photograph and offers to send a copy of the picture just taken to any address the soldier may designate, for $1, which he proceeds to collect then and there. The soldiers fall for it and pay over the dollar. The swindle has evidently been worked a number of times, never having received any copy of the picture. On one occasion the military police took charge of one such photographer and his outfit and upon examination it was found that there was not even a film or a plate in the camera by which he could take a picture.

When in the East two mornings ago, I have been wearing a wart on the end of his nose for several years. Also, he has a wife. But he can't keep on having both wart and wife. His wife says so.

"That wart is coming off his nose or I am going back to my home," Mrs. Vancor is quoted as saying when flung suit for divorce, making the wart her grounds for action. "It's just a question of whether he wants me or the wart."

Bob doesn't like his wart as well as his wife, but he's tried everything from rubbing it with potato peelings to wishing it on somebody else, and the wart sticks. If you know how to shoot a wart off a nose, please write and tell Bob, and save him his wife.

SEEN AND HEARD

Abe Martin says that some people get along very well together until the time comes when a little common sense is needed and we reckon Abe knows what he's talking about.

A Lowell man who is second cousin to a well known household economist, believes you can keep mice from gnawing into a refrigerator by leaving the food on the kitchen table at night.

The boss asked a fellow the other day if he knew a man of action who was available and he gave him the name of a fellow with the St. Vitus dance. He didn't get anything extra in his pay envelope Saturday night.

This sure is some funny old world. One-half doesn't know about the other half and that sometimes applies to married life and then there's the fellow that goes fishing for trout and the other fellow who goes fishing for anything he can get and—but what's the use of wasting good time.

They do tell that the big parade in Boston made business good for the doctors and as the undertaker quite frequently follows the doctor it's safe perhaps to allow that the human planter got his. But that's a grave question and this column is intended for light stuff only.

There's a story going the rounds in which a Lowell man with long legs (not an) figure and for which a little is responsible. The child was with her mother and they were on their way to the Opera House. The time was some day last week. They were in Central street when suddenly the little girl, twirling at her mother's sleeve, said: "Mamma, mamma, see, quick!"

"What's the matter dear?" queried the patient mother.

"There, there mamma, right ahead of us," as she pointed to our friend with the long legs, he's the man we're going to see at the Opera House, Daddy Long Legs. Now you won't have to pay for tickets and we can spend the money for something else."

Try This Scheme.

A mid-west genius has invented a new way to clean out a stopped-up sewer pipe. All you need is a turtle and string. Tie the turtle to the string, or the string to the turtle, and put the turtle down at the opening into the pipe. It will claw its way through to get away from you. When it stops tug at the string. That reminds him that you're still there. Frank Ward of Richmond, Mo., cleaned out 214 feet of pipe that way.

50-50 Up and Down

The airship pilot and his one passenger were flying high over the city after having made a few quick, death-thirsty scoons that thrilled the spectators on terra firma, when the pilot, turning to his passenger, said: "Fifty per cent of the people down there expected we would crash to earth and be killed."

"Yes," said the passenger, "and 50 per cent of the people up here thought the same thing."

Great Scoup

Newspaper editors are worrying themselves sick over what's holding the peace delegates so long in Paris. Well, so they can quit fretting, here's the reason:

"The corages of some of the evening gowns were out exceedingly low in the back and a little lower than that in front! Never were such brief bodices seen in Paris as those which were featured a few days ago in the Jenny salons. Only a miracle attached the corsage to the shoulders in some instances."

—Harper's Bazar.

Not Saving at All.

You mustn't jump at the conclusion that the ladies in Paris are thus economical in dress material for—

"More than what was cut off at the top being attached to the bottom—many of the trains very long and brilliant as the tail of the peacock."

Wart vs. Wife.

When in the East two mornings ago, I have been wearing a wart on the end of his nose for several years. Also, he has a wife. But he can't keep on having both wart and wife. His wife says so.

"That wart is coming off his nose or I am going back to my home," Mrs. Vancor is quoted as saying when flung suit for divorce, making the wart her grounds for action. "It's just a question of whether he wants me or the wart."

ACTIVITY AT VERSAILLES

Preparations For Peace Congress Go On—Germans On Hand—Slight Delay

VERSAILLES, Wednesday, April 30 (By the Associated Press).—The spacious dining room of the Hotel Trianon today received its peace congress installation—three long tables in horseshoe form, covered with the traditional green cloth of diplomacy and games of hazard. The installation is imposing in the size of each of the side tables, which extend some 16 or 20 feet throughout the room. At the head of the apartment is a table about 25 feet long at which the representatives of the great powers will be seated with President Poincaré or Premier Clemenceau in the center.

Inside the horseshoe is another table covered with red plush and in the space between one side of the horseshoe and the windows is a similar table. In the window openings are a number of smaller square tables for secretaries.

This is a scene for the handing over of the terms of peace. The French government, however, has carefully abstained from naming the day, either to the public or to functionaries entrusted with arrangements, and it is a fair presumption that this is due not only to the problem whether the intervening time will be long enough to verify the credentials of the German plenipotentiaries, but also the uncertainty whether the draft of the treaty can be completed by Saturday. Questions relative to the adequacy of the powers of the German delegates and their qualifications to speak for Bavaria, which came to the front today, may furnish an occasion for deferring the handing over of the treaty. A preliminary meeting with the German delegates will occur tomorrow and their credentials will be submitted for examination to a commission headed by Jules Cambon of France.

All the German delegates, including Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, the foreign minister, were out for a brief

Worms Make Sick Children

Signs of worms in children are: De-ranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

The safe method for ridding the child of worms is to use Dr. Truett's Elixir. Mrs. William G. Bonin, of Cadix, Oklahoma, wrote regarding Dr. Truett's Elixir, "We have used it for our children for the last twelve years and certainly know the value of it. You can buy Dr. Truett's Elixir wherever medicine is sold. Pleasant-tasting—gentle acting. The family laxative and worm expeller for children and grown folks. Adv.

stroll today, despite the inclement weather. The afternoon was chiefly devoted to preparations for the congress.

There was a busy coming and going of subordinates among the three hotels occupied by the mission. The Germans excite little curiosity in Versailles and passersby rub elbows with them, scarcely taking notice of them.

Least the May day demonstration affect the comfort or the commissary arrangements of the German mission, gendarmes and detectives were ordered to see agitators did not gain access to the servants of the three hotels with an idea of forcing them to join the strike. Big placards, with the French equivalent of "Keep moving" were posted along the streets.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., May 1.—Marie Thiercy, French opera singer, has arrived here on the steamer Cobasset, as the wife of the vessel's captain, Lieut. Commander S.S. Beecher, U.S.N. She took an active part in patriotic demonstrations in France and won three decorations.

WOMEN DOING WAR WORK

During the war women were called into almost every vocation in life, and right well did they assume the responsibilities and fill such positions. In many instances, however, their strength has been overtaxed, and such ailments as are peculiar to their sex have fastened themselves upon them. Such women should remember there is a tried and true remedy for their troubles in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than three generations has been relieving the women of America from some of the worst form of female ills.—Adv.

CHAPLAIN O'CONNOR'S FAREWELL TO HIS BOYS

CAMP DEVENS, May 1.—Chaplain Michael J. O'Connor of the 101st Infantry bade farewell to the members of his regiment in the following letter which was given to each man:

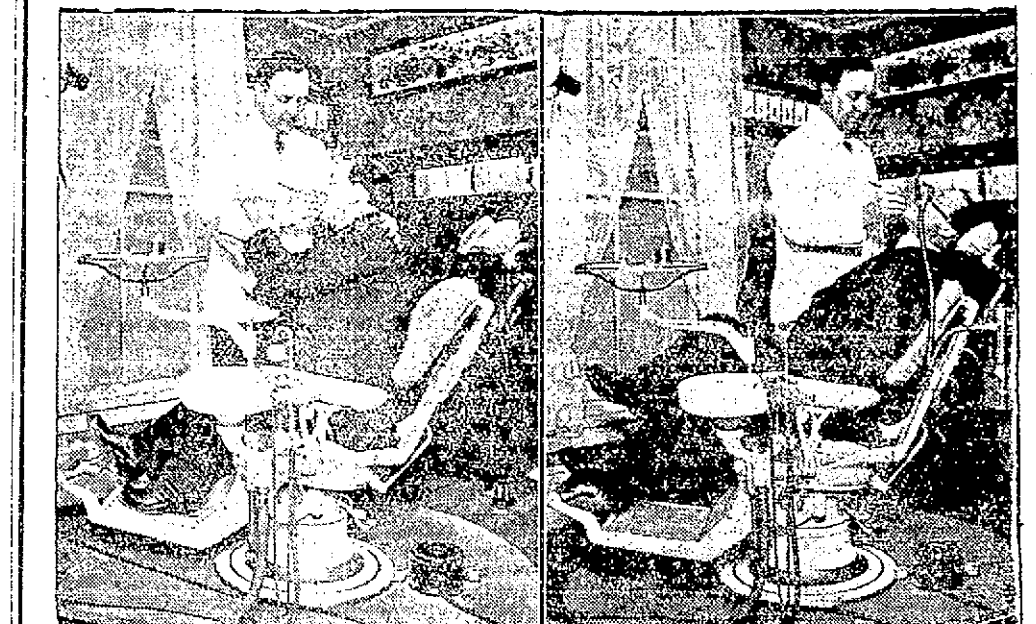

"Only one day more remains for us when the associations of the two years we lived together will be broken. You will all return to the homes of your loved ones, who sorrowed and prayed and hoped and anxiously watched for your return. The relation which grew up between us and which developed into the closest ties of affection are about to be to a certain extent, rent asunder.

"No doubt each one of you already feel the first pangs of separation for the thought of covering the intimate ties which bound you together cannot take place without a touch of regret. This is only characteristic of the soldier when he comes to shake the hand of him with whom he stood shoulder to shoulder in the days of danger and suffering.

"To many of your comrades, who either fell beside you on the battlefield or died from wounds in a hospital, you have long since bid adieu. Brave fellows they all were, and while you have been receiving the wonderful greetings at your home-coming, I know you did not forget them. Their bodies sleep in the land for which they so bravely died, but their spirits are with you. You will always remember them in your thoughts and in your prayers and be grateful for the sacrifices they made.

"God has spared you. And let this

THE PICTURES ARE BEFORE YOU, CHOOSE!

"NAP-A-MINIT"

Used by Dr. Gagnon in His Superior PORCELAIN DENTISTRY

Take a good look at these pictures—they tell the story of TWO KINDS OF DENTISTRY. The left hand picture is of a man being treated in the old harsh method employed to this day by many dentists. Note the rigid position of the patient as he sits upright, gripping the doctor's arm, his body in his work, and making his own pain necessarily greater. Every nerve in his body is on edge—every muscle tense—he is indeed the personification of fear and pain. THIS IS DENTISTRY AS I DO NOT DO IT.

Now turn to the picture on your right. Here you see restfulness and relaxation, a patient that feels no pain, yet is in control of every other sense. He can talk and hear and watch the doctor, unobstructed, do his very best work. This is an example of DENTISTRY AS I DO PRACTICE IT.

thought dominate your whole future lives. While in the service of your country you have been faithful to all your obligations to him, in the days of peace which you now appreciate more than ever before, let your aim be to serve him more fervently. Daily thoughts of him will help, while your daily prayers will bring you his grace and blessing.

"Men, you have done your full duty to your country. Don't spoil that good work by expecting more than your share. Your country needs your service still and let your training and experience stand you well in your future course. You do not need any special consideration for you are better leaders than any others to take your place in the service of your state and nation. It was a privilege and a pleasure to work with you and for you only the fondest memories go with me as now we part."

BUNGLING BROTHERS AS SCREAM PRODUCERS

Bungling Bros., up-to-date rivals of Four Paw & Sells Bros., Barre, Vt., played Lowell last night, putting the "big top" on the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium floor, and packing it with a crowd that good naturedly teased each other in an attempt to keep two eyes on three rings at the same time. Old boy Noah never flashed a better collection of inhabitants of the reckless jungles than did Mr. Bungling. Feet had been pulled the antics recorded to the credit of Bungling's clown troupe, and the imperial band of the Virgin Islands, with headquarters at St. Thomas, never played with the 1-should-worry-about-the-tune manner of Bungling's musicians.

But music did not form the major portion of the well-benzled program for breath-taking feats on the traveling bare, the high dive into six inches of water, the pursuit and capture of the bullet-riddled stage coach, wizzards wire workers, living statues and dare-devil tumbling via with cash other for the whole of the spotlight's gleam. From the opening blast of the overture until the "Good Night, Ladies" staggered from the wide-mouthed horn of the trombone, there was always something doing.

The participants in the various classes and stunts were:

THEIR ANNUAL DANCING PARTY

The fifth annual dancing party of Wood's Business college was held at Associate hall last evening and the young folks forgot that typewriters, adding machines and text-books were in existence as they tripped the light fantastic to the strains of Minor-Doyle's Novelty orchestra.

One of the largest crowds of the season turned out for the event, and all were unanimous in pronouncing it the most enjoyable party held by this popular organization during the years in which it has appeared before the public in an offering of this kind.

The officers to whose efforts the success of the event was mainly due consisted of John J. Delmore, general manager; Esther J. McDougall, assistant general manager; Frank J. Roche, floor director; Elizabeth M. Perham, chief aid; Helen N. Brennan, secretary; Alice G. Buckley, treasurer, and Catherine T. O'Connor, assistant treasurer.

EX-HUN OFFICER JAILED

Herr Milner Sentenced For

Manner Towards American

COBLENZ, Saturday, April 28. (By the Associated Press.)—Carl Milner, a lawyer and formerly an officer in the German army, who claims relationship to Viscount Milner, the British secretary for the colonies, was sentenced to prison today for acting in a discourteous manner toward an American officer. The incident occurred on a street near the American consulate, where Milner refused to share his seat.

After a lengthy argument on behalf of Milner before Lieut. Ernest Hardwick of Stanford, Tex., presiding in the inferior provost marshal court, the German lawyer said that the case was of particular importance because his client was a cousin of Viscount Milner.

"The relationship of the defendant has nothing to do with this hearing," said Lieut. Hardwick. "Testimony shows that Milner was discourteous to an American officer which is the point at issue—30 days in jail for Herr Milner."

Milner's counsel said he would appeal.

SALVATION ARMY

BOSTON, May 1.—That over half a million members of the Elks have been requested by their exalted ruler, Bruce A. Campbell, to get behind the Salvation Army Home Service fund drive for $13,000,000, the week of May 19 to 26 and put it over the top was made known in a letter sent to Brigadier General Charles H. Cole, chairman of the Boston committee, by past Grand Exalted Ruler Jas. R. Nicholson of this city.

Mr. Nicholson, in his letter, states that the exalted ruler has requested every lodge of Elks, 1300 in all, to place its members unreservedly at the service of the Salvation Army, and in such places where there is no local Salvation Army organization he requests the local lodge of Elks to assume the responsibility of raising the quota.

By this edict more than 50,000 Elks in New England will ally themselves with the Home Service fund organization. Mr. Nicholson, who is associated with General Cole on the Boston committee, has already sent out a personal appeal to every New England lodge to do its utmost. Grand Exalted Ruler Campbell in his statement says that the Elks have watched the work of the Salvation Army for a long time and know that the work they did in France was right in line with what it has done hitherto in times of peace.

"It is efficient, economical, hard-working and practical, with nothing sectarian about its work. Its ideals of service are those that the Elks can support to the limit and we are going to do it. I am writing to every lodge in the United States, 1300 of them all together, requesting that officers and members hold themselves in readiness to serve in any way asked by local committees, even to the extent of taking responsibility for putting the local drives through and over the top. It is a sensible and intelligent thing to do to finance the Salvation Army by a national campaign to support their work on a budgeted plan, and we want to help do it."

Mr. Nicholson confirmed the attitude of the Elks toward the Salvation Army. "The Elks had 50,000 men in the war," he explained, "and 7000 officers. We know from them that the Salvation Army came nearest to a perfect score of all the civilian agencies undertaking war relief work of any

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

kind. Our men are earnest in commendation of the Salvation Army and we are all lined up to fortify them for their financial needs. In last year's campaign for funds to support Salvation Army war activities the Elks carried on the drive in nearly 500 communities. We are ready to contribute, to help, and to co-operate now to the limit of our powers. There are no negative votes as to the worthiness of the Salvation Army call."

"The generosity of the proffer, so characteristic of the Elks, was enthusiastically acknowledged by Brigadier General Cole as another indication of the position of the Salvation Army in public esteem, and the prospective response to the coming appeal for funds in the week of May 19 to 26.

ARE YOU WEARING THE BLUE BUTTON?

Gowan, instructor in household arts: Spring weather rouses the insect pests.

It is time for the war of extermination.

Country housewives must contend with flies and moths. The city dweller must look out for bed bugs and cockroaches.

The weapons against them all are sun, air and boiling water, with insecticides and fumigators as first aids.

For Moths—Clean clothes closets and attics early. Air and brush white clothing, clean off spots, and pack it away as early as possible. Use cardboard boxes with edges sealed with paper, or large, sealed envelopes of paper. Tar paper, moth balls, or naphthalene scattered in the folds keep moths away. Clean closet walls, floors and shelves with gasoline. Use gas-line along the edges and under surfaces of carpets.

Bedbugs—When these pests are discovered squirt gasoline into all crevices when they hide, repeating every day or two. Two ounces of corrosive sublimate dissolved in a pint of water and a pint of alcohol is a cure, but is poisonous and must be used carefully. It is liable to stain fabrics.

Cockroaches—Cockroaches lay their eggs in dark corners and like warmth and moisture. To combat close cracks in woodwork and around plumbing with putty and paint. Kill every roach seen. Keep sink surroundings dry and clean. Leave no food about. Mix borax with sugar and scatter about to kill roaches. Keep a squirt gun filled with gasoline handy to use on cracks where roaches are seen.

Fumigators—Sometimes conditions are so bad it pays to fumigate. Fumigation kills all insects but not their eggs.

MEET HERE TONIGHT

Phinney Boyle of Lowell and Louisiana, the southern sensation, will meet in the main bout of 12 rounds at the Crescent Club tonight, and both men announce that they are in perfect condition for the mill. This match is one of the most important in the local boxing career for a setback tonight after his defeat by Valger would prove a severe setback. A victory tonight over such a formidable opponent, however, will rehabilitate him and put him in line for several good matches. It is determined to wipe out the reverse at the hands of the French "Flash" and has trained diligently for the contest in view. He is in the pink of condition and will have no ability to offer if defeated. Louisiana, too, is in splendid condition and he points to his victory over the same Valger as a reason for his confidence in coming out on top tonight.

HAVERHILL WINS

Sets Back Lowell High, 4 to 2, at Spalding Park

Haverhill high school defeated Lowell high at Spalding park yesterday afternoon before a number of spectators, 4 to 2. Fred Orday pitched nine innings and allowed only 11 strikeouts, but saved the game for Haverhill by hitting Lowell in the eighth inning when two Haverhill hits and two errors on overthrown balls set in two runs and put the victory ahead.

Lowell got one of these runs back in its half, but was very passive in the ninth. Haverhill shortstop, was the sensation of the game, and in fact, showed as much stuff as any high school player who has visited Lowell in some years. He covered all kinds of ground and made a record of five out, five assists and no errors. His best play came in the eighth inning, when he saved over in front of second base and took Mansur's hard smash with his bare hand, and although he printed his thumb and is credited with a hit that does not detract from Marcotte's wonderful stab.

Lowell was first to score, in the fourth inning. Brosnan opened with a single to left, his second hit, but was forced at second a minute later when Mansur hit. Mansur hit, and second and O'Heir worked Kimball, the Haverhill pitcher for a base on balls. Lawler drove Mansur home with a hit to left, and O'Heir went around to third and Lawler to second when the throw in to third base broke from Schifman, Birkenhead and Mahoney could not bring the other two runs in.

Haverhill went into the lead in the sixth, mainly through a smashing center field single by Kimball. After rising to a life on O'Heir's error and LeGacy had singled over second base. The visitors put the game in the closest in their half of the eighth. Blake singled and Johnson fanned. Kimball singled from first and scored as O'Heir moved over to second. The last out of the game was a second. Kimball's double, which threw the ball over O'Heir's head, at second in an error. Kimball's double hit Blake came all the way home and when Birkenhead threw wide to second in an attempt to get Coronus, for a second time, after the throw after his drive had been caught by Reynolds. Kimball came in with the fourth run.

The Haverhill team last run came in the last half of the inning. Mansur singled and stole. O'Heir fled out to the pitcher and Lawler hit. Mansur then scored by fast running when Birkenhead singled into left field. The thrower home and over the Haverhill catcher's shoulder, which made it easier for Mansur. Mahoney was hit by a pitched ball, but Ordway's easy roller to the second base, left two men on the sacks.

DEADLOCKED FOR
20 INNINGS

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—Philadelphia and Brooklyn battled 20 innings to a deadlock in the final game of their present series here yesterday. The game was called because of darkness.

It was one of the most sensational baseball contests ever played on the local National League field. Both Joe Oeschger and Rubeless Grimes performed in the box throughout the four hours required to play the game. Brooklyn led 5 to 4 until the 8th, when the Phillies scored two runs. An error by Pearce enabled Hickman, who ran for Krueger to score the tying run in the 8th. In the 14th inning each team filled the bases with two out, by Myers for Brooklyn grounded to Pearce and Baird was a strikeout victim.

It was a sensational home run by Myers in the 15th with Olson and Griffith, who had singled on the bases that gave Brooklyn three runs and what appeared to be a victory. Myers hit was over White's head. White was playing in midfield at the time and was unable to overtake the ball which bounded into the bleachers in left center. THREE OUT OF FOUR

to 6 to 1 Victory

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Boston made it three out of four in the series with Washington by winning yesterday, 6 to 1. Ray Caldwell pitched his first 1919 game and was victorious at all stages. Thompson and Shaw both were hit hard by the Red Sox. Hooper leading the fusillade with a double and three singles in four trips to the plate. Boston turned in another errorless game. The score:

Boston 1 2 0 2 0 0 0 6—15
Batteries: Caldwell and Schang; Shaw, Thompson, Craft and Pincich.

CHICAGO 3, DETROIT 7
DETROIT, May 1.—Combining time-hitting with Detroit's misplays, Chicago won the third straight game yesterday, 7 to 3. The score:

Chicago 1 0 2 0 1 0 0 3—7
Detroit 2 0 0 0 0 1 0 1—7

NEW YORK 5, PHILADELPHIA 3
NEW YORK, May 1.—The New York Americans made two out of three from Philadelphia here yesterday, winning the last game of the series by a score of 5 to 3. The locals drove both Watson and Anderson out of the box by hard hitting. The score:

New York 2 1 0 2 0 0 0 5—10
Philadelphia 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 3—6
Batteries: Thormahlen, Shawkey and Ruel; Watson, Anderson, Geary and Perkins.

CLEVELAND 4, ST. LOUIS 2
ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 1.—Bunched hits in the first and second inning, off Wellman gave Cleveland a lead which St. Louis could not overcome and Cleveland won yesterday's game, 4 to 2. Opposing Wellman was George Uhle, who made his big league debut. Score: Cleveland 1 3 0 0 0 0 0 4—11

St. Louis 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 2—2

DIAMOND NOTES

Hall, hall! the gang's all here in the little old New England league. And they're all rearin' to go!

With Fred Parent and Heinie Wagner occasionally dominating the spectacles this season, and Burckett pinch-hitting for his pitcher, now and again, the league will get a rare sample of what some of the old boys used to do. Guess we can't quite put Wagner in Jesse's class yet, though, as an old timer.

Harper did just what many people thought he would do to the Red Sox on Tuesday when he stopped their win-alongs—left-handed them into submission. One thing is sure, the Sox will beat south-paws occasionally, but they are just as weak against them this year as they ever were. Harper was a tough egg with them last season too.

Outfielder Davy Robertson is due to rejoin the Giants tomorrow, and if he does it would not be surprising to see some kind of a trade put through for McGraw is strong in outfield strategy, but decidedly weak in pitching. All through the winter months the stove-pipe birds had Davy slated for Washington.

Rawlings of the Braves, who can handle both the shortstop and second base positions with a great deal of ease, has picked up remarkably on his feeling of late, and also has given evidence of an ability to "ride the old apple," something which has been somewhat lacking in his repertoire heretofore.

Some leagues in the country might well pattern their activities and mode of operating on the well-conducted Lowell grammar school league, faithful as they are. The boys too the mark all the time and play ball every minute, thanks to a competent umpiring staff.

A beautiful day like yesterday and school vacation time to boot, should have attracted a larger crowd to Lowell grammar park to see the Lowell-Haverhill game. The boys put on a good brand of ball.

LOWELL GIRL GETS
B. U. INSIGNIA

Miss Ola L. Nichols, 538 Varnum ave., Lowell, a senior in the College of Liberal Arts of Boston university, is one of the girls to receive the college letters on her class team for three years. The letters will be awarded at the first demonstration of gymnastics, Friday evening, May 2, in the Rhodean gymnasium, by Miss Miriam L. Spaulding, '19, president of the Girls' Athletic association, under whose auspices the demonstration will take place. Miss Nichols plays guard on the 1919 girls' basketball team.

MITCHELL BOYS WIN
The Mitchell Boys' school team outplayed Chelmsford high yesterday on the former's grounds and won by a score of 6 to 2. Craig pitched masterly ball, allowing only three hits and striking out 17 of his opponents. The Mitchell boys' work was superior throughout. The score:
Mitchell 1 2 0 0 0 1 1 6—11
Chelmsford 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 2—3

TRIANGLE A.C. CARD

Matchmaker Jimmy Mahan of the Triangle A.C. is negotiating with Jack Brazzo of Hazelton, Penn., and Andy Cortez of New York for a 2-round bout at the Playhouse next Tuesday night. Brazzo has agreed to terms and has started training, but Cortez has not yet sent his O.K. Plans are also under way to stage a double semi-final, Frankie Walsh of Lowell and Frankie Brogan of Lawrence in one for the N.Y. featherweight title. If Brogan cannot be secured Freddie Madden or Tommy Marks will draw the assignment. In the other 8-round bout Young Archie Young, Newark, both of Lowell, will meet Lanky Voles and Dave Martin, who appeared at the club last Tuesday night, will again show in a preliminary.

LITHUANIA SPRINGS

Lithuania, given proper exploitation, could become famous as a health resort, for the little country boasts several health resorts with mineral springs situated in very healthful locations on the banks of the River Nieman. Birtonas and Druskininkai are the best known.

These springs are famous because they are said to contain more radium than any other springs in the world. In ancient times salt was obtained from the springs at Druskininkai, whence the name Druska is the Lithuanian for salt.

PATHFINDER GIRLS
DEPICT FASHIONS

The Pathfinder Girls of the First Baptist church gave an enjoyable entertainment in the church vestry last night, including music by violin, mandolin and piano and a pleasing series of tableaux. The instrumental trio, included Gladys Cottrill, Clarice Kittredge and Ethel Brown. The tableaux depicted the follies and variety of fashion from 1615 to the present day. Those taking part were: Doris Sanborn, Maybelle Heardon, Lillian Wyman, Dorothy Adams, Emma Fulton, Rose Paige, Jennie Knight, Effie Sears, Ethel Brown, Gladys Cottrill, Anna Wyman, Marion Aker, Nancy Turnbull and Mildred Brodie. Following the entertainment the girls presented flowers to Miss Mabel Brown in appreciation of her work done with them.

more-enthusiastic over a new country for them to visit, than are these boys. One of the traits that is conspicuous about them is that they all show good breeding and the unmistakable indications of all being gentlemen. They received their preparation for Lowell Textile at the noted Tsing Hwa college at Peking, whose faculty are all English speaking men and women. Some of these boys studied at Nantong Textile school before coming to the States.

They, as part of a unit of 400 Chinese students, left Shanghai last August to come to this country. They say that at the present time, the total number of Boxer fund and privately paid for students in the United States is 1500. The Boxer fund provides for 100 students.

When they were asked what pleased them the most about the United States they replied that it was the signs of democracy to be seen on every hand. "Why," said one of the boys to The Sun man, "evidently every man we see here in this city can read the newspaper and makes it his business to get a paper every day and read it. We were here while the war was on and of course we went to the motion picture theatres and we saw what great enthusiasm your people had. We noticed how they stood up when the national anthem was played. We have been told that Lowell was not strictly speaking, entirely an American city, that Boston, for instance, was to be regarded as more typical of the real American city. But we have been very much pleased with Lowell for many people have been kind to us and we have met courtesy on all sides."

The provisions of the procedure under which these boys are here provide that in summer they may spend a portion of their time in travel if they wish and can take summer courses at colleges. The government of China is extremely liberal with them and only asks that each boy will make the most of the fine opportunities offered him and be able to return to his country and help it.

There is another Chinese student at Textile named W. C. Chang whose expenses are not paid for out of the Boxer indemnity fund, but who is privately maintained. This makes six boys in all at Textile. The group are all close friends and speak excellent English. The extent of their vocabulary is absolutely wonderful. They were of course taught English at Tsing Hwa college. Three of the boys live at the Y.M.C.A. dormitory and the others live over nearer the school.

One of the boys is a student of textile chemistry and already an enthusiast on the subject. He cited the fact to the reporter that the greatest source of indigo in the world is in a part of China and in Manchuria. He is especially interested in the dye stuffs part of the textile industry and it will do all patriots good to know that so far as he personally can, he intends to boost American made dyes in China and help to crowd out the German made dyes which for a long time monopolized the market in China, as in all other parts of the world.

Chinamen in Lowell
There are, roughly estimated, about 200 Chinamen in Lowell. About 15 are engaged in restaurant work and the rest in laundries. And what about the meek, polite, almond-eyed chap who receives your bundle of laundry in any one of the 30 different Chinese laundries which dot Lowell, and in exchange gives you a neat slip upon presentation of which some days later you almost invariably get back your own particular garments immaculately laundered?

What about him, we say? There is no other place of business exactly like his in this city of ours. Tradition hath it—tradition going back to the time when as a kid-boy you made life miserable for the Chinaman by staining his windows and making some kind of a mystic sign well understood in Boytown to mean "Chinamen eat rats"—that the laundryman always sleeps in his place of business in none too clean quarters, that he boards himself in a mysterious back room, that he sends back fabulous sums of money to China—what is left from his adventures in the Chinese game of fan-tan—and that, withal, whatever of spare time he has, is spent indulging himself in the vice of smoking opium.

So much for tradition. So much for the preponderating idea that obtains in regard to the Chinese laundrymen of Lowell. Like all subjects influenced by the touch of careless and vicious gossip, it is an incorrect idea and most of its theorems have absolutely no foundation of truth.

The Sun man who was sent to probe into this rather difficult subject—difficult you will admit as you recall the reticence with which your laundryman meets your attempts to carry on even a scanty conversation of sociability—was supposed to sift the chaff, represented by the mere gossip part of the proposition, from the wheat, represented by the real truth of the proposition, if possible, and base his story on the result obtained.

He could hardly have obtained a better or more reliable source of information on this subject than Mr. J. S. Beck of Dorchester, salesman for a Boston concern selling all kinds of laundry supplies, and who has for 20 years or more had business dealings with thousands of Chinese laundrymen in all parts of New England. Mr. Beck was in Lowell recently and the reporter was lucky enough to encounter him as he called on one of his customers in Merrimack street.

up any Chinese who would scorn to use it.

"I think there is one very interesting thing about the way the ownership of a Chinese laundry changes hands. We will assume that negotiations have started and the price is agreed upon. The seller will perhaps have said, 'I make $30 a week in this laundry. All right,' says the buyer, 'I will come and carry on your laundry for three weeks and see if its income will result in a profit of $30 a week. You come back at the end of three weeks and if I find your place is good for $30 a week, I will pay you the sum we agreed upon.'"

"This is invariably the procedure and it invariably works out to the satisfaction of all concerned. The Chinese have improved one hundred per cent in the past 12 or 15 years I believe and one of the things that shows they have improved is this. You might not believe it, but it is an actual fact that a skilled Chinese laundryman can do all kinds of work necessary to be done in a laundry, commands, and will receive a salary of $25 a week, all his food and all his tobacco. That is his agreement to go to work, that much in money, his food—and it must be good food—and his tobacco.

"So far as the laundryman living in his laundry is concerned, while there is of course considerable prejudice against this custom in the community, I suppose it is something that is really the business of the laundryman, and the rest of the community ought not to worry about it. It ought to be granted that the reason the laundryman puts up with the discomfort of sleeping and eating in his sometimes ill-smelling laundry, is because he has to live where he can quickly get an early start on his work and when working late at night, it is of course harder to tumble into his bed when exhausted by his long and hard day of work, than it would be to go to a room outside his laundry.

Chinamen Are Honest

"Salesmen who sell to laundrymen find 90 per cent of them are honest. Their honesty in fact and being on the level will average to weigh up better than among the same number of white men. I know a concern that at the present time has $5000 in outstanding credits among Chinese in New England and the company regards this as money actually in sight. When the Chinese is convinced that you yourself are honest and you mean to deal fairly and squarely with him and not take advantage in any way of his being a yellow man instead of a white man, he is your friend and his dealings with you will be adorned with the same amount of honor you extend him.

"Much has been said about the food and drink of the Chinese. It is a mistake to believe he is penurious about his food and will put up with food of poor quality. This is not so. The hard working laundryman wants good food and will buy it. The Chinese markets and stores in Boston have teams and trucks with salesmen employed, who take in places where there are large Chinese colonies such as Lynn, Cambridge, Worcester, Lowell and other places, and take orders for Chinese food. Thus, having the necessary Chinese ingredients brought to his door, your Chinese laundryman buys some American food and gets along splendidly cooking it in his capable Chinese way."

Japanese Colony
Lowell has a small Japanese colony. The head of it may be said to be Mr. M. Kakihara, who has lived in Lowell nearly 10 years and who, besides being well educated in Japanese schools and universities, has attended the college at Greenfield, Ill. He is a protégé of Mr. Butler Ames. He owns an apple farm at Harvard, Mass. He was asked to take charge of the restaurant at the South Lowell plant of the United States Cartridge company last summer and is credited with having done a good job.

Mr. Kakihara lives near the South Lowell plant and at his home live also Mr. and Mrs. Igi Tashiro, who have four fine children. The children attend the public school. There is also a young man living with Mr. and Mrs. Tashiro named Nagazawa, who has come to this country to learn the business of making boxes.

Mr. Kakihara's wife and daughter are in Japan at the present time but are expected to soon return and again make their home in Lowell or Harvard.

government to reach some sort of understanding as to the Fiume question that will permit the Italian delegates to return to the conference without loss of dignity. Conversations between Premier Orlando and Thomas Nelson Page, American ambassador, took place yesterday at Rome. Mr. Page later reported to President Wilson.

JAPAN GETS KIAO-CHAU AND SHANTUNG

PARIS, Wednesday, April 30.—(By the Associated Press).—All German rights at Kiao-Chau and in Shantung province are to be transferred without reserve to Japan, according to an agreement reached today by the Council of Three. Japan voluntarily engages to hand back Shantung province in full sovereignty to China. The American delegation to the peace conference regards this agreement as the best possible solution of the eastern problem. Confidence in felt that the League of Nations will guarantee the future territorial integrity and independence of China. President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George and Clemenceau are all especially eager for the withdrawal of allied troops from all enemy colonies, and are confident that the League of Nations can speedily solve pending disputes when military pressure is eliminated. Nevertheless, a great difference of opinion prevails in conference circles as to the effect of the compromise. "The Japanese delegates are pleased. The Chinese will hold comment.

CHINESE PROTEST LOSS OF KIAO-CHAU

PEKING, Wednesday, April 30.—(By the Associated Press).—Both houses of the Chinese parliament passed a resolution today, protesting through the foreign office to the delegates of the five great powers at Paris against the transfer of the control of Kiao-Chau to Japan. Both houses request that Kiao-Chau be restored direct to China without condition. They also ask that concessions in connection with the Kiao-Chau-Tsian railway which were exacted from the Chinese government by Germany and protocols of agreement relative to the Kiam and Tsing-Chow and other extensions of the Kiao-Chau railway be cancelled.

ALBANIANS AGAINST GIVING UP VOLPNA

PARIS, Wednesday, April 30.—(By the Associated Press).—The town of Volpna, which President Wilson said should belong to Italy in his memorandum to Premier Orlando, is not on the Dalmatian coast, but is an Albanian port now occupied by Italians. The Albanian delegation here is much exercised over this recommendation and say that a seizure of Volpna by Italy would start a movement which would threaten the dismemberment of Albania.

BELGIUM PROTEST ON INDEMNITY

LONDON, May 1.—A feature of the arrangement for indemnity to Belgium against which Belgium is protesting, is that the country will receive only $100,000,000 as a part of the $1,000,000,000 which Germany will be asked to pay by the end of next year as part of a total reparation to be exacted later, according to the Paris correspondent of the Mail.

The Belgian delegates, it is added, decline to accept the arrangement without consulting their government because it leaves undecided the proportion of the ultimate reparation money to be allotted to Belgium. A Reuter despatch from Paris states that a meeting of the Belgian cabinet under the presidency of King Albert, has decided that three members of the cabinet shall be sent to Paris to instruct the Belgian delegates.

KING AND ORLANDO IN CONFERENCE

ROME, Wednesday, April 30.—(By the Associated Press).—King Victor Emmanuel received Premier Orlando today and discussed the situation with him. The king expressed his satisfaction at the display of unity and loyalty given by the Italian country and parliament.

ELECTRIC SHOCK WAS CAUSE OF DEATH

Death in the case of Ali Hassan Noser, who died suddenly while at his work at the plant of the Brookfield Woolen Co. in Warren street last Monday, came as the result of an accidental electric shock, according to Medical Examiner T. B. Smith, who performed the autopsy yesterday. It was believed at first that death was due to heart disease, but an examination revealed burns, which led to the discovery that the man died from an electric shock.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon with a special Mohammedan service at the funeral parlors of Under taker Joseph Albert in Aiken street. Burial was in the Edison cemetery.

Walsh and two corporation employees, made his way to Wong's address. One of the corporation men brought in a bundle of linen to distract the attention of the proprietor, and the officers jumped the counter and made their way into the back room, where they found a "double-wire" plug, a device by which the current coming in from the street is not registered on the meter.

Investigation of the premises showed that Wong believed in "letting his light shine before men," for 15 lights were found, with a total capacity of 755 watts, which led the corporation men to believe that several hundred dollars worth of current had been stolen.

As a result of Wong's arrest the Electric Light Corp., with the co-operation of the police, will make an investigation of the entire city, as the company believes that there is considerable stealing of current prevalent here.

Jesse Was Hungry

"I was hungry," was the only defense offered by 17-year-old Jesse Allen when he was called to answer to a complaint charging him with stealing three pies, two pounds of raisins and a cake of soap from the Waldorf restaurant at Merrimack square last night.

The arresting officer testified that the boy had broken into the rear of the restaurant through a small window on the ground floor, and the proprietor of the place corroborated his story. The case was continued until Tuesday for sentence.

against Alfred Smith, who was charged with a violation of the motor bus law. Officers testified that Smith had been bringing passengers from Ayer to Lowell without having procured a license here to comply with the city jitney ordinance. A fine of $5 was imposed. "When they want to come from North Chelmsford to Lowell I bring them in for nothing," was the defense offered by Annie Caron, who was also charged with a violation of the motor bus law. Caron explained that he brought passengers from Ayer to North Chelmsford and collected the fares at that point. If, as occasionally happened, the men wanted to come through to the Spindle City in his car he brought them in gratis. Judge Pickman stated that the law compels all persons carrying passengers through a town having an ordinance of the kind in force in Lowell to take out a license in that town in order to comply with the statute, and a fine of $7 was levied. Several other minor automobile cases were called, and small fines imposed or the lases continued for one week.

Other Offenders

Edward W. Capalla was called on continuance on a complaint charging him with breaking, entering and larceny of several packages of cigars and cigarets from the pool room of Alfred Gregoire on Bridge street. Probable cause to believe him guilty was found by the court and he was held in the sum of $100 for the grand jury. Edwin O. Drake and Agnes Cole were called on continuance on a statutory complaint. The man was fined $50 and the woman placed on probation.

The usual delegation of offenders charged with drunkenness were on hand, and drew down small fines or suspended jail sentences. Six releases were issued by the probation officer.

CONCERT BY THE SACRED HEART CHURCH CHOIR

One of the biggest and most artistic concerts that the music-loving public of Lowell has ever had an opportunity to witness will be that to be given by the Sacred Heart church choir, assisted by talented soloists from all over the city, next Sunday evening at the church in Moore street, beginning at 8 o'clock. The affair will be under the capable and efficient direction of John J. Kelly, organist of the Sacred Heart, and the soloists will include Miss Frances Tighe, George Kirwin, Miss May B. Burke, Timothy Fineman, Miss Francis Walsh, James King, Miss Harriet Moran, William F. Cookin, Andrew McCarthy, Miss Katherine Sharkey and John McMahon.

LOWELL TAILOR DIES SUDDENLY

Anthony Karydakakis, a tailor with an establishment at 115 Market street, and whose home is at 183 Adams street, died suddenly while in his shop late yesterday afternoon. The remains were later viewed by Medical Examiner T. B. Smith, who stated this morning that death was probably due to heart disease.

Shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Karydakakis fell from his chair to the floor. His two employees rushed to him and believing he was in an unconscious condition, they sent in a call for the ambulance, but the ambulance doctor upon his arrival found that life was extinct. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker P. H. Savage.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Harry Firth and Miss Gertrude Sanders were married yesterday at St. Anne's church by the pastor, Rev. Appleton Grammes. The best man was Mr. Peter Gill, while the bridesmaid was Miss Beatrice Sanders. The couple will make their home at 175 West Sixth street.

Grover-Straut
Mr. L. Prescott Grover, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Grover of this city, and Miss Philipine Stuart of Charlottesville, Va., were married April 26, the ceremony being performed at St. Paul's church, Charlottesville. After an extended wedding trip through the south the couple will make their home in New York.

Kelly-Cassidy
John J. Kelly, the well known claim agent of the Bay State Street railway and Miss Jane L. Cassidy, a popular young lady of East Chelmsford were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at the Sacred Heart rectory, by Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., pastor. Matthew J. Gill, a close friend of the groom acted as best man and Mrs. M. B. Cass, a cousin of the bride was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly left last evening on an extended wedding trip to New York and Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will make their home in East Chelmsford.

Postmasters on Look Out is indicated by the fact that parcels reaching the Pacific coast bear the postmark of April 25.—Those detained here were "put in the mails April 25."

When All Postmasters
Though all the packages identified were sent from New York, the postal authorities believe that others may have been sent from other cities and postmasters throughout the country have been warned to watch for suspicious looking parcels.

The police today made further examinations of the 16 packages found in the general postoffice yesterday where they had been held for three days because of insufficient postage. The bomb experts worked six and one-half hours in opening one of the packages. Owen Egan, an authority on infernal machines, expressed astonishment at the ingenuity of the contrivance.

Dombs Made By Experts

"It doesn't resemble any machine I have ever come across," he said. "It is nearest, and from the standpoint of mechanical arrangement, the closest I have ever seen. Whoever perfected this thing must have been an expert mechanic and chemist."

The packages in size and shape are suggestive of a biscuit package. Members of the firm of Glibel Brothers reiterated today that the printed wrappers on the packages purporting to come from this store were faked.

Examination of the typewritten address on the packages indicated that they were made on the same typewriter. There were a number of misspellings.

To Deport Radicals

Persons in touch with the federal and municipal authorities predicted today that the haunts of the reds here would be invaded and many radicals deported. This opinion was expressed after a conference which ended after midnight, attended by Police Commissioner Wright, to whom one of the bombs was addressed, and County District Attorney Swann, United States Marshal Thomas McCarthy and department of justice investigators. It is understood these officials decided to put an end to leniency toward anarchists and others of their type in New York. Commissioner Enright ordered police reserves held in readiness in every district where it was thought any day demonstrations might take place.

The Intended Victims

The bombs discovered yesterday were addressed to the following:
William M. Wood, 21 Fairfield st., Boston.
Frederick C. Howe, Commissioner of Immigration, New York City.
Atty. Gen. A. Mitchell Palmer.
Immigration Commissioner A. Caminetti.
Sec. of Labor William B. Wilson.
Senator T. Larry Dyer, Chester, Penn.

IRISH WORKERS CEASE WORK

LONDON, May 1.—All Irish workers except those in the northern parts of the island entirely ceased work today. The railroads, newspaper factories, shops and other industries were closed in compliance with the order from the powerful Transport Workers' union.

Although the one-day strike was not observed in the north, labor demonstrations and processions were planned there. Civil servants in Dublin were officially notified that any assenting themselves from work today would be liable to instant dismissal.

CELEBRATE MAY DAY IN PARIS

PARIS, May 1.—(Havas).—The weather for this morning was unfavorable for the celebration of May day. Rain and cold weather of the past few days continued and the cold was rather uncomfortable. Paris presented a mournful and gloomy aspect this morning, there being no carriages, auto buses or taxicabs on the streets. No newspapers appeared.

The Metropolitan Railway was shut down this morning in conformity with the decision to cut off electricity for two hours beginning at 7 o'clock.

GENERAL 24-HOUR STRIKE DECLARED

BUENOS AIRES, May 1.—May day was celebrated by a general 24-hour strike throughout the republic, work being stopped just after midnight. In this city the paralysis of business was absolute and included tram-cars, taxicabs, coaches, hotels, restaurants and all food purveyors. Many theatres were closed and no newspapers were published.

structed all supervisory officers and all employees who handle parcel post matter to use the utmost caution. As a matter of fact we have always been very circumspect along this line, and in view of present developments we will use even greater caution."

My instructions are that all suspicious bundles are to be handled with care and that ordinary bundles must also be subjected to closer scrutiny than usual. If any bundle is of such a nature as to arouse the suspicion of the man who handles it, he will use the utmost care and report his suspicions immediately to the supervisor in charge.

"We have one auto and four parcel post wagons and I presume we handle daily somewhere in the vicinity of 2000 bundles. If there is anything unusual about a bundle, the men in the habit of handling post packages would be the first to discover it. Of course we handle almost everything from live stock to the smallest articles and as I understand it, one of those infernal machines can readily be secreted in a comparatively small package. In view of this fact it will be necessary to examine all packages, big and little. About 20 men are engaged here in the handling of parcel post packages and I know them well enough to know that no very suspicious bundle will get through their hands."

As a matter of fact, I think there is very little cause for alarm here for Lowell has never been a very fertile field for the terrorists said to be employed in this job. We have not been bothered much with the so-called "Red" here. The extremists have never picked Lowell as a tryout field, because, I presume, we very rarely have any labor trouble here. It becomes us all, however, to look out for suspicious parcels and bundles and that's what we propose to do."

PLENTY OF WORK OUT-OF-TOWN

Jobs for soldiers and sailors out-of-town are plentiful at the U. S. Employment office on Merrimack street. Examiner Cronin stated today. At present he has a requisition for men, both skilled and unskilled, at the ship yards, with good wages and a permanent position assured.

WILL OPEN NEW STORE

Joseph A. Gagnon Soon To Open New Store Here Bearing His Name

Joseph A. Gagnon, up until this week and for a number of years past, general manager of the Chalfoux store, announced today that an operating company of which he is to be the administrative head, had leased the entire building at the corner of Merrimack and Palmer streets, owned by O'Donnell & Gilbride for a long term of years, formerly occupied by the James company. This he said, was preliminary to the establishment at this location in a short time of a high class mercantile concern.

Mr. Gagnon at this time announces neither the future policy of his new store, what departments it will have nor the approximate date of its opening. He felt, he says, that Lowell would support another high class establishment and his present announcement and plans are the result of his having reached that conclusion.

Mr. Gagnon is well and favorably known here. Lowell is his home. He was educated here and began his work as a cash boy at the Chalfoux store 25 years ago. During that time he has not only been an employee of the Polard store, becoming head of one of its departments, but he worked for a long time as a buyer for Boston department stores.

Particularly in the line of merchandising shoes, Mr. Gagnon is recognized by leading manufacturers of New England as one of the most progressive shoemen in Lowell. He is already up to his shoulders in the great mass of detail necessary to be studied and passed upon in connection with the establishing of the new emporium he has planned.

$1,000,000 LOSS BY FIRE

Famous "Bowery" at Brighton Beach, Coney Island, Wiped Out

NEW YORK, May 1.—With a loss estimated at $1,000,000, the famous "Bowery" at Brighton beach was wiped out last night in a five-alarm fire which developed into the most spectacular blaze Coney Island has known in 10 years. The burned area covered between 10 and 15 acres.

WARNING AGAINST DEMONSTRATIONS

BUENOS AIRES, May 1.—In view of alarming rumors, warnings were posted in the city today against any demonstration in connection with May day. A committee of representative Jews visited President Irigoyen today and stated that the Jews in Argentina were not connected with any agitators, and asked to be protected.

A passenger car equipped with a regular automobile steam engine for motive power is used on a short railroad from Bethel to Ryegate, Vt.

Chinese Ask Statement of Agreement

PARIS, May 1.—The Chinese delegates to the peace conference have requested the council of three to give it an official statement on the Kiao-Chan agreement.

Arrest 60 Spartacans at Hamburg

BERLIN, Tuesday, April 30. (By the Associated Press.)—Government troops stormed Spartacan headquarters in Hamburg, and arrested 60 of the leaders. They captured many bundles and boxes of plunder, including jewelry, shoes and military stores.

Worcester Welcomes Her War Heroes

WORCESTER, May 1.—Worcester suspended all business today to welcome home officially 5000 of its soldiers, sailors and marines who have been discharged from service. A parade of 5000 men, in command of Col. John F. Herbert, former commander of the 102nd Field Artillery, was witnessed by a great throng.

Discuss Captured German Cables

PARIS, May 1.—The question of the captured German cables and other lesser details of the peace treaty, were considered today by the Council of Three.

With the Kiao-Chan problem disposed of, the Adriatic question is the only highly important matter remaining unsettled.

TAKE $1,000,000 CARGO FROM STRANDED BARK

SCITUATE, May 1.—The work of lightering the cargo of Australian wool and hides from the Russian bark, Professor Koch, ashore in the harbor here, was started today. The cargo which is valued at about $1,000,000, is thought to have been considerably damaged by the eight feet of water in the holds of the ship.

The Koch struck on ledges off here late Tuesday night while on her way to Boston from East London, South Africa. Tugs pulled her off yesterday and attempted to get her into the harbor, but she struck on the bottom. At high tide last night the tugs worked her closer inshore.

Alleged Bogus Collector

jurisdiction in the matter. Constable Wright of Chelmsford was notified and 20 minutes later brought Kary to Lowell.

At 119 Merrimack street he was questioned by the local near east officials. On his coat was a badge bearing the inscription—"Maronite Burial Society." This was supposed to have its headquarters in Chelsea. It also carried a black blank book, on its cover were the words: "Lebanon League of Progress, New York."

Kary appeared to be 40 years old and spoke with a foreign accent. He appeared somewhat puzzled when questioned and did not have clearly in mind who had authorized him to do the collecting. He said that he was eager to collect for his own people and that he supposed the Maronite society had given him sufficient authority.

An investigation was started. Chelsea was called up to ascertain if there was such a society as the one mentioned there, but nobody in that city knew of such a society or of such a man as Kary. Later it was found that there was a society by that name in Lawrence. The Boston office of the near east relief committee did not know of any man on its staff by that name and when told of the Lebanon League of Progress of New York, it started an investigation in that city. Inquiry there showed that no Kary had ever registered for work there.

Succeeding developments seem to convince local near east officials that Kary had been used as a foil by some organization which had no authority to employ him for the purpose of soliciting and they told him that they would continue the investigation, but in the meantime he should cease soliciting. He agreed and said he would stay at a local hotel Tuesday evening and return to 119 Merrimack street yesterday morning. He did not return yesterday and investigation at the hotel he mentioned showed that he did not register there. The Boston officials are quite disturbed over the matter and are to probe it to the bottom.

Abraham Goldstone's 4-year-old son Jackie of Presque Isle, Mr. became mysteriously missing and the police and anxious parents and friends scoured the town. He finally came walking home with a railroad tag marked "Stray freight." The child had been playing in a box car near his home and the car had been picked up by a south-bound freight. Jackie was discovered at Mapleton, eight miles down the line, and sent back by next train.

FRANCE TIED UP ON MAY DAY

24 Hour General Strike as Demonstration For Better Working Conditions

No Disorders Reported, Though Strikes Are On in All Parts of World

PARIS, May 1.—May day crowds today broke through the infantry cordons stretched between the Place Madeleine and the Place de la Concorde and swept down the Rue Royale. Cavalry hurried the backwards into the side streets, but several thousand reached the Place de la Concorde. This crowd was augmented by lesser groups that had formed a mass in the Place de la Concorde, through which the cavalry made one ineffective charge and then withdrew. The efforts of the police were equally fruitless, and the cheering and singing crowds swept past the Hotel de Crillon, headquarters of the American peace delegation, with shouts of "Vive Wilson!" and "Vive l'Amérique!"

The cavalry and the police reformed their lines and gradually herded the crowds into the side streets, so that within a half hour, the entire Place de la Concorde had been cleared.

Use Oil Lamps

PARIS, May 1.—Oil lamps and candles were used in the headquarters of the American delegation at the Hotel de Crillon early today. With that exception, however, few inconveniences were suffered by the delegation.

An extra police guard was placed around President Wilson's residence, but hardly any one loitered in the vicinity.

WILL PRESENT AWARDS

Congressman John Jacob Rogers will present the awards to Boy Scouts who went over the top in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive by selling 10 or more bonds at the meeting of all local scouts which will be held at Memorial Hall tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Following the presentation Lowell's own congressman will make a brief address to the representatives of Young America and their friends and parents who have also been invited. During the evening community singing will be in order, and of course Albert Edmund Brown will be the director, which means lots of harmony lots of pep and a good time for everyone.

Abraham Goldstone's 4-year-old son Jackie of Presque Isle, Mr. became mysteriously missing and the police and anxious parents and friends scoured the town. He finally came walking home with a railroad tag marked "Stray freight." The child had been playing in a box car near his home and the car had been picked up by a south-bound freight. Jackie was discovered at Mapleton, eight miles down the line, and sent back by next train.

FRANCE TIED UP ON MAY DAY

No Disorders Reported, Though Strikes Are On in All Parts of World

PARIS, May 1.—May day crowds today broke through the infantry cordons stretched between the Place Madeleine and the Place de la Concorde and swept down the Rue Royale. Cavalry hurried the backwards into the side streets, but several thousand reached the Place de la Concorde. This crowd was augmented by lesser groups that had formed a mass in the Place de la Concorde, through which the cavalry made one ineffective charge and then withdrew. The efforts of the police were equally fruitless, and the cheering and singing crowds swept past the Hotel de Crillon, headquarters of the American peace delegation, with shouts of "Vive Wilson!" and "Vive l'Amérique!"

The cavalry and the police reformed their lines and gradually herded the crowds into the side streets, so that within a half hour, the entire Place de la Concorde had been cleared.

Use Oil Lamps

PARIS, May 1.—Oil lamps and candles were used in the headquarters of the American delegation at the Hotel de Crillon early today. With that exception, however, few inconveniences were suffered by the delegation.

An extra police guard was placed around President Wilson's residence, but hardly any one loitered in the vicinity.

WILL PRESENT AWARDS

Congressman John Jacob Rogers will present the awards to Boy Scouts who went over the top in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive by selling 10 or more bonds at the meeting of all local scouts which will be held at Memorial Hall tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Following the presentation Lowell's own congressman will make a brief address to the representatives of Young America and their friends and parents who have also been invited. During the evening community singing will be in order, and of course Albert Edmund Brown will be the director, which means lots of harmony lots of pep and a good time for everyone.

Abraham Goldstone's 4-year-old son Jackie of Presque Isle, Mr. became mysteriously missing and the police and anxious parents and friends scoured the town. He finally came walking home with a railroad tag marked "Stray freight." The child had been playing in a box car near his home and the car had been picked up by a south-bound freight. Jackie was discovered at Mapleton, eight miles down the line, and sent back by next train.

Bake More Save More

More and more, thoughtful women are decreasing the cost of living by increasing the variety of their home baking. They have learned to bake the Cleveland way with fewer eggs. They have found that more baked foods mean less meat. They have further discovered that their baking keeps fresh longer when made with

CLEVELAND'S Superior Baking Powder

In many recipes, only half as many eggs are required, in some none at all, if an additional quantity of Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder is used, about a teaspoonful in place of each egg omitted.

James Kenney, Walter Gibson, Sidney Hancock, Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery where the committee prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Galka. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

DELANEY.—The funeral of Mr. Harry P. Delaney took place this morning at 9 o'clock from his late home, 613 Chelmsford street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Margaret's church where at 10 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Charles J. Sullivan, pastor. Rev. Charles J. Heaney of North Chelmsford, as deacon, and Rev. Stephen G. Murray as sub-deacon. The choir sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Catherine V. Hennessy and Frank McGowan. Miss Harriet Moran sang "Pie Jesu" at the offertory. Mr. John Kelly presided at the organ. There were many beautiful floral offerings. The delegation from the Lowell council, No. 8, Royal Arcanum were Mr. Harry Richardson, Mr. Albert McElroy and Mr. George B. Delaney. The delegation from the Electric Workers, Messrs. Samuel Morse, George Cody, William Darcy, Joseph Hurley, and Fred J. Nevery. The bearers were John M. and Mrs. Philip McLaughlin, Ryan, Joseph Richards, Morton Beane, and Family.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving remembrance of Nora J. Dalton:
We think we see her loving smile,
Although one year has passed,
But in our memory fresh she is,
And will be to the last.
Sorrowfully missed by mother and brother.
There will be an anniversary mass at St. Patrick's church Friday morning, May 2, at 8 o'clock.

CARD OF THANKS
We, the undersigned, wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and relatives who, by their acts of kindness, spiritual offerings and floral tributes, helped to lighten our sorrow in our recent bereavement.

Possible Delay in Giving Peace Terms to Foe Indicated in Despatches From Paris

Foe Delegates Hand Over Their Credentials For Examination

Terms of Settlement of Chinese-Japanese Dispute—Understanding With Italy Near

(By the Associated Press)
Possible delay in the handing of the peace terms to the German delegates at Versailles is indicated in late advices from the Paris conference. The function may have to go over to next week, while questions as to the powers of the enemy's representatives and their qualifications as spokesmen for Bavaria are investigated. Today was set for the handing over by the Germans of their credentials to a commission for examination.

Chinese-Japanese Settlement
The Chinese-Japanese dispute over Kiao-Chau and the adjoining Shantung province territory has been settled by the Council of Three. The former German holdings are to be given without reserve to Japan, which will engage to hand the Shantung peninsula back to China, with relations between China and Japan and the future integrity of China to be under the control of the League of Nations.

All German rights in Shantung are to be held by Japan. The Kiao-Chau railway will be guarded by special police forces composed of Chinese which will be trained by Japanese officers selected by the directors of the railroad and appointed by the Chinese government. All Japanese military forces are to be withdrawn from the province as soon as possible.

Japan is given the right to establish a settlement at Tsing Tao, a city on the extremity of the point of land which juts southward from the Shantung peninsula and forms the eastern shore of Kiao-Chau bay, the strategic base seized by the Germans in the far east after the Boxer rebellion.

Reports from Paris and Rome indicate a disposition on the part of both the Council of Three and the Italian

COTTON IS GOING UP

Victory Loan Project To Bring Bale Here by Airship To Be Manufactured

To carry a bale of cotton from Baltimore to Lowell by airship, have it land here, sent to a mill to be manufactured into cloth and then sent down south again to be auctioned off in aid of the Victory Loan is the novel and sensational scheme which Charles J. Glidden, a Lowell man who is now an officer in the United States air service, offered today to Mayor Perry D. Thompson and His Honor has wired back to Mr. Glidden that this city will see the project through.

Immediately upon receipt of Mr. Glidden's communication this noon, Mayor Thompson got in touch with Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the board of trade and the latter agreed to put the proposition up to local mill men and see who would undertake to manufacture the cloth. Within a short time Secretary O'Rourke had found his man and then started an investigation of available landing places in this city for the airship which is to carry the bale of cotton. The land recently acquired by the water department along the Pawtucket boulevard for driven wells was suggested and although the state board of health has requested that there be no more trespassing on the land in question for fear of contamination of the city's water system, nevertheless, His Honor believes that perhaps the authorities would break the rule for once in view of the unusual circumstances of the project.

In the meantime, Secretary O'Rourke will look up other available landing places and report to the mayor. Whatever is done will have to be done quickly as it is planned to make the affair a Victory bond feature and the campaign has but a short time to run. Incidentally it will be one of the biggest advertising boosts that Lowell has ever received.

SCORES INJURED IN STREET FIGHT

Riots Follow—Soldiers, Police and Civilians Battle Marchers—Policemen Shot

CLEVELAND, May 1.—More than two score persons, many of them women, were injured today in a series of riots that began with the entrance into the downtown section of the various units of the socialist parade.

All police reserves, Liberty loan trucks and army tanks were called out to help quell the riots that threatened for a time to envelop the entire downtown business section.

The first riot came when a red flag carried by a man wearing a soldier's uniform and leading a socialist parade was knocked down by a returned soldier. This started a general fight, scores of police, soldiers and civilians battling with the marchers.

Two Officers Shot.
Two policemen were shot by the marchers and 12 persons, men and women, were in hospitals shortly after the riot started.

NEW MANAGER AT THE CHALIFOUX COMPANY

Louis E. Studley, formerly connected with the Jordan Marsh Co. of Boston, has assumed the position of general manager of the Chalifoux company.

Mr. Studley comes to Lowell with an enviable record of high service with the sterling house of Jordan Marsh Co. with whom he was connected for the last 12 years. This store has long been considered one of New England's greatest stores and the new relationship entered into between the Chalifoux company and Mr. Studley will prove most satisfactory and beneficial to the shopping public of Lowell and vicinity.

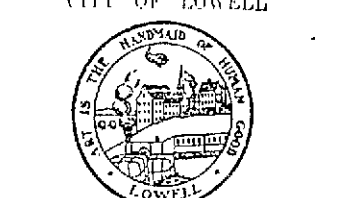

For the past few years this store has advanced rapidly. Under Mr. Studley's able management it will be more progressive than ever.

A highly competent man of genial disposition and personality is Mr. Studley and he will win for the store and himself many new friends.

The City Has Still Two-Fifths of Its Quota of $5,275,000 To Subscribe

Many of the Local Industries Came to the Front at Last Night's Meeting

Lowell swept past the three million post in the Victory loan drive last night, when ten canvassing divisions reported a total of $993,050, and John L. Robertson, president of the Old Lowell bank, threw his institution into the breach and made the report well over a $1,000,000 by subscribing $100,000. The total was well over the three million mark late this afternoon by actual bank tabulation, even the Appleton bank report missing. It now stands at approximately $2,051,000. Subscriptions at the Union National today totaled $71,950, and $26,900 was reported by the Old Lowell bank. LARGE NAVAL POLICE FORCE

Necessary Under League of Nations Plan Immediately After Peace Is Declared

LONDON, May 1.—A large naval international police force will be necessary under the League of Nations plan immediately after peace is declared, in the opinion of Josephus Daniels, American secretary of the navy and one of the objects of his trip abroad was to discuss with the admiralties of Italy, France and England some details as to this force, particularly the type of vessels desirable.

"The desire of conquest may still linger in the hearts of some nations after peace," he said, "and such nations must be shown that it would be unprofitable to attempt to accomplish those desires."

As the League of Nations became established, he added, the naval police force would certainly be decreased in proportion to the strength of the league.

The secretary has just returned from a visit to the interned German battle fleet at Scapa Flow. He declined to express an opinion as to the disposition of these German warships.

Postmaster Meehan Instructs Supervisory Officers and Others To Be Cautious

It is stated in Associated Press despatches from Washington today that while all packages identified as containing bombs for the wholesale destruction of prominent men were sent from New York, the postal authorities believe that others may have been sent from other cities and postmasters throughout the country have been warned to watch for suspicious looking parcels.

Interviewed at the noon hour at the postoffice here, Postmaster Meehan said he had not received any warning or message from Washington relative to the packages, but allowed that he would probably receive them some time during the day.

"While I do not believe that any attempt will be made to send loaded bundles from this city," said the postmaster, "I feel that the utmost caution is necessary and I have already in-

MAY DAY "NOVELTY" AT LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, May 1.—The May Day "novelty" which the textile strike committee announced yesterday, proved to be a peaceful parade of men and children with red as the prevailing color.

The strikers kept the police on the alert during the morning through their statement that a new kind of demonstration was to be staged, but the nature of their plans did not develop until this noon when three or four thousand who had gathered in various halls poured into Lawrence street. Everyone of them displayed at least a trace of red. The men had bits of red ribbon at their coat lapels, and many of the women and children wore red waists or red skirts while some were dressed entirely in that color.

The crowd moved along Lawrence street without creating any special disturbance. At the corner of Haverhill street, they encountered a squad of policemen who scattered them by ordering various groups to take different routes. The orders were followed without resistance.

There was no demonstration at the mill gates this morning and few pickets were out. Strike leaders said they had heard that the mill officials were planning to give an increase in wages to those who had remained at work, but no confirmation of the report came from officials.

WAR TAXES HIT GENERAL PUBLIC

Luxury and Soft Drink Sections of Revenue Bill in Effect Today

Dealers Much Confused Over Application—No Tax on Bottled Goods

Today three of the several sections of the great war revenue bill passed by congress last February go into effect.

All of them hit the ordinary purchaser more forcibly than any of the provisions previously operative, for the new taxes are to be paid by the purchaser himself, not by the dealer.

The three groups of commodities upon the sale of which a tax must now be paid are:

1. Soft drinks, sodas, milk and egg shakes; ice cream, sundae, or collage, and other such drinks or dishes.
2. Various articles of apparel, including men's and women's shoes, hats, bags, underwear, stockings, etc. This is commonly called the "luxury tax" because it applies only when the articles specified are purchased at comparatively high prices.
3. Many toilet preparations, such as creams, lotions, perfumes and dentifrices.

Puts Worry on Dealer

The "luxury tax" promises to cause untold annoyance to the stores, for it is squarely up to them to collect the tax on each sale, and to turn it back to the government. With the payment of the tax the purchaser's worry ceases and the dealer's worry begins.

This "luxury tax" is fixed at 10 percent of the amount paid in excess of the maximum allowances fixed for the taxable articles. There is already much confusion in regard to this point. The tax is not collectible upon the total amount of the purchase, but only upon the amount by which the price paid exceeds the maximum allowance.

How Luxury Tax Works

For example: The maximum on picture frames is $10 each. If a customer pays $15 for a frame, he must pay 10 percent of the amount by which he has exceeded the $10 limit, which is $5. Therefore, he must pay 10 percent of $5 or 50 cents. So with all the other articles. It developed yesterday that many dealers thought they must collect 10 percent of the amount of the entire purchase, which is not so.

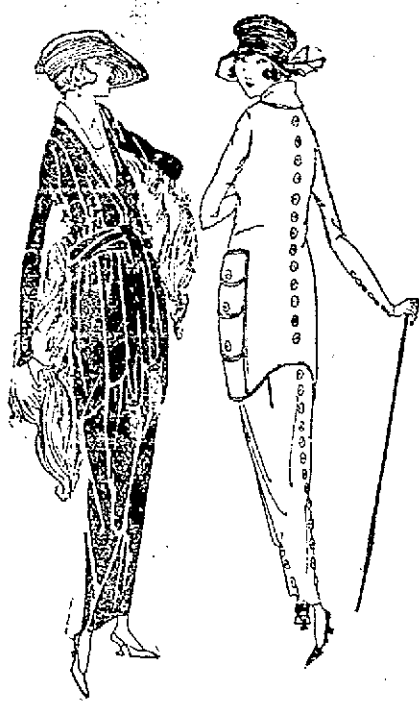

Here is a list of articles, upon the sale of which the purchaser must pay a 10 percent tax upon the amount by which he has exceeded the maximum figure, which is given:

- (1) Carpets and rugs, including fiber except imported and American rugs made principally of wool, on the amount in excess of $5 per square yard;
- (2) Picture frames, on the amount in excess of $10 each;
- (3) Trunks, on the amount in excess of $50 each;
- (4) Valises, traveling bags, suit cases, hat boxes used by travelers, and fitted toilet cases, on the amount in excess of $25 each;
- (5) Purses, pocketbooks, shopping and hand bags, on the amount in excess of $1.50 each;
- (6) Portable lighting fixtures, including lamps of all kinds and lamp shades on the amount in excess of $25 each;
- (7) Umbrellas, parasols and sun shades, on the amount in excess of $4 each;
- (8) Fans, on the amount in excess of $1 each;
- (9) House or smoking coats or jackets, and bath or lounging robes on the amount in excess of $7.50 each;
- (10) Men's waistcoats, sold separately from suits, on the amount in excess of $5 each;
- (11) Women's and misses' hats, bonnets, and hoods, on the amount in excess of $15 each;
- (12) Men's and boys' caps, on the amount in excess of $2 each;
- (13) Men's, women's, misses', and boys' boots, shoes, pumps, and slippers, not including shoes or appliances made to order for any person having a crippled or deformed foot or ankle, on the amount in excess of $10 per pair;
- (14) Men's and boys' neckties and neckwear, on the amount in excess of $2 each;
- (15) Men's and boys' silk stockings or hose, on the amount in excess of $1 per pair;
- (16) Women's and misses' silk stockings or hose, on the amount in excess of $2 per pair;
- (17) Men's shirts, on the amount in excess of $3 each;
- (18) Men's, women's, misses' and boys' pajamas, nightgowns and underwear, on the amount in excess of $5 each, and
- (19) Kimonos, petticoats, and waists, on the amount in excess of $15 each.

Some of the Many Difficulties

The payment of this tax may seem at first a very simple matter. But there are a hundred and one questions and difficulties constantly arising which even the revenue officials here are frankly at loss to determine.

For instance, the law specifically states that the tax shall be paid "at the time of the sale." The question arises "How about articles that are bought and charged?" At present the only possible ruling is that, though the article may be charged, the tax upon the sale must be collected when the sale is made. It is believed that some modification of this may be made, which will allow the retail stores to collect the tax by placing it upon the monthly bills which they send to customers.

Again, it has been ruled that the sale takes place the instant that the goods pass from the seller to the buyer, and that this occurs, in absence of an intention to the contrary, upon delivery of the article to the buyer, or to the carrier for the buyer.

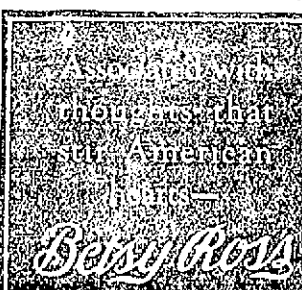

Further confusion regarding the workings of the luxury tax is expected because, under paragraph 2, if articles mentioned in paragraphs 2 to 5 inclusive are made of or ornamented, mounted or fitted with precious metals or imitations thereof, or ivory, they are exempted from taxation, but become taxable as jewelry. The jewelry tax went into operation a month ago.

Also, any article made of fur on the hide or pelt, or of which such fur is the component material of chief value, is freed from the tax, it having already been paid by the manufacturer or under another provision of the law. These are only a few of the complications.

The tax on soft drinks and ice cream is different, but likewise more or less complicated. It provides that "there shall be levied, assessed, collected and paid, a tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof of the amount paid to any person conducting a soda fountain, ice cream parlor, or other similar place of business, for drinks commonly known as soft drinks, compounded or mixed at such place of business, or for ice cream, ice cream sodas, sundaes, or other similar articles of food or drink, when any of the above are sold on or after such date, for consumption in or in proximity to such place of business. Such tax shall be paid by the purchaser to the vendor at the time of the sale." This sounds simple enough, but it isn't.

THE WEATHERING MEN AT TEXTILE

Five Young Men From Orient
Are Students at Lowell
Textile School

All Their Expenses Are Paid
For Out of the Boxer Indemnity Fund

Lowell's Chinese Population
Numbers About 200—
Small Japanese Colony

Lowell people will probably be surprised to know that a group of five Chinese young men, students at Lowell Textile school, form one of the most important educational groups at the present time studying at any college in America.

The names of these young men are as follows: Y. S. Chou, Y. C. Wang, S. C. Chen, Y. S. Yen and T. K. Woo. They are under supervision of the Chinese national educational mission whose headquarters is maintained at Washington. Their expenses, including the tuition for each student, $200 per year, and each student's personal living expense, $50 per month, are paid for from the Boxer indemnity fund. In brief it should be explained that at the time of the Boxer outbreak in China some years ago, the Chinese government was compelled to pay a cash indemnity every year for a number of years. This indemnity was divided among all the powers whose citizens and subjects the Boxers had killed or abused. Out of all these powers, the American government, under the inspiration and leadership in the matter of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State John Hay, decided to use the indemnity money paid it, to educate young Chinese men and women in the United States so that they could return to China and become leaders and helpers for their people. This accounts for the five boys above named having the privilege of studying at Lowell's famous textile school.

An Important Group

The Sun has taken pains to become acquainted with this earnest group of young Chinese. The reason that it seems to persons who talked with these young men, that in time to come they may be able to materially help just such industries as we have in the United States and of which the Saco-Lowell plant where textile machinery is made, is an example, is explained by reading what one of the young men said yesterday to The Sun man, about the subject of textiles in his native country of China.

"One of the reasons," said he, "why we Chinese students are inspired to work just as hard as we can, is because we believe that in our republic the cotton manufacturing industry in time to come, may be the greatest industry in all that country. At the present time we understand China has two and a half million spindles. Americans should not think of China as a small or insignificant country. Our country has 400,000,000 persons in it. It is a very congested country. All that enormous number of people must have fabric for clothing. Cotton can and is, of course, raised in China. China is, in fact, the second country in the world in production of cotton. Here are all these people to have cloth made for them. Here is the second cotton producing country of the entire world. Why should not the textile industry be the greatest industry for all China?"

America's Cotton Machinery

"Previously most of the cotton machinery in China has been imported from Great Britain. The British have been very enterprising about extending the sale of their textile machinery. The Chinese have found it good machinery and have found the British honest people with whom to deal. The Germans, who also make textile machinery, have not cut much of a figure in our textile situation. The German machinery in China is an insignificant matter. The Americans, we are sorry to have to say, have not so far been enterprising about coming to China and selling us their fine machinery.

"At the present time we think there are only three cotton mills in China completely equipped with American made textile machinery. That there are even three mills is due solely to the fact that these mills are being operated by young Chinese who received their education in America and have insisted on having the mills over which they are placed in charge, fitted with American machinery.

"Of course in connection with our group of students here in Lowell, as we are only sophomores at the textile school, it would not perhaps look very well for us to so early state what we intend to do if we can learn the textile business and carry it on in China. We, however, have this thing in our mind.

"We think it would be a bad thing for the cotton industry in China if it were dependent entirely on English made cotton machinery. We will be in this country at least four years longer. We will have been educated in the American style of manufacturing cloth. We are enthusiastic about the American machinery we have seen so far and hope that we can, in some part at least, be responsible for more American made machinery being sold in China. Perhaps we can suggest things that would help American manufacturers to sell their machinery in China. We were invited to go all through the Saco-Lowell shops and see their industry. We were much interested in what we saw. We intend to visit the famous Crompton & Knowles loom works in Worcester. Some of its products as well as some of the Saco-Lowell machinery is being used in China at the present time."

FIRST SIGNS AT DROUGHT

Bars of 5 Hotels and 14 Saloons Closed at Hub—"Old Colony" Towns Open Bars

BOSTON, May 1.—Signs of impending prohibition were noted today when 14 liquor places in this city were closed, the license holders having failed to apply for renewals. Five hotels holding "12-o'clock permits" also failed to renew the extra hour privilege. The Boston license board granted a total of 1008 licenses for periods of one or two months as compared with 1060 licenses given in 1918.

"Old Colony" Towns Open Bars
ROCKLAND, May 1.—Licensed saloons opened in this town for the first time in 15 years today. Abington and Whitman, nearby towns without licenses for several years, also opened liquor stores. Hundreds of visitors from within the "Old Colony" district, which has been generally dry for many years, were expected.

APRIL NEARLY BROKE HOT AND COLD MARKS

BOSTON, May 1.—April having almost broken the record for maximum and minimum April temperatures and having departed leaving a deficiency of 1.22 inches of rainfall for the month and 2.19 inches deficiency for the first four months of the year, has also left a legacy of showers for the two first days of May, according to last evening's forecast.

The maximum temperature of the last month, 65 degrees on the 20th, was exceeded only once in the 48 years of the local weather bureau. The minimum for the month, 19 degrees on the 2d, has been exceeded only once in 48 years, in 1874, when the record was 11 degrees on the 5th.

And yet the month just closed was, on the whole, an average April for temperature, the mean for the 30 days, 45 degrees, being the normal for April during the previous 48 years. Yesterday, the last day of the month, had a maximum of 55, reached at 11 a. m., and a minimum of 44 early in the morning, the mean being 50 degrees.

The wind, which was easterly all day, shifted to the south and west in the evening, bringing a feeling of freshness. As southwest wind is scheduled for today and tomorrow it is reasonable to anticipate no drop in temperature.

It rained during the past month on 18 days, the total being 2.35 inches. The heaviest rain for any 24 hours recorded was 1.50 inches on the 15th and 17th.

Only six of the 30 days were absolutely clear. On 16 days cloudiness prevailed 5-10 or more of the time, while eight days were partially cloudy.

ed when the ginger ale is served directly from the bottle in which the manufacturer delivered it to the dealer. This is so with other such drinks—orangeade, for instance. The explanation is that the manufacturer of soft drinks already has paid a tax upon its manufacture.

Ice cream, when served at the counter, is taxable, but ice cream bought over the same counter to be taken home is not taxable. The question has arisen as to whether a tax need be paid if an ice cream soda or college ice, compounded at the fountain, is taken home to be eaten. This hasn't been answered yet. Nobody knows what the answer should be. The autoist who drives up to the curb outside the store, and has his soda brought out to him, will have to pay the tax sure enough, because the auto is regarded being in "proximity to such place of business."

Roper's Latest Rulings

Several new rulings by Tax Commissioner Roper have just been received from Washington. One reads:

"The tax is upon the whole amount of the price paid by the purchaser when the price is paid at one time, though in payment for several articles which are the subject of a single transaction or purchase and sale. The total price paid is the unit for computing the tax. Thus, if the purchaser orders two sodas at the same time, each sold for 15 cents, the tax is three cents and not four cents. If, however, the buyer purchases one soda for 15 cents, the tax is two cents, and he then immediately purchases another 15-cent drink the tax is two cents on the second sale, which cannot be treated as part of the first sale. Any means by which separate purchasers pool their order for the purpose of defeating or escaping the tax shall be carefully guarded against by the vendor, for its employment subjects the purchaser and the vendor, if he connives in it, to the penalties provided in section 1205 of the act.

The law requires that proprietors of soda fountains must keep a record of their taxable transactions and submit each month to the internal revenue collector a sworn statement, together with their return.

Last evening Collector Malley asked that particular emphasis be laid upon the fact that, though a record must be kept, it need not be elaborate. Any reasonably understandable record will be accepted.

Dealers in doubt about the workings of the law should apply for information to room 14 in the Little building.

Toilet Preparations

The tax upon toilet preparations is one cent upon each 25 cents or fraction thereof paid for articles enumerated. The list is a long one. The tax is to be paid by the purchaser to the dealer, who will immediately affix a stamp of equal amount upon the article purchased.

It is expected that the "luxury tax" will be repealed by congress just as soon as it meets. An attempt was made just before the last adjournment to have this section of the revenue act killed, but it was found impossible because of limited time.

WASHINGTON CLUB HONORS MEMBERS

Lieut. Joseph P. Kearney of Base hospital 110, and Sergt. Maj. John J. O'Rourke, were feted and honored last evening by brother members of the Washington club at the rooms of the organization in Prescott street and for several hours the gallant soldiers were the recipients of a constant stream of praise and applause.

In addition to the good feeling of the other members, Lieut. Kearney and Sergt. Maj. O'Rourke were also each presented handsome loving cups, suitably inscribed. There were some 70 members present.

Following an excellent dinner served at 7 o'clock Pres. Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan called to order and extended a hearty welcome to the returned soldiers. He then presented John J. Sullivan as the evening's toastmaster.

The latter was eloquent in his laudation of the soldier members and said that he believed they had come back better Americans because they had been able to compare their own country with the countries of Europe and realize the extensive advantages that the United States offers.

In speaking of Lieut. Kearney, he said: "He joined our armies in France in time to give the best of his professional knowledge to our sick and wounded, not sparing himself and finally sinking under illness which resulted in orders sending him back to this country at a time when the honor of a higher promotion was about to fall to him."

Mr. Sullivan then paid a tribute to the Kearney family, which gave sons to the war, and special tribute to Lieut. Paul Kearney who gave up his life in France.

Sergt. Maj. O'Rourke then came in for his share of panegyric. Among the good things Mr. Sullivan had to say about him were: "When the call came he was ready and sailed with our glorious 25th Division for whatever fate had in store for him. He was early recognized by his superior officers as one of the most competent of soldiers and promotion came to him rapidly. Although not winning a commission, he was eight times recommended for one. I have it from one of his superior officers that Sergt. O'Rourke's supply train was the very best in the whole American army and a model for all the others."

Then followed several entertainment numbers including solos by Frank McCarthy and other members of the club. Humphrey O'Sullivan and John J. Hogan were called upon and responded fittingly and then the guests of the evening, Lieut. Kearney and Sergt. O'Rourke, told of their pleasure of being home again among their fellow club members. Capt. John C. Leggat was the final speaker and he, too, commended the excellent work done by Sergt. O'Rourke. Talent from Keith's assisted in making the evening a most happy one.

The committee in charge was: President Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, Frederick Molloy, Daniel McQuaid, Charles P. MacKenzie, William C. Purcell, William L. Gookin, Henry Gilbride and Thomas Kelley.

TIMELY HINTS FOR HOME GARDENERS

It's the first head of lettuce, the first tomato, or the first cucumber that the home gardener relishes the most. But the little extra care required to produce these early vegetables is well worth while. The seeds are first planted in a hotbed or seed flat in the house and then placed in their new environment through the process of transplanting when the weather conditions become suitable.

Transplanting is an operation that any one can perform with success provided attention is given to a few essential considerations such as hardness of the plant itself, its development, the physical condition of the soil and weather conditions.

When transplanting be careful not to disturb the root system. The small rootlets are very tender and to break these off only lessens the chances of the plant to live. So take up as much of the adhering dirt as possible along with the plant.

Water the plants thoroughly a few hours before transplanting. It is a common practice to dip the roots of the plants before they are set out into a thin paste made by mixing equal parts of garden soil and water.

The plants should be set a little deeper than they were before. With a dibble or trowel make a hole in the ground just deep enough to insert the root system of the plant, insert the plant and firm the soil around it.

Thoroughly soak the soil around the plant with water and next morning loose dirt should be pulled over that portion of the ground to preserve the moisture.

Select a cloudy or rainy day for transplanting. To protect the plants from the sun use shingles, strawberry boxes, or newspapers.

Tomatoes, eggplants, peppers, melons, squashes and cucumbers should not be transplanted to the open ground until about the first of June. Early cabbages, lettuce, young beets, onions or any of the other hardy vegetables can be set out any time now.

Next week outdoors and their control will be considered.

Mrs. Quimby says, "It's Wonderful to Be Free From Rheumatism"

"Pain and misery seemed to be my lot; walking was often torture and to go up or down stairs was agony. I dreaded to think of it. At times my rheumatism got so bad that I had to stay in bed and would often screech from the pain. Even when I got so I could go about, the pain would catch me on the street and I would cry out. Reading about Weldona and the good work it had done for others, I decided to try it. Well, in almost no time I began to see an improvement. Now I have a rheumatic pain or ache. I can hardly realize it, especially after the doctor said that I had the worst case of rheumatism he ever saw. I want everybody to know what this medicine has done for me so that they may find relief," said Mrs. Emma Quimby, who lives at 22 Oak Street, Haverhill. Continuing, she said: "I have had rheumatism for four or five years so bad that I could hardly walk. My hands and fingers were stiff and sore and it was very difficult to close my hands. My hips were so stiff and painful if I attempted to bend over or sit down I was unable to go up without help so you can see how bad my case was." "It was stated that the Weldona man would continue to meet the public every day and evening at low drug store to give out the free book, 'Germes of Rheumatism—How They Live and How They Die,' as well as explaining about this simple preparation.—Adv.

Ring of Troops Closing on Munich

COPENHAGEN, May 1.—The ring of government troops is closing around Munich, according to Berlin despatches. The villages of Schougan and Umfing have been captured from the soviet forces without loss. They are about 40 miles northwest of the city.

Bolsheviks Evacuating Petrograd

HELSINGFORS, Wednesday, April 30.—Petrograd is being evacuated by the Bolsheviks, reports from reliable sources say. Many of the inhabitants are being sent away and the Bolshevik government is taking rigorous measures to prevent the news of the happenings at Olonez from reaching the people.

Allies Hurl Back Bolsheviks

LONDON, May 1.—Along the Murmansk railway the Bolshevik troops under allied pressure, have withdrawn to new positions 30 miles west of Petrozavodsk, on the western bank of Lake Onega.

A Russian wireless message, reporting the withdrawal, says that the Bolsheviks have carried out an advance on the front south of Archangel and that on the eastern front the Siberians have been driven back 20 miles in the region east of Orenburg.

PRIV. JAMES MCCREADY

Lowell Overseas Veteran
Loan Campaign Orator

Of the many returning doughboys who are just beginning to resume civilian status here in Lowell, perhaps none has come back with evidence of clearer and keener observation of the humanly interesting phases of life overseas than has Private James P. McCreedy of the 26th Military Police, who was discharged from the service at Camp Devens early this week.

So interesting a story does McCreedy tell that the headquarters of the New England Victory Loan committee has called upon him to be a member of its speaking staff for the campaign and yesterday the Lowell boy spoke in Newspaper Row, Boston to a crowd that gave him a great hand when he had concluded. Later, he was assigned to go on a speaking tour through Middlesex county in behalf of the loan and today he was scheduled to speak in a number of local theatres.

Private McCreedy was a member of the old Sixth regiment in the early days of the war and was one of the best recruiting officers that that gallant old outfit had in the spring of 1917.

"I was speaking for men then," said McCreedy today, "and now I'm going to speak for money." Private McCreedy was subsequently transferred to the M. P.'s and served with this organization during his stay in France. His experiences were many and varied. Not the least exciting was that of guarding the entrance to an abandoned cave fitted up luxuriously for the use of German officers. An inviting Morris chair was placed near the entrance and McCreedy sat down in it. He felt something hard under him and getting up cautiously turned over the chair and found a large bomb in the straw at the bottom of it. No more sitting did the Lowell soldier do that day.

The cave in question had been intricately wired so that certain movements would set off an explosive that would blow it to pieces. Luckily, the explosion never occurred as the question might have to undergo another inspection later in the day and that his equipment should not be disordered.

American engineers dismantled the system of wiring.

McCreedy had an opportunity to come in close contact with many of the leading figures of the war. At the time President Wilson was in France, reviewing the troops with General Pershing, McCreedy was the eye-witness of an interesting incident. The general took one of the sectional tent-poles carried by the troops, showed its workings to the president and then threw it back in such a way that the soldier would have to spend some time readjusting it. The president noticed the incident and told the general that the soldier in

"I don't know of anybody else who would speak that way to Pershing," McCreedy says.

Commenting on the revenue tax which goes into effect today on various articles, McCreedy said that the French people have a novel way of collecting taxes. Instead of paying so much extra for various articles, a tax collector visits every French home each week and collects a general tax. "The French people were certainly down to hard-pan during the war," continued McCreedy. "We usually divided our rations with French children. We used to see them at our garbage pails and at first assumed that they were collecting material for their pigs or chickens. Later we learned that what they collected was for their own use."

"The French are naturally an economical people, even when they have a lot to do with. I remember one time a bunch of American soldiers were shooting crap in a French village and there was a good-sized 'pot' in the game. One of the Yanks was having particularly poor luck and in order to relieve his feelings grabbed a handful of sous and threw them in the air. The French peasants watching the game threw up their hands in horror."

"The French money system often led the doughboys to difficulties. Banks in certain cities would issue certificates which were good only in that city. If one tried to pass them in another city immediately would come the cry: 'Tas bon loi!' But somehow or other, the French people themselves could exchange the certificates anywhere. I remember one time I had a certificate from the bank of Nancy and tried to pay for some papers in a neighboring town with it. The old lady who sold the papers said that it was no good in her town, but that it was good in Nancy. Whereupon, to see what would happen, I took out some cigar tobacco, rolled a cigar in the certificate and started to smoke it. You ought to see that old lady throw up her hands. She cried that the certificate was good then."

McCreedy had some interesting talks with the American newspaper correspondents overseas. The one fault the doughboys found with many of them was that they tried to imitate officers too much. He met Irvin Cobb and Frank P. Sibley, the New England writer, among others and became quite friendly with "Sib."

Sibley was popular among the soldiers and one reason was that he never refused to lend a T.D. man money when he needed it. Very rarely did he collect it again. And the front line trenches were never very short of money in this correspondent, according to McCreedy.

The Lowell boy and another member of the M. P.'s, named Callahan, have compiled a book on the doings of their company, Co. B, and this is now in the hands of the printers. Its arrival will be awaited with interest by the many friends of the Lowell soldier.

WHAT GRANDMA SAYS

Mrs. Louise Amend said: "I want to tell you about my grandson, Kenneth Crouk, who lives with me. He is 14 years old and we have had the awfullest time with that lad working the bed you ever saw. We thought he would outgrow it, but he didn't. At last we became worried and began doctoring him, but never got hold of anything that would stop it until this morning when Goldine told us to try his medicine and gave me two sample packages. I didn't believe it would help the lad, but it did. He was so bad before, he started taking Goldine that every night was a night of torture and I was ashamed of his weakness that he would cry about it, but he just couldn't help it. That medicine stopped it and he hasn't done it once since."

"He is so glad that he doesn't know what to say in praise of the medicine, and so are we all. I just wish I could tell every mother in the city about Goldine for I know how glad they would all be to get something that will really stop bed wetting. Maybe the Goldine Man will put this in the paper so they can read about it or will tell them to come over to my house and let me tell them about it. I don't care how. Just so I can help the children who have to suffer."

MRS. LOUISE AMEND.

WILLIAM H. WITHERS, NOTED ANALYTICAL CHEMIST OF COLUMBUS, OHIO, SAYS:

"I have made a careful examination of the Goldine remedies and find them to be a union of purely vegetable substances so compounded that their digestion and assimilation is accomplished with the greatest ease. There are no dangerous or habit-forming drugs or excessive stimulants in Goldine and it can be used freely by adults or children. It has my unqualified endorsement." An endorsement by a chemist of the standing of Mr. William H. Withers is ample assurance to the most skeptical of absolute purity of Goldine.

In choosing a remedy get the best. Choose one that has proven its worth in your home city. Beware of out-of-town testimonials. Get something that shows you results from the start. Go and find out if Goldine is producing results, then come and talk with me about your case. I do not diagnose or prescribe but will tell you about Goldine, the remedy that's pure, that has proven its merit, and that isn't a patent medicine. Goldine No. 1 is special for Stomach and Nerve Trouble; No. 2 for Rheumatism. There is no equal for instant and permanent results.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Nearly six months after the signing of the armistice, America's war expenses not only are continuing without abatement, but actually are increasing over those of the past few months. This was shown today by a treasury report of government outlays for April, amounting to approximately $1,420,000,000, of which about two-thirds went to pay the nation's direct war bills and one-third went to the allies to enable them to pay obligations incurred in this country heretofore for war materials and foodstuffs.

The gradual mounting of war expenses from month to month, following the big drop from around $2,000,000,000 a month last December and January to $1,150,000,000 in February, was cited by treasury officials as a substantial reason why the Victory loan must be generously subscribed. The increase in the last two months is attributed to the gradual settling of manufacturers' accounts by the war department and by the higher demand of the allies for credits with which to pay bills previously incurred in this country.

The tremendous outlays in April raised the United States' actual expenditures since the nation entered the war, a little more than two years ago, to about $30,500,000,000. About $9,000,000,000 of this has gone to the allies and will be repaid eventually. With-out war the government's expenses probably would not have been more than three billion dollars in the two years, officials believe.

The government has passed something like $15,500,000,000 across the counter for war materials, army equipment and supplies, merchant ships, navy vessels, and the overhead costs of maintaining a big fighting machine. Through sale of materials on hand and salvaging of considerable government property some officials hope to get as much as $3,000,000,000 back.

In April the government checks paid by the treasury amounted to about $982,000,000 for ordinary expenses, including about $100,000,000 as interest on liberty bonds and certificates of indebtedness. More than $100,000,000 went to the allies, a larger sum than in any month since last October. Nearly $11,000,000 went into farm loans.

Income to meet these demands came principally from sale of certificates of indebtedness, from which about $700,000,000 was realized in April.

War savings stamps sale are declining. In April they were about $9,500,000. But each of the last six months of 1918 sales were on an average of $100,000,000. Officials admit that if the sales do not increase materially, the war savings organization will be forced to disband.

ATTACK CHARLES STREET JAIL

Declares State Prison Unfit For Men To Live In—Need of Welfare Work

BOSTON, May 1.—The need of a better appreciation by church people of the increasing call for social service work and religious education as an aftermath of the war, was emphasized in the address of Bishop William Lawrence at the annual convention of the churches of the Episcopal diocese here today. In the matter of social service, the bishop said, "the church has not the spirit of Christ in it, if it does not touch these problems."

"The people who need as much arousing as any are the people in our churches every Sunday," he continued. "Christians are responsible for the welfare of our prisoners and their humane treatment. How many people in the Boston churches last Sunday know that the Charles street jail right within half a mile of us now is a disgrace to the city, brutal, inhuman in some of its conditions? How many people in our churches throughout the state know that the state's prison, only two miles from us, is medieval in its structure and, in some respects, unfit for men to live in? These conditions are not the fault of officials of the prison, city or state, but of so-called Christian people, who do not care to know the facts, or if they do, do not want to pay the taxes to correct them."

"How many of our communicants know that the problem of the feeble-minded loose upon our community is a source of grave danger to the morals and health of our young people? How many know that the legislature hesitates today at appropriating money for new schools and homes for the feeble-minded, lest Christian people be unwilling to pay the taxes?"

"The aim of social service in the church is not to create new organizations or to carry out special social work but to arouse in the people a spirit of service in society, and by illustration, education, and practical leadership, move them to work for results through community social organizations."

"A great and thrilling wave of service swept the people under the influence of the war motive," said Bishop Lawrence. "Are we to confess that the motives of peace are not strong enough to sustain that great wave?"

In closing Bishop Lawrence touched on the restlessness of the times.

Georges Carpentier Is Coming Back—He's an All Around Athlete Now

Georges Carpentier—eight years in the ring and four years at war with the common enemy of civilization, the Hun. And yet Georges is only 25 years old—25 last January.

He's a remarkable fellow, this Frenchman, who began fighting at 13 as a bantamweight and graduated from one class to the next until he was acclaimed the heavyweight champion of Europe.

He whipped some of the best men in the world in all classes and then the war came and he was one of the first in the uniform of his beloved country. He has done valiant service and has been decorated. He's been wounded too, but is now sound physically and yearns for a return to the ring.

Georges has frequently fought since joining the colors nearly five years ago, but not as a title holder or for gain.

Over four years of military service has not hurt him. He's a better man for it he declares optimistically. But 12 years as a fighter and a soldier has a tendency to tie up the muscles of a man like Georges. So he started anew. He has gone in for all-round athletics and has been successful in other sports as he was in boxing.

Carpentier thinks that with this sort of training he'll soon be in condition to re-enter the ring and kick up some future himself. He is little more than a middleweight, but he is a powerful man and one who was feared by most heavyweights.

It is very probable that when he gets back in the game with both feet he'll be sought after for a bout with the winner of the Dempsey-Willard fight July 4.

Carpentier has met several good American fighters in the middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight classes.

He won from Willie Lewis in 20 rounds in 1911. Hubert Smith lost to him on a foul. He lost to Joe Jeannette in a 15-round affair in 1911. He lost on a foul to Frank Klaus in 13 rounds. He lost to Billy Papke in 1912.

But he twice knocked out Bombardier Wells, the great English champion, and thereby holds the European heavyweight title.

Are a Specific for Pale, Thin, Nervous Women.

A Specific is a remedy which relieves a certain disease. Thus, quinine is a specific for fever—antitoxin is a specific for diphtheria—RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are a specific for anaemia (or poor blood) and the disorders it causes.

ALL women and young girls who feel the least exhausted after exertion—or who are always tired and dragged-out—or who suffer with pain in the back, headaches, ringing in the ears—are paying the penalty of Anaemia or weak, thin blood.

THEY need RED PILLS—the blood-makers—the health-building tonic—the ideal medicine for pale, weak women.

THERE is also another class of women who would benefit themselves by taking RED PILLS. These are the women suffering with Chlorosis, or lack of blood. In cases of Chlorosis, the skin becomes as white as wax—the face looks sad and dull—the eyes have great black circles under them—and the eyelids are swollen.

TAKE RED PILLS and let them make new, rich, red blood for you—let them give you vigor and strength—let them make a stronger woman of you.

MRS. JOSEPH REDMOND, 178 Mason Street, Fall River, Mass., had been suffering for a number of years from severe headaches which never left her, and also poor circulation, which caused the blood to rush to her head at all times. After a treatment of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, her headaches gradually disappeared, and the circulation of her blood became normal again.

CAUTION—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870 by a famous French specialist.

They have been largely used in France by French women ever since. Now, America, inspired by the great demand on woman's labor, is accepting with gratifying results the use of RED PILLS for the treatment of Anaemia and general debility.

This will cause RED PILLS to be imitated. Therefore, insist on the signature of the "CIE CHIMIQUE FRANCO AMERICAIN", and a serial number on each box. The RED PILLS are never sold in bulk, ONLY in boxes, 50c., or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or sent by mail, on receipt of the price, by the Franco-American Chemical Co. Limited, 212 Mill Street, Boston, Mass.

WITH THE LEGISLATORS ON BEACON HILL

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 1.—The senate ways and means committee filed a favorable report yesterday on the bill of Senator Arthur W. Colburn, authorizing the county commissioners of Middlesex county to expend an additional sum of not exceeding $1200 per year for clerical assistance in the Lowell police court.

Public ownership of street railway lines in this state was debated at some length in the house and finally a bill permitting every street railway company in the commonwealth to transfer its property to the state was substituted for an adverse report of the committee on street railways, and then the new bill, offered by Rep. Manning of Brockton, was sent to that committee for further consideration.

The bill constitutes the members of the public service commission as the representatives of the commonwealth in acquiring any lines of street railway companies, and to pay such price as may be agreed upon by the directors of any company purchased, subject to the following limitations:—

SEVEN BARKS

It may be possible that you don't know what SEVEN BARKS stands for, so we will enlighten you: It is a safe, remarkable remedy, made from the extracts of seven different kinds of roots and herbs, every one of which has great medicinal value, scientifically blended and for nearly 50 years has been a reliable remedy for indigestion, Constipation, Liver, Kidney and Stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS has never been extensively advertised, but has enjoyed a wonderful and steady sale for nearly a half century, and purely upon its merits.

SEVEN BARKS has saved thousands at families doctors' bills, as well as untold suffering. It is inexpensive, only 50 cents per bottle, and the dose is from 10 to 20 drops in a little water after meals.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with Biliousness, Indigestion, Liver or Kidney trouble. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS, do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results.

Don't put off asking your druggist for SEVEN BARKS; if he does not happen to have it, he will get it for you.—Adv.

exceed the amount which the commission believes the property to be reasonably worth, taking into consideration cost, physical condition, and present and prospective earning power; nor shall it in any event exceed the amount found by the commission to have been honestly and prudently invested in the property.

Second, said purchase price shall be payable in bonds of the commonwealth, bearing interest at such rate not exceeding five per cent as the commission may determine.

Third, the property shall be conveyed free of any mortgage or lien, but shall include not only physical property but all intangible property, such as franchises and leasehold or other contract rights.

An appropriation of $7500 was recommended by the committee on state house and libraries for erecting in the state house a receptacle for all flags carried by Massachusetts troops in the recent war. It is to be located in Memorial hall on the second floor of the state house, opposite the memorial to the army nurses, and near the receptacle now provided for Spanish war flags.

From the ways and means committee there came a favorable report on the project of Senator Loring of Beverly for the creation of a Massachusetts Farm Settlement corporation, the purpose of which is to extend the credit of the commonwealth to returning soldiers and sailors who desire to engage in husbandry.

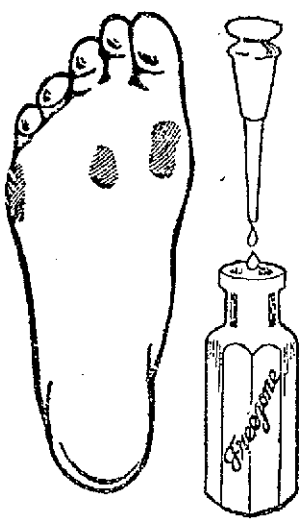

Another step in the same direction was announced by the special commission, recently created, which is to aid returning service men in obtaining employment. The commission has accepted an offer made by A. E. Little of Lynn to place at the disposal of the commonwealth his large farm in Northfield, and it is probable that it will be used as a sort of training school for those who desire later to own farms of their own.

The house by a vote of 81 to 105 rejected the bill providing that children less than 16 years of age shall not be admitted to places of amusement unless accompanied by an adult. The bill was supported by the social welfare committee on the ground that school children are playing "hooky" in order to attend movie shows, but Rep. Andrew P. Doyle of New Bedford attacked it as an unwarranted interference with personal liberty.

A tentative plan for reorganizing the state departments, boards and commissions, as required by the constitutional amendment adopted last fall, has been prepared by the committee on administrations and commissions. It provides for 20 departments, in place of the 107 now existing, each of the new departments to be under a single head, although several will include numerous divisions. It is expected that the reorganization will lessen the state pay-roll considerably, as the total number of state officials will be greatly reduced, and there is little disposition on the part of members of the committee to recommend increases in salary for those who are to continue in office. 56 JEWS HAVE BEEN KILLED AT PINKS

LONDON, May 1.—Fifty-six Jews have been killed at Pinks, according to an announcement from the central office of the Zionist association, which received its information from the organization's Copenhagen bureau.

Forty persons were imprisoned and brutally treated, it is said, and three women were flogged, one school mistress being rendered insane. The synagogues at Pinks are reported to be closed and the Jews have been imprisoned at forced labor. Military leaders are said to have demanded 100,000 marks, threatening to shoot Jewish leaders if that sum is not paid within 24 hours.

"USE RAZOR FOR SHAVING? NO SUN, FOR SOCIAL PURPOSES."

POSES.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The Americanism of Albert Wright was upheld in his possession of a German made razor explained to Judge Stewart yesterday. Wright, a negro, used the razor in a brawl last night.

"Do you realize that this razor was made in Germany?" asked the judge.

"I reckon it must avenge, suh. I procured it off a daid German pussion out in Nobody's land. I knowed he was daid because I had just pulled my hay-onet outen him."

"O, you fought in France?" exclaimed the court.

"Yes, suh, I was a black devil, an' I thought this razor might be valuable, suh."

"For shaving?"

"No, suh; for social purposes. I reckon it high as a keepsake, suh."

"Well, the best I can do is to discharge you and keep the razor; next case," said the judge.

B. F. KEITH THEATRE

Jazz that runs the whole gamut of slides and barber-shop chords is advanced by Miss Mavis Black and White Boys at the B. F. Keith Theatre, this week. Miss Black and White Boys, that just set Broadway a-tingling. The act is a lively one, and the five instrumentalists not only make jazz, but they go through a lot of antics in the making. Harry Hines sings songs that are very modern, songs that are full of pep.

THE STRAND
Scene another success for The Strand management, in securing the latest Tom Mix release, "Fighting for Gold," which will be shown for the first time this afternoon and tonight. It's a genuine Mix creation, with all of the dash and thrilling scenes, that invariably reflect this star's work. It contains a charming love story, and the star owns more demonstrations of new winks in horse riding, wonderful marksmanship and roping. He proves, too, just his leading lady, "Teddy" Sampson is much safer in his arms than she is alone in a runaway wagon. In this scene Mix certainly gives his audience a real thrill, for during at break-neck speed he calls to the girl to jump from the wagon and catches her in his arms as easily as a professional catches a baseball. A bear provides one of the unusual incidents that contribute to a thoroughly enjoyable motion picture. "Daughter of Mine," the new Goldwyn picture featuring Madge Kennedy which is to be shown on the week-end bill, is said to be novel from every angle. It tells an original story in which every character plays a dual role. It's the story of Rosie Mendelsohn, daughter of the paupers, and her father, an Orthodox Jew, who does not approve of Rosie's poet-sweetheart because he is modern—he uses a typewriter. After much persuasion he induces his daughter to send the lover away, and Rosie, because that love is uppermost in her mind, tries to forget him. Later developments show that her efforts to forget him are unsuccessful. It has several interesting twists and scenes. The picture itself tells the outcome best. See it. A good comedy and the latest Universal

The characterizations of Miss Jane Salisbury in "Eyes of Youth" which is packing them in at the Lowell Opera House this week, are worthy of the highest praise. Never has a stock star been called upon to interpret such a wide variety of characters in one play, and Miss Salisbury certainly treats them all with marked cleverness and satisfaction. You should see her to fully appreciate her worth. Julian Noll, Arthur Lator and Arthur Buchanan also are seen to particular advantage. Next week that famous play, "Old Lady 44," Tel. 261 and have your seats reserved for you in advance.

MAKE MAY DAYS SHOPPING DAYS

Today is May day. Citizens in general have to spend less money now for coal, electricity and gas. This means that they ought to have more money to spend for other things. Perhaps many of them will want to buy a few furbelows and trinkets!

We know they've got to buy different things seasonable. There must be a certain amount of garden tools and seed sold this month. Advertising draws this trade. Women have been wearing low quartered shoes for six weeks. Men must follow suit this month. Advertising sells men's low quartered shoes. "Straw hats and new suits for Decoration day." Sounds familiar, doesn't it? Advertising alone will cause a rush for these goods. There are so many seasonable kinds of merchandise to be put over this month that May ought to be a big business month for the stores. And by the same token, a big advertising month. The best advertiser gets the greater part of the trade. In Lowell the best way to get results is to have your ad in

It is certainly a serious situation that has developed in the peace congress over the claims of Italy and Japan. It appears futile to assume that the old methods of bargain and barter in international affairs, can be upset so suddenly as President Wilson deems possible and desirable. Still further delay in the signing of the peace treaty is now threatened unless the demands of Italy and Japan be either granted or overcome in some way. It would be very unfortunate if either Italy or Japan were driven out of the congress by too insistent adherence to the policy laid down in Wilson's fourteen points, which were unheard of when the treaty of London was concluded with Italy and other treaties made with Japan on condition of their participation in the war on the side of the allies.

Without Italy, it is doubtful whether the allies could have held the enemy till America got into the fray. What is wanted now is that the allies patch their difference without getting into deep water over matters that can easily be settled by compromise if the parties are not too firmly set on high ideals on the one hand or self interest on the other.

The injection of President Wilson's ideals to the conflicting territorial claims of European and Asiatic powers, has brought about a situation somewhat resembling that which chemists tell us occurs when an attempt is made to mix oil and water.

The world cries out for peace, peace, permanent peace!

Just at present, the United States is suffering as much from the delay in the conclusion of the peace negotiations as any other country. There is need of a resumption of business so that the men and women who are idle may find employment. If congress were called together to pass some of the appropriation bills pushed aside by the republican filibuster, there would be a better stimulus for business throughout the country. At least, there would be an end to much of the uncertainty that is fatal to business everywhere.

Therefore, it is to be hoped that President Wilson will not stand too firmly for the enforcement of his fourteen points. Better leave the work to the League of Nations.

SAVE THE BIRDS

Some few thoughtful folks are discovering that it is cheaper and much more pleasant to associate with a thrush, or a robin, or a bluebird, than it is to associate with a can of poison or a three-quarter jar of kerosene emulsion.

It is fashionable to have a backyard garden these days, and gardeners who have fought bugs for a season or two begin to think more of the birds that fight worms and grubs and bugs from birth to death. Sprays and white-washes and poison bran meals are well enough, but if we had less ruthlessly slaughtered our bird allies we would not require so much squinting and dusting and spraying and bug picking.

A bird house in every family tree would be a much better insignia for the great American home, than the shotgun, and the air gun, and the sling shot rampant.

Nature has rather a nice balance; she creates worms and bugs, and then sends birds to feed upon them. Man makes the birds into a pot pie, and then feverishly fights the pest armies, trying to restore nature's balance.

destructive bugs and devouring grubs, and the laborer is ever worthy of his hire.

Of course there is the aesthetic side to this, and the ethical side as well, but just now we are considering it from a distinctly business basis, and it is good gardening sense to encourage most of the birds to abide with you.

Cigar boxes make good bird houses, so do tin cans, and broken tile, and antique plug hats, and old shoes.

At least give the few birds that are left a chance to prove their worth, and if you want something to shoot at try the alley cat.

The small boy who should delight in cultivating the friendship of birds is their most deadly enemy, almost as bad as the stealthy feline that goes out by night to pounce upon them in their nests. The boy robs the nests with a degree of ruthlessness worthy of a Bolshevik plundering the home of a bourgeoisist.

NO STRAP-HANGERS

A bill before the legislature provides that the street railways will be obliged to limit the number of their passengers to the seating capacity of their cars. Were such a bill to become law, surely some of the companies that have been agitating for higher fares and shrieking on the verge of bankruptcy, would be practically put out of business. Here in Lowell, it is not so very long ago since it was a common occurrence to have cars start on their routes with almost as many passengers outside clinging on to fenders and running boards, as were inside. And as for "strap-hangers," it might be said that not one-third of the standing-up passengers could get near a strap. We do not think, however, there is such great need now for insisting upon every passenger getting a seat. The increase in the fare has reduced the number of passengers so that the crowding of cars is not so common as formerly, nor is it likely to be so common in the future. The greater use of automobiles during the summer will, to a great extent, lessen the travel on the street railway cars so that there is not very much ground for alarm over the number of passengers who will be obliged to stand in the cars for all or even a part of the journey.

WILL ASQUITH COME?

Former Premier Herbert H. Asquith is mentioned for British ambassador to the United States. It is not improbable that Lloyd George might attempt to shelve Asquith by giving him this appointment. After what Mr. Asquith did in overturning the home rule victory, it seems that he would find the atmosphere of the United States rather uncomfortable. He is the man who quailed in the face of Carson's threat and the alleged mutiny of a few British generals who said they would resign rather than enforce the law in Ulster. Thereupon, Asquith meekly bowed in submission saying, "It is unthinkable to reverse Ulster." It is unthinkable to have Asquith cordially welcomed as ambassador to this nation. Sir Edward Carson would have more respect if sent here than would Asquith, for the reason that Carson has always been a consistent, outspoken enemy of the Irish cause, while Asquith under pretense of being a friend, used the Irish party to hold himself in office only to prove the ingrate and the traitor in the hour of victory, when home rule was won after a struggle of thirty years.

CAGE THE KAISER

Much curiosity exists as to what will be done with the ex-Emperor in case he be convicted by the international court by which he is to be tried for high crimes and misdemeanors. There is no probability that he will be punished as he deserves. No punishment that any court could provide would measure up to the enormity of his crimes. Besides, if he were put out in front of a firing squad to end his career, the result would invite trouble in various parts of the world and probably lead to the assassination of other rulers out of a spirit of revenge. Consequently, the worst that Wilhelm, the last of the Hohenzollern line, may expect, is banishment and life imprisonment, somewhat resembling that of Napoleon at St. Helena. For such merciful treatment, the man who plotted the conquest of the world and caused the destruction of ten million lives should feel sincerely grateful.

AIRPLANE RIDING

That aviation tragedy on the Charles river, the other day, will put a damper upon the craze for rides in airplanes. The fact that the victim of this accident was strapped in his seat made it impossible for him to escape when the airplane dived head foremost into the Charles river. It is just as well to discourage such enterprise, as was shown by the young aviators who formed a company for the purpose of making as much money as they could by carrying passengers on short trips at the rate of a dollar a minute. The unfortunate man who was drowned in this particular case paid $15 for his seat and it is related that another man, anxious for a ride, offered a larger sum. Hereafter, we surmise, these enterprising aviators will not find it so easy to secure passengers, even for a much smaller consideration.

LODGE STILL OBJECTS

Senator Lodge comes out again to raise objections to the new draft of the peace league. It appears that Lodge is bent upon using his utmost efforts to defeat every measure that is favored by President Wilson, regardless of what the consequence may be. Mr. Lodge has sent out word to his colleagues not to make any comment on the new draft of the covenant, doubtless in order that he may get them to take a common stand against some particular feature and insist upon further amendment. By adopting such tactics, it seems that the republican leaders are still endeavoring to make a political issue of the league and are now seeking some new ground of opposition on which they can all unite. The American people will have something to say about this policy when it is properly presented to them.

It is doubtful if we can truthfully say that governmental ownership has failed. The efficiency of great reforms lies in the hands of the persons to whose administration they are entrusted. Thus, we glance towards Postmaster Burleson and are reminded that it is the men who manage public utilities who can make government ownership a success or can make it represent what Burleson has made it represent.

The 26th's doughboys are returning home feeling quite happy because they are being loaned to civil life again with a little money—their pay—in their pockets. There are two things we may do to complete their happiness: One is to do our full duty about getting them a job. The other is to do our full duty in seeing this Victory loan through.

We learn that the United States supreme court will not hear any arguments on current pieces of litigation between tomorrow and next October. A vacation for the black gowns will be nice, of course, but unfortunately, between now and next October, commerce, industry and people earning money to pay bills, must keep on in as great effort as possible. It is possible that if the supreme court would work every other month, for instance, it might help national problems. However, wish them good luck in their fishing.

The jolly old Boston Globe yesterday said that the Queen of the May might perform today, have to wear her winter flannels. By no means conclusive, even when said by the reliable Globe paragrapher. If we must discuss a subject so delicate as the lady's flannels, we should take into account that it may make some difference in what part of New England she is to do her Maying. If amidst Boston's east winds, of course we advise the retaining of the flannels.

Germany had rights in Shantung because she was strong enough to take them. That was hateful. But now Japan has the same rights for the same reason, and she is a friend of ours. How embarrassing to nations is a claim to righteousness!

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Every night for the past week a long shaft of white light has flashed continuously back and forth across the heavens, seemingly having its origin behind the place where earth and heaven meet to the eastward, and it was only yesterday that we happened to stumble upon its significance. It is a part of Boston's Victory Loan propaganda and results from the rays of a powerful searchlight, so strong as to be seen for miles. Its ghostly shaft played across the sky last night brighter than ever, it seemed, traveling swiftly in a wedge shape segment. The searchlight shows that Boston never sleeps on her loan work and it flashes a challenge to the rest of New England to be up and doing at the following daybreak in the interest of the drive. Similar searchlights will be used in Lowell Friday night at the outdoor mass meeting in the interests of the Victory Loan, to be held in the square in front of city hall. The light will play about the sky and also over the crowd.

We happened to be at the depot in Middlesex street the other day when one of a train of half a hundred cars or more left the rail just beyond the Chelmsford street bridge and our attention was attracted to the long line of automobiles and teams held up at the blindless street crossing. In fact there were vehicles of all description crossing the street from the railroad crossing to Thorndike street. Word was passed around that a car was off the track and that it would occasion a delay of perhaps half an hour or more, and there were sour faces in automobiles and wagons when the situation was explained. We did not time the affair but it did not seem as if the crossing was blocked more than ten minutes. Of course an automobile can go quite a distance in ten minutes and after the blockade had been unraveled we thought of something that we might have thought of when the crossing was first blocked, something that the people in the automobiles, wagons and motorcycles might have thought of, too. It was a way out and nobody seemed to give it a thought. The autos, motorcycles, wagons, and, yes, a few bicycles were all aimed out Middlesex street and despite the fact that everybody concerned had been told that the crossing would probably be blocked for half an hour, not a soul thought of going up over the Thorndike street hill, across the bridge into Westford street, and from Westford street to Middlesex street if desired. Solid ivory—and then some.

"I don't think that new factory hospital rule is going to work out just right," remarked a manufacturer to me today. "I don't like to throw cold water on any welfare work, but I believe we would do better to put our money into the public hospitals, instead of a private hospital in our factory. You see, the new rule of the state board of labor and industry requires each manufacturer to fit up a first aid station in his factory, providing he employs 100 or more men. That's expensive. It is like fitting up a small private hospital. It is my opinion that if a man gets hurt in our factory, the best thing to do is to send him to the public hospital. There he will get the swiftest and the best aid. With autos always at the shop we can send an injured man to the hospital in a jiffy, even if the ambulance is not handy. So I do not see the necessity of a private hospital in each large factory in a compact city like Lowell. But I can see the need of building up the hospitals in the city and making them bigger and better institutions and I think the money we are now obliged to spend for private hospitals in our factories would bring better returns if put into the city's hospital funds.

I hear a number of Lowell soldiers—members of the 26th Division unit—have been "stung" by some of the itinerant photographers who have infested Camp Devens for a number of weeks. The procedure of these swindlers is almost too contemptible to believe. The scheme is worked like this: the photographer will get a group of soldier boys to line themselves up for a group photograph. Then the photographer or the man working with him goes among the boys, exhibits a sample photograph and offers to send a copy of the picture just taken to any address the soldier may designate, for $1, which he proceeds to collect then and there. The soldiers fail for it and pay over the dollar. The swindle has evidently been worked a number of times; the soldiers' friends, needless to say, never having received any copy of the picture. On one occasion the military police took charge of one such photographer and his outfit and upon examination it was found that there was not even a film or a plate in the camera by which he could take a picture.

SEEN AND HEARD

Abe Martin says that some people get along very well together until the time comes when a little common sense is needed and they reckon Abe knows what he's talking about.

A Lowell man who is second cousin to a well known household economist, believes you can keep nice from gnawing into a refrigerator by leaving the food on the kitchen table at night.

The boss asked a fellow the other day if he knew a man of action who was available and he gave him the name of a fellow with the St. Vitus dance. He didn't get anything extra in his pay envelope Saturday night.

This sure is some funny old world. One-half doesn't know about the other half and that sometimes applies to married life and then there's the fellow that goes fishing for trout and the other fellow who goes fishing for anything he can get and—but what's the use of wasting good time.

They do tell that the big parade in Boston made business good for the doctors and as the undertaker quite frequently follows the doctor it's safe perhaps to allow that the human planter got his. But that's a grave question and this column is intended for light stuff only.

There's a story going the rounds in which a Lowell man with long legs (not us) figures and for which a child is responsible. The child was with her mother and they were on their way to the Opera House. The time was some day last week. They were in Central street when suddenly the little girl, twitching at her mother's sleeve, said: "Mamma, mamma, see, quick!" "What's the matter dear?" queried the patient mother.

"There, there mamma, right ahead of us," as she pointed to our friend with the long legs, he's the man we're going to see at the Opera House. Daddy Long Legs. Now you won't have to pay for tickets and we can spend the money for something else."

Try This Scheme.

A mid-west genius has invented a new way to clean out a stoppered-up sewer pipe. All you need is a turtle and string. Tie the turtle to the string, or the string to the turtle, and put the turtle down at the opening into the pipe. It will clear its way through to get away from you. When it stops tug at the string. That reminds him that you're still there. Frank Ward of Richmond, Mo., cleaned out 214 feet of pipe that way.

50-50 Up and Down

The airship pilot and his one passenger were flying high over the city after having made a few quick, death-thirsty scoops that thrilled the spectators on terra firma, when the pilot, turning to his passenger, said: "Fifty per cent of the people down there expected we would crash to earth and be killed."

Great Scoop

Newspaper editors are worrying themselves sick over what's holding the peace delegates so long in Paris. Well, so they can quit fretting, here's the reason:

"The corsages of some of the evening gowns were cut exceedingly low in the back and a little lower than that in front! Never were such brief bodies seen in Paris as those which were featured a few days ago in the Jenny salons. Only a trace attached the corsage to the shoulders in some instances."

—Harper's Bazar.

Not Saving at All.

You mustn't jump at the conclusion that the ladies in Paris are thus economical in dress material for— "More than what was cut off at the top being attached to the bottom—many of the trains very long and brilliant as the tail of the peacock." Again quoting Harper's.

Wart vs. Wife.

Robert Yancary of Dallas, Texas, has been wearing a wart on the end of his nose for several years. Also, he has a wife. But he can't keep on having both war and wife. His wife says so.

"That wart is coming off his nose or I am going back to my home," Mrs. Yancary is quoted as saying when his grounds for divorce, making the wart her grounds for action. "It's just a question of whether he wants me or the wart."

Bob doesn't like his wart as well as his wife, but he's tried everything from rubbing it with potato peelings to wishing it on somebody else, and the wart sticks. If you know how to shoot a wart off a nose, please write and tell Bob, and save him his wife.

The Last Poet

When in the East two mornings have unrolled,
When there shall bloom two panicles in the mold,
When two men shall be bodied, mind and soul,
Each to each, then he it said
That poetry is dead.

When loves come to a maiden in the spring,
When death beats at the threshold,
When the first-born's first cry, when these shall bring
No thrush nor thrill, then stop the tongue!
The poet's song is sung.

When man has weighed God in his hand,
When he has recked the whistle of the quail,
When no child points to where the rainbow lay,
Across the sky, then, with a cry,

74 WAR BRIDES ARRIVE

Transport Reaches New York
—77th Division Men Hug
and Kiss "Y" Girl

NEW YORK, May 1.—Seventy-four war brides arrived yesterday on the transport Louisville. Sixty-four were French or British girls who had married soldiers and nine brought children with them. Ten were Scotch and Irish girls who married sailors and they had three children. The brides from the British Isles largely had been "Jenny Wrens," workers in canteens which served Americans in military camps and naval stations.

At the pier troops of the 77th Division bade a tearful farewell to Miss Harriett Pitts, a Y.M.C.A. worker, popularly known as "Alabama," and daughter of William C. Pitts, formerly attorney general of Alabama, but now a resident of New York. She shook hands with hundreds of the New York soldiers, while not a few hugged and kissed her.

Forty-two Massachusetts and 25 New Hampshire casualties arrived from Marzilles on the Regina d'Italia, which brought the 114th Field Signal Battalion.

On the Regina d'Italia was Lieut. Gen. Nicholas Lehtinsky, commander-in-chief of the Russian army in France who, when Russia was fighting with the allies, commanded an army corps of 21 regiments of infantry and nine regiments of cavalry in East Prussia.

He was on his way to Vladivostok. He said he could not state the object of his mission. He was in civilian attire and his passport, signed by Marshal Foch, bore the endorsement that he is opposed to the Bolsheviks.

CONCERT IN CHELMSFORD

A delightful and very enjoyable concert was given last evening in the town hall in Chelmsford by Arthur Hadley, tenor, assisted by Helen Virginia Hadley, pianist and accompanist, and Lillian Dodge Haskell, reader. The affair, which was largely attended, was given under the auspices of the men of the Central Congregational church for the organ fund.

THE IVANHOE CAMPERS

The fifth annual dance of the Ivanhoe Campers, which was held in the Parvettick house last evening, was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed. The attendance was so large, in fact, that the spacious dancing floor was found inadequate by many couples, and these promptly remedied the situation by tripping the light fantastic outside on the pavilion. Campbell's orchestra furnished the music, which was all that could be desired. The success of the event was mainly due to the efficient work of J. Walter McKenna, president, and Henry J. Smith, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit. The kidneys are the most over-worked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease. One of the great warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism. Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble worked organs in the most powerful of GOLD MEDAL Harsanyi Oil box of GOLD MEDAL Harsanyi Oil (Gaulther), imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

MEET HERE TONIGHT

Phinney Boyle of Lowell and Louisiana, the southern sensation, will meet in the main bout of 12 rounds at the Crescent A.C. tonight, and both men announce that they are in perfect condition for the mill. This match is one of the most important in the local boy's career for a setback tonight after his defeat by Valger would prove a severe setback. A victory tonight over such a formidable opponent, however, will reinforce him and put him in line for several good matches. He is determined to wipe out the reverse of the hands of such a "blast" and has trained diligently with that object in view. He is in the pink of condition and will have no alibi to offer if defeated. Louisiana, too, is in splendid condition and he points to his victory over the same Valger as a reason for his confidence in coming out on top tonight.

Tommy Doyle, who a few years ago was looked upon as one of the most promising boys in the ring game, will appear in the semi-final against Williams of Boston. Boyle has just been discharged from the army and is in perfect condition. There will be two preliminaries.

HAVERHILL WINS

Sets Back Lowell High, 4 to 2, at Spalding Park

Haverhill high school defeated Lowell high at Spalding park yesterday afternoon before a new crowd of spectators. The game was a close one, with fine ball for Lowell and piled up in strikeouts, but saw the game slip away from him in the eighth inning when two Haverhill hits and two errors on overthrown balls set in two runs and put the victors ahead, 4 to 2. Lowell got one of these runs back in its half, but was very passive in the ninth.

Marcotte, Haverhill shortstop, was the sensation of the game and, in fact, showed as much stuff as any high school player who has visited Lowell in some years. He changed all kinds of ground and made a record of five out, five assists and no errors. His best effort came in the eighth inning when he slid over in front of second base and took Mansur's hard smash with his bare hand, and although Mansur beat his throw and is credited with a hit that does not detract from Marcotte's wonderful stab.

Lowell was first to score, in the fourth inning. Brosnan opened with a single to left, his second hit, but was forced at second a minute later when Mansur hit to Mayne. Mayne pitched second and O'Hair worked Kimball, the Haverhill pitcher for a base on balls. Laver then drove home with a hit to left and O'Hair went around to third and Lawler to second when the throw in to third base broke away from Kimball. Lawler and Mahoney could not bring the other two runs in.

Haverhill went into the lead in the sixth inning when Kimball, after Parisien got a life on O'Hair's error and Legacy had singled over second base. The throw in to first was close, the closer in their half of the eighth. Blake singled and Johnson fanned. Kimball singled and O'Hair moved over to cover the base. Blake stopping at second. Coroneus lined hard to Reynolds, who hit the ball to first. O'Hair pitched second in an attempt to complete a double play. Blake came all the way home and when Birkenhead threw the second out attempt to throw Coroneus, who for some reason stayed on the path after his drive had been caught by Reynolds. Kimball came in with the fourth run.

Lowell's second and last run came in the last half of the inning. Mansur singled and stole O'Hair pitched to the pitcher and Lawler sent the left fielder way back for his lone hit. Mansur then scored on a single and when Birkenhead singled into left field, the throw-in homered over the Haverhill catcher's shoulder which made it easier for Mansur. Mahoney was hit by a pitched ball, but Ordway's easy roller to the second baseman left two men on the sacks. The score:

Larry Hits Two Triples and Beats Braves, 5-2

BOSTON, May 1.—A triple by Larry Doyle and Zimmerman's sacrifice tied the score of yesterday's game in the ninth inning and in the tenth, two hits, two triples, a sacrifice by an error gave New York three runs and the game, 5 to 2. The Braves overhit the Giants but were weak in the pinches. The score:

DEADLOCKED FOR
20 INNINGS

PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—Philadelphia and Brooklyn battled 20 innings to a nine-run tie score in the final game of their present series here yesterday. The game was called because of darkness.

It was one of the most sensational baseball contests ever played on the local National league field. Both Joe Geschler and Grimes pitched superbly in the box throughout the four hours required to play the game. Brooklyn led 3 to 4 until the 8th, when the Phillies scored two runs. An error by Pearce enabled Hickman, who ran for Krueger to score the tying run. The game was called because of darkness.

It was a sensational home run by Myers in the 13th with Olson and Griffith who had singled, on the bases that gave Brooklyn three runs. What appeared to be a victory. Myers hit was over Whitte's head. Whitte was playing in mid-air at the time and was unable to overtake the ball which bounded into the bleachers in left centerfield.

Griffith's muff of Williams' fly in the local's half of the 19th started their rally. Baneroff forced Williams, but Lawler and Whitte singled and after Baird tapped to Grimes, Victor hit for Pearce and walked. Gravat, pinch hitting for Cady, batted the ball against the right field wall for two bases, but Meisel was run down at third, as he hesitated there.

The folding feature was the spectacular running catches of Myers. Half a dozen times, he dashed over to left or right center and now and then sprinted back to deep center to take a drive which spelled a prolonged game.

CHICAGO 4, ST. LOUIS 0

CHICAGO, May 1.—Phil Douglas yesterday shut out the St. Louis Cardinals while the Chicago club made eight hits off Meadows and won 4 to 0. Turner Barber, who replaced Leslie, Manu runs and made two triples and a double in four times at bat. The score:
St. Louis 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0

Batteries: Douglas and Kilfiter; Meadows, Tuero and Snyder.

THREE OUT OF FOUR

Ray Caldwell Pitches Red Sox
to 6 to 1 Victory

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Boston made it three out of four in the series with Washington by winning yesterday, 6 to 1. Ray Caldwell pitched his first 1919 game and was effective at all stages. Thompson and Shaw both were hit hard by the Red Sox, Hooper leading the fusillade with a double and three singles in five trips to the plate. Boston turned in another errorless game. The score:

Batteries: Caldwell and Schang; Shaw, Thompson, Craft and Pielisch.

CHICAGO 6, DETROIT 7

DETROIT, May 1.—Combining time-hitting with Detroit's misplays, Chicago won the third straight game yesterday, 9 to 7. The score:
Chicago 1 0 2 0 1 4 0 0 1—9
Detroit 2 0 0 0 0 1 0 1 3—7

Batteries: Kerr and Schalk; Erickson, Cunningham and Stange.

NEW YORK 5, PHILADELPHIA 3

NEW YORK, May 1.—The New York Americans made two out of three from Philadelphia here yesterday, winning the last game of the series by a score of 5 to 3. The locals drove both Watson and Anderson out of the box by hard hitting. The score:
New York 3 1 0 0 2 0 0 0—5
Philadelphia 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 1—3

CLEVELAND 4, ST. LOUIS 2

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 1.—Punched hits in the first and second innings, old Wellman gave Cleveland a lead which St. Louis could not overcome and Cleveland won yesterday's game, 4 to 2. Opposing Wellman was George Chip, who made his big league debut. Score: Cleveland 1 3 0 0 0 0 0 0—4

St. Louis 0 1 0 1 0 0 0 0—2
Batteries: Uhle, Coumbe and O'Neil; Wellman, Loudermilk, Koch, Lemfeld and Severeid.

DIAMOND NOTES

Hail, hail the gang's all here in the little old New England league. And they're all earlin' to go.

With Fred Parent and Heinie Wagner occasionally donning the spangles this season, and Barrett pinch-hitting for his pitcher, now and again, the league will get a rare sample of what some of the old boys used to do. Guess we can't quite put Wagner in Jesse's class yet, though, as an old timer.

Harper did just what many people thought he would do to the Sox on Tuesday when he stopped their winning streak—left-handed them into submission. One thing is sure, the Sox will beat Louisa occasionally, but they are just as weak against them this year as they ever were. Harper was a tough egg with them last season too.

Outfielder Davy Robertson is due to rejoin the Giants tomorrow and it no does it would not be surprising to see some kind of a trade put through. McGraw is strong in outfield strength, but decidedly weak in pitching. All through the winter months the stove league birds had Davy slated for Washington.

Rawlings of the Braves, who can handle both the shortstop and second base positions with a great deal of class, has picked up remarkably on his fielding of late, and also has given evidence of an ability to "ride the old apple," something which has been somewhat lacking in his repertoire heretofore.

Some leagues in the country might well pattern their activities and mode of operating after the well-conducted Lowell grammar school league, fathered by Maj. Jeyes. The boys took every minute, thanks to a competent umpiring staff.

A beautiful day like yesterday and school vacation time to boot should have attracted a larger crowd to Spaulding park to see the Lowell-Haverhill game. The boys put up a good ball.

LOWELL GIRL GETS
B. U. INSIGNIA

Miss Ola L. Nichols, 636 Varnum ave., Lowell, a senior in the College of Liberal Arts of Boston university, is one of the girls to receive the college letters "B. U." for playing basketball on her class team for three years. The letters will be awarded at the first demonstration of gymnastics, Friday evening, May 2, in the Rhode gymnasium, by Miss Miriam L. Spaulding, '19, president of the Girls Athletic association, under whose auspices the demonstration will take place. Miss Nichols plays guard on the 1919 girls basketball team.

MITCHELL BOYS WIN

The Mitchell Boys' school team outplayed Chelsea yesterday on the former's grounds and won by a score of 5 to 2. Craig pitched masterly ball, allowing only three hits and striking out 10 of his opponents. The Mitchell Boys' work was superior throughout. The score:

TRIANGLE A.C. CARD

Matchmaker Jimmy Mahan of the Triangle A.C. is negotiating with Jack Irazzo of Hazlet, Penn., and Andy Cortez of New York for a 12-round bout at the Playhouse next Tuesday night. Brazzo has agreed to terms and has started training, but Cortez has not yet sent his O.K. Plans are also under way to stage a double semi-final, Frankie White of Lowell and Frankie Brogan of Lawrence in one for the N. E. featherweight title. If Brogan cannot be secured Freddie Madden, or Tommy Maris will draw the assignment. In the other 8-round bout Young Artella and Young Kearney, both of Lowell, will meet. Linky Welsh and Davy Martin, who appeared at the club last Tuesday night, will again show in a preliminary.

WANT TO BE MEMBER OF THE LEGION?

Any Lowell man who wishes to become a member of the American Legion, an organization of veterans of the world war, may write for an application card to Nelson Clark, acting secretary of the northeastern department, or to Robert Homans, 55 State street, Boston. It is expected that Lowell will have a branch of the legion later on. Sgt. Major John J. O'Rourke of the 101st Supply Train, will represent this city and also the 2nd Division at the first convention of the order to be held at St. Louis beginning May 3. Capt. John C. Leggett expects to receive a number of application cards later this week and men who wish to join the legion may secure them from him. A large number of Lowell veterans have already signed up.

LITHUANIA SPRINGS

Lithuania, given proper exploitation, could become famous as a health resort, for the little country boasts several health resorts with mineral springs situated in very healthful locations on the banks of the River Nieman. Birstonas and Druskinikai are the best known.

These springs are famous because they are said to contain more radium than any other springs in the world. In ancient times salt was obtained from the springs at Druskinikai, whence the name Druska is the Lithuanian for salt.

COMMITTEE MEETS

The nominating committee of the board of trade met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Chairman Arthur T. Safford was in the chair. A discussion of various candidates for office ensued but definite action was postponed until later.

PATHFINDER GIRLS

DEPICT FASHIONS

The Pathfinder Girls of the First Baptist church gave an enjoyable entertainment in the church vestry last night, including music by violin, mandolin and piano and a pleasing series of tableaux. The instrumental trio, included Gladys Cottrell, Clarice Kiltredge and Ethel Brown. The tableaux depicted the follies and variety of fashion from 1615 to the present day. Those taking part were: Doris Sanborn, Maybelle Reardon, Lillian Wyman, Dorothy Adams, Emma Fulton, Rose Paige, Jennie Knight, Effie Sears, Ethel Brown, Gladys Cottrell, Anna Wyman, Marion Akers, Nancy Turnbull and Mildred Brodie. Following the entertainment the girls presented flowers to Miss Mabel Brown in appreciation of her work done with them.

ROGERS IN TYNGSBORO

Congressman John Jacob Rogers paid his annual visit to his Tyngsboro constituents this afternoon. He called at the postoffice at 3:30 o'clock and for one hour he listened to the wants of the voters and assured them that their needs would be looked after. Tomorrow the congressman will visit Dracut. From 9 to 10 a. m. he will be at the Centre village, 10:15 to 11:15 a. m. at the Navy Yard and during the noon hour at Collingville.

At Charleston, Ill., every night for a fortnight some one has been entering homes of wealthy citizens and cutting off the buttons from dresses, suits and other wearing apparel, leaving the buttons on the floor. In no case reported has a dress or other article been stolen.

more enthusiastic over a new country for them to visit, than are these boys. One of the traits that is conspicuous about them is that they all show good breeding and the unmistakable indications of all being gentlemen. They received their preparation for Lowell Textile at the noted Tsing Hua college at Peking, whose faculty are all English speaking men and women. Some of these boys studied at Nantong Textile school before coming to the States.

They, as part of a unit of 100 Chinese students, left Shanghai last August to come to this country. They say that at the present time, the total number of Boxer fund and privately paid for students in the United States is 1500. The Boxer fund provides for 400 students.

When they were asked what pleased them the most about the United States, they replied that it was the signs of democracy to be seen on every hand. "Why," said one of the boys to The Sun man, "evidently every man we see here in this city can read the newspaper and makes it his business to get a paper every day and read it. We were here while the war was on and of course we went to the motion picture theatres and we saw what great enthusiasm your people had. We noticed how they stood up when the national anthem was played. We have been told that Lowell was not strictly speaking, entirely an American city, that Boston, for instance, was to be regarded as more typical of the real American city. But we have been very much pleased with Lowell for many people have been kind to us and we have met courtesy on all sides."

The provisions of the procedure under which these boys are here provide that in summer they may spend a portion of their time in travel if they wish and can take summer courses at colleges. The government of China is extremely liberal with them and only asks that each boy will make the most of the fine opportunities offered him and be able to return to his country and help it.

There is another Chinese student at Lowell named W. C. Chung whose expenses are not paid for out of the Boxer indemnity fund, but who is privately maintained. This makes six boys in all at Lowell. The group are all close friends and speak excellent English. The extent of their vocabulary is absolutely wonderful. They were of course taught English at Tsing Hua college. Three of the boys live at the Y.M.C.A. dormitory and the others live over near the school.

One of the boys is a student of textile chemistry and already an enthusiast on the subject. He cited the fact to the reporter that the greatest source of indigo in the world is in a part of China and in Manchuria. He is especially interested in the dye stuffs part of the textile industry and it will do all patriots good to know that so far as he personally can, he intends to boost American made dyes in China and help to crowd out the German made dyes which for a long time monopolized the market in China, as in all other parts of the world.

Chinamen in Lowell

There are, roughly estimated, about 200 Chinamen in Lowell. About 75 are engaged in restaurant work and the rest in laundries. And what about the meek, polite, almond eyed chap who receives your bundle of laundry in any one of the 50 different Chinese laundries which dot Lowell, and in exchange gives you a neat slip upon presentation of which some days later you almost invariably get back your own particular garments immaculately laundered?

What about him, we say? There is no other place of business exactly like him, in this city of ours. Tradition hath it—tradition going back to the time when as a kid-boy you made life miserable for the Chinaman by stoning his windows and making some kind of a mystic sign well understood in Boytown to mean "Chinamen eat rats"—that the laundryman always sleeps in his place of business in none ten clean quarters, that he boards himself in a mysterious back room, that he sends back fabulous sums of money to China—that is left from his adventures in the Chinese game of fan-tan—and that, without, whatever of spare time he has, is spent indulging himself in the vice of smoking opium.

So much for tradition. So much for the preponderating idea that obtains in regard to the Chinese laundrymen of Lowell, like all subjects influenced by the touch of careless and vicious gossip. It is an incorrect idea and most of its theories have absolutely no foundation of truth.

The Sunman who was sent to probe into this rather difficult subject—difficult you will admit as you recall the reticence with which your laundryman meets your attempts to carry on even a scanty conversation of sociability—was supposed to sift the chaff, represented by the more gossip part of the proposition, from the wheat, represented by the real truth of the proposition, if possible and base his story on the result obtained.

He could hardly have obtained a better or more reliable source of information on this subject than Mr. J. S. Beck of Dorchester, salesman for a Boston concern selling all kinds of laundry supplies, and who has for 20 years or more had business dealings with thousands of Chinese laundrymen in all parts of New England. Mr. Beck was in Lowell recently and the reporter was lucky enough to encounter him as he called on one of his customers in Merrimack street.

"It is a mistake to believe that the owners and men who work in all of the Chinese laundries are opium smokers," said Mr. Beck. "I can generally tell in what laundries the habit is being carried on, as soon as I step into one. I can tell because of the sweetish, sickly smell that accompanies the use of smoked opium. I venture to say that in not more than 10 Chinese laundries of this entire state of Massachusetts, is this practice carried on. The reason for the vice dying out, so far as I can explain it, would seem to be rather in the same part that the habit of drinking booze is slowly dying out. It is not considered good form now among the Chinese of the community to be known to be a slave of the opium habit and indeed, men who use it, easily detected by the real yellow pallor of their skin are looked down upon by Chinese who would scorn to use it.

"I think there is one very interesting thing about the way the ownership of a Chinese laundry changes hands. We will assume that negotiations have started and the price is agreed upon. The seller will perhaps have said, 'I make $50 a week in this laundry.' All right," says the buyer, "here is $150. I will come and carry on your laundry for three weeks and see if its income will result in a profit of $50 a week. You come back at the end of three weeks and if I find your place is good for $50 a week, I will pay you the sum we agreed upon."

"This is invariably the procedure and it invariably works out to the satisfaction of all concerned. The Chinese have improved one hundred percent in the past 12 or 15 years I believe and one of the things that shows they have improved is this. You might not believe it, but is an actual fact that a skilled Chinese laundryman can do all kinds of work necessary to be done in a laundry, commands, and will receive a salary of $25 a week, all his food and all his tobacco. That is his agreement to go to work, that much in money, his food—and it must be good food—and his tobacco."

"So far as the laundryman living in his laundry is concerned, while there is of course considerable prejudice against this custom in the community, I suppose it is something that is really the business of the laundryman, and the rest of the community ought not to worry about it. It ought to be granted that the reason the laundryman puts up with the discomfort of sleeping and eating in his sometimes ill-smelling laundry, is because he has to live where he can quickly get an early start on his work and when working late at night, it is of course harder to tumble into his bed when exhausted by his long and hard day of work, than it would be to go to a room outside his laundry."

Chinamen Are Honest

"Salesmen who sell to laundrymen find 20 per cent of them are honest. Their honesty in fact and being on the level will average to weigh up better than among the same number of white men. I know a concern that at the present time has $9000 in outstanding credits among Chinese in New England and the company regards this as money actually in sight. When the Chinese is convinced that you yourself are honest and you mean to deal fairly and squarely with him and not take advantage in any way of his being a yellow man instead of a white man, he is your friend and his dealings with you will be adorned with the same amount of honor you extend him."

"Much has been said about the food and drink of the Chinese. It is a mistake to believe he is penurious about his food and will put up with food of poor quality. This is not so. The hard working laundryman wants good food and will buy it. The Chinese markets and stores in Boston have teams and trucks with salesmen employed, who take in places where there are large Chinese colonies such as Lynn, Cambridge, Worcester, Lowell and other places, and take orders for Chinese food. Thus, having the necessary Chinese ingredients brought to his door, your Chinese laundryman buys some American food and gets along splendidly cooking it in his capable Chinese way."

Japanese Colony

Lowell has a small Japanese colony. The head of it may be said to be Mr. M. Kakiyama, who has lived in Lowell nearly 10 years and who, besides being well educated in Japanese schools and universities, has attended the college at Greenville, Ill. He is a protégé of Mr. Butler Ames. He owns an apple farm at Harvard, Mass. He was asked to take charge of the restaurant at the South Lowell plant of the United States Cartridge company last summer and is credited with having done a good job.

Mr. Kakiyama lives near the South Lowell plant and at his home live also Mr. and Mrs. Igi Tashiro, who have four fine children. The children attend the public school. There is also a young man living with Mr. and Mrs. Tashiro named Nagazawa, who has come to this country to learn the business of making boxes.

Mr. Kakiyama's wife and daughter are in Japan at the present time but are expected to soon return and again make their home in Lowell or Harvard.

government to reach some sort of understanding as to the Plume question that will permit the Italian delegates to return to the conference without loss of dignity. Conversations between Premier Orlando and Thomas Nelson Pace, American ambassador, took place yesterday at Rome. Mr. Pace later reported to President Wilson.

There are reports that the soviet regime at Munich, has been overthrown. Other despatches state that the German troops are still some distance away from the city although closing in on the soviet forces.

JAPAN GETS KIAO-CHAU AND SHANTUNG

PARIS, Wednesday, April 30.—(By the Associated Press).—All German rights at Kiao-Chau and in Shantung province are to be transferred without reserve to Japan, according to an agreement reached today by the Council of Three. Japan voluntarily engaged to hand back Shantung province in full sovereignty to China.

The American delegation to the peace conference regards this agreement as the best possible solution of the eastern problem. Confidence is felt that the League of Nations will guarantee the future territorial integrity and independence of China.

President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George and Clemenceau are all especially eager for the withdrawal of allied troops from all enemy colonies, and are confident that the League of Nations can speedily solve pending disputes when military pressure is eliminated. Nevertheless, a great difference of opinion prevails in conference circles as to the effect of the compromise. The Japanese de-gates are pleased. The Chinese withhold comment.

CHINESE PROTEST

LOSS OF KIAO-CHAU

Peking, Wednesday, April 30.—(By the Associated Press).—Both houses of the Chinese parliament passed a resolution today, protesting through the foreign office to the delegates of the five great powers at Paris against the transfer of the control of Kiao-Chau to Japan. Both houses request that Kiao-Chau be restored direct to China without condition. They also ask that concessions in connection with the Kiao-Chau-Tsinau railway which were exacted from the Chinese government by Germany and protocols of agreement relative to the Kiao-Chau-Tsingchow and other extensions of the Kiao-Chau railway be cancelled.

ALBANIANS AGAINST GIVING UP VOLPNA

PARIS, Wednesday, April 30.—(By the Associated Press).—The town of Volpna, which President Wilson said should belong to Italy in his memorandum to Premier Orlando, is not an Albanian port now occupied by Italians. The Albanian delegation here is much exercised over this recommendation and say that a seizure of Volpna by Italy would start a movement which would threaten the dismemberment of Albania.

BELGIUM PROTEST ON INDEMNITY

LONDON, May 1.—A feature of the arrangement for indemnity to Belgium against which Belgium is protesting, is that the country will receive only $100,000,000 as a part of the $1,000,000,000 which Germany will be asked to pay by the end of next year as part of a total reparation to be exacted later, according to the Paris correspondent of the Mail.

The Belgian delegates, it is added, decline to accept the arrangement without consulting the government because it leaves undecided the proportion of the ultimate reparation money to be allotted to Belgium.

A Hunter despatch from Paris states that a meeting of the Belgian cabinet under the presidency of King Albert, has decided that three members of the cabinet shall be sent to Paris to instruct the Belgian delegates.

ELECTRIC SHOCK WAS CAUSE OF DEATH

Death, in the case of Ali Hassan Noer, who died suddenly while at his work at the plant of the Brookfield Woolen Co. in Warren street last Monday, came as the result of an accidental electric shock, according to Medical Examiner T. R. Smith, who performed the autopsy yesterday. It was believed at first that death was due to heart disease, but an examination revealed burns, which led to the discovery that the man died from an electric shock.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon with a special Mohammedan service at the funeral parlors of Under taker Joseph Albert in Allen street. Burial was in the Edison cemetery.

Walsh and two corporation employees, made his way to Wong's address. One of the corporation men brought in a bundle of linen to distract the attention of the proprietor, and the officers jumped the counter and made their way into the back room, where they found a "double-wire" plug, a device by which the current coming in from the street is not registered on the meter.

Investigation of the premises showed that Wong believed in "letting his light shine before men," for 13 lights were found, with a total capacity of 705 watts, which led the corporation men to believe that several hundred dollars worth of current had been stolen.

against Alfred Smith, who was charged with a violation of the motor bus law.

Officers testified that Smith had been bringing passengers from Ayer to Lowell without having procured a license here to comply with the city license ordinance. A fine of $5 was imposed.

"When they went to come from North Chelmsford to Lowell I bring them in for nothing," was the defense offered by Amie Caron, who was also charged with a violation of the motor bus law. Caron explained that he brought passengers from Ayer to North Chelmsford and collected the fares at that point. If, as occasionally happened, the men wanted to come through to the Spindle City in his car he brought them in gratis.

Judge Pickman stated that the law compels all persons carrying passengers through a town having an ordinance of the kind in force in Lowell, to take out a license in that town in order to comply with the statute, and a fine of $7 was levied.

Other Offenders

Edward W. Capella was called on continuance on a complaint charging him with breaking, entering and larceny of several packages of cigars and cigars from the pool room of Alfred Gregoire on Bridge street.

Probable cause to believe him guilty was found by the court and he was held in the sum of $100 for the grand jury.

Edwin O. Drake and Agnes Cole were called on continuance on a statutory complaint. The man was fined $20 and the woman placed on probation.

Joseph A. Gagnon Soon To Open New Store Here
Bearing His Name

Joseph A. Gagnon, up until this week and for a number of years past, general manager of the Chalfoux store, announced today that an operating company of which he is to be the administrative head, had leased the one building at the corner of Merrimack and Palmer streets, owned by O'Donnell, a building for a long term of years, formerly occupied by the James company. This he said, was preliminary to the establishment at this location in a short time of a high class mercantile concern.

Mr. Gagnon at this time announces neither the future policy of his new store, what departments it will have nor the approximate date of its opening. He felt, he says, that Lowell would support another high class establishment and his present announcement and plans are the result of his having reached that conclusion.

Mr. Gagnon is well and favorably known here. Lowell is his home. He was educated here and began his work as a cash boy at the Chalfoux store 25 years ago. During that time he has not only been an employee of the store, but also a buyer for Boston department stores.

Particularly in the line of merchandising shoes, Mr. Gagnon is recognized by leading manufacturers of New England as one of the most progressive.

sive shoemen in Lowell. He is already up to his shoulders in the great mass of detail necessary to be studied and passed upon in connection with the establishing of the new emporium he has planned.

Worcester Welcomes Her War Heroes

WORCESTER, May 1.—Worcester suspended all business today to welcome home officially 5000 of its soldiers, sailors and marines who have been discharged from service. A parade of 5000 men, in command of Col. John F. Herbert, former commander of the 102nd Field Artillery, was witnessed by a great throng.

Discuss Captured German Cables

PARIS, May 1.—The question of the captured German cables and other lesser details of the peace treaty, were considered today by the Council of Three.

With the Kiao-Chiau problem disposed of, the Adriatic question is the only highly important matter remaining unsettled.

TAKE $1,000,000 CARGO FROM STRANDED BARK

SITUATE, May 1.—The work of lightening the cargo of Australian wool and hides from the Russian bark, Professor Koch, ashore in the harbor here, was started today. The cargo which is valued at about $1,000,000, is thought to have been considerably damaged by the eight feet of water in the holds of the ship.

The Koch struck on ledges off here late Tuesday night while on her way to Boston from East London, South Africa. Tugs pulled her off yesterday and attempted to get her into the harbor, but she struck on the bottom. At high tide last night the tugs worked her closer inshore.

Alleged Bogus Collector

jurisdiction in the matter. Constable Wright of Chelmsford was notified and 20 minutes later brought Kary to Lowell.

At 115 Merrimack street he was questioned by the local near east officials. On his coat was a badge bearing the inscription—"Maronite Burial Society". This was supposed to have its headquarters in Chelsea. He also carried a black blank book, on its cover were the words: "Lebanon League of Progress, New York."

Kary appeared to be 40 years old and spoke with a foreign accent. He appeared somewhat puzzled when questioned and did not have clearly in mind who had authorized him to do the collecting. He said that he was eager to collect for his own people and that he supposed the Maronite society had given him sufficient authority.

An investigation was started. Chelsea was called up to ascertain if there was such a society as the one mentioned there, but nobody in that city knew of such a society or of such a man as Kary. Later it was found that there was a society by that name in Lawrence. The Boston office of the near east relief committee did not know of any man on its staff by that name and when told of the Lebanon League of Progress of New York, it started an investigation in that city. Inquiry there showed that no Kary had ever registered for work there. Succeeding developments seem to convince local near east officials that Kary had been used as a foil by some organization which had no authority to employ him for the purpose of soliciting and they told him that they would continue the investigation, but in the meantime he should cease soliciting. He agreed and said he would stay at a local hotel Tuesday evening and return to 115 Merrimack street yesterday morning. He did not return yesterday and investigation at the hotel he mentioned showed that he did not register there. The Boston officials are quite disturbed over the matter and are to probe it to the bottom.

in All Parts of World

PARIS, May 1.—May day crowds today broke through the infantry cordons stretched between the Place Madeleine and the Place de la Concorde and swept down the Rue Royale. Cavalry hurried them backwards into the side streets, but several thousand reached the Place de la Concorde. This crowd was augmented by lesser groups that had formed a mass in the Place de la Concorde, through which the cavalry made one ineffective charge and then withdrew. The efforts of the police were equally fruitless, and the cheering and singing crowds swept past the Hotel de Crillon, headquarters of the American peace delegation, with shouts of "vive Wilson!" and "Vive l'Amerique!"

The cavalry and the police reformed their lines and gradually herded the crowds into the side streets, so that within a half hour, the entire Place de la Concorde had been cleared.

Use Oil Lamps
PARIS, May 1.—Oil lamps and candles were used in the headquarters of the American delegation at the Hotel de Crillon early today. With that exception, however, few inconveniences were suffered by the delegation.

An extra police guard was placed around President Wilson's residence, but hardly any one bothered in the vicinity.

WILL PRESENT AWARDS

Congressman John Jacob Rogers will present the awards to Boy Scouts who went over the top in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive by selling 10 or more bonds at the meeting of a local school which will be held at Memorial hall tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Following the presentation Lowell's own congressman will make a brief address to the representatives of Young America and their friends and parents who have also been invited. During the evening community singing will be in order, and of course Albert Edmund Brown will be the director which means lots of harmony lots of pep and a good time for everyone.

Abraham Goldstone's 4-year-old son Jackie of Presque Isle, Me., became mysteriously missing and the police and anxious parents and friends scoured the town. He finally came walking home with a railroad tag marked "Stray freight." The child had been playing in a box car near his home and the car had been picked up by a south-bound freight. Jackie was discovered at Mapleton, eight miles down the line, and sent back by next train.

FUNERAL NOTICES

BULLETIN FROM WAR WORK HEADQUARTERS
119 Merrimack Street

THE QUESTION IS: HAVE YOU PAID?

The war is not yet over for all the boys and those in the service still need the service. The war work is still going and is costing money.

PLEDGES TO THE UNITED WAR WORK FUND

The Red Triangle, The Knights of Columbus, The Y. W. C. A. War Work Council, The War Camp Community Service, The Jewish Welfare Board, The American Library Association and The Salvation Army are needing the money pledged.

We urgently appeal to all those who have not paid in full to do so. Following up these open accounts is a lot of trouble and expense, from which we beg those on the list to relieve us.
